

SEAGULL'S 'SCRAM' SIGNAL will sound over garbage scows to scare scavenger birds away—if plan considered today by city council public works committee goes through. Gull above commented: "Aa-aa-rk."

HOW GULLIBLE CAN SEAGULLS BE?

Sonic Weapon Threatens Winged Garbage Thieves

By PETE LOUDON

Seagulls stealing garbage from city barges and scattering it along the waterfront may be foiled by a crafty plan outlined to city council public works committee today.

Somebody has learned the seagull cry for "jitters."

By playing it back to the birds over a public address system, they can scare them back to CPR ferries—it says here.

R. H. Mackay, wildlife biologist, Canadian Wildlife Service, writing from offices at UBC, told city engineer James Garnett, prices for the necessary equipment are available.

The biologist says two eastern U.S. gull-watchers, Hubert Frings and H. P. Starnier, had determined differences in four gull calls.

There is the food-finding call, a crowing or trumpeting call, a departing call and an alarm call.

"Gulls have no distress call when maltreated," adds Mr. Mackay.

(Even if they get wise, when can't tip each other off.)

The alarm "is two piercing cries in descending sequence and three sharp cries following."

The two biologists mounted speakers in an area frequented by gulls. Sound measured at 95 decibels, sounded one mile from the gulls, lifted all the gulls within a half-mile radius.

When speakers were located 100 feet from feeding gulls, they were all driven away from their food and stayed away, on an average, 30 to 45 minutes.

The cry of the herring gull apparently means "cheese it" to all gulls regardless of their type.

Black gulls and laughing gulls take off at the same alarm.

City engineer Garnett was impressed with the "auditory repellants" and pointed out there is also possibility of using the food-finding or attraction call, with loud-speakers located in another area, but audible at the garbage wharf.

As an alternative this could be sounded to urge the gulls to "follow the birds from Victoria."

Use of the canned bird calls would save the city the cost of covering barges with tarpaulins. Mr. Garnett said there is also a high frequency tone which could be sounded which is offensive to gulls.

Public works committee heard the report and passed on to other business.

Health Minister Martin was elated when PEI announced its entry.

He was at Montreal, discussing hospital insurance with the health ministers of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, when Premier Matheson made the PEI announcement.

There were indications later that New Brunswick may announce her decision next week.

Mr. Martin said draft agreements had been sent out to those which had agreed to enter: Ontario, Newfoundland, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Another copy now would go out to P.E.I.

The provinces would have to get their administrative machinery organized to the "point of no return" before federal payments are made. Federal provincial costs are to be shared roughly on a 50-50 basis.

Over-all cost if all provinces enter is estimated at $400,000,000 a year.

Paris Transport Strikers Demand 11% Wage Boost

PARIS (Reuters)—Hundreds of thousands of Frenchmen walked, bicycled, and hitchhiked to work today as a 48-hour general strike by railroad and city transport workers got under way.

France's 300,000 railroad workers and thousands of local bus, trolley, and subway workers walked out at midnight Tuesday night in support of a demand by their unions for an 11-per-cent wage increase.

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty goals a season, a target a lot of National Hockey League players never realize, was set Tuesday night by Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens as the decider in his retirement plans.

The Rocket, at 35 the NHL's eldest performer, said after Canadiens won the Stanley Cup against Boston that he'll quit the year he doesn't score 20 goals.

He scored 33 this last season in regular play.

P.E.I. Opens Way For Hospital Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today moved a step closer to national hospital insurance with the completion of all the basic conditions for making the federal plan operative.

But because of a mountain of red tape still to be hurdled and the heavy job of setting up administrative machinery, the scheme may not be in operation before 1959.

The clincher, on meeting federal conditions, came Tuesday with Prince Edward Island's announcement that it has decided to become the sixth province to join the plan.

The federal government had stipulated that six provinces, representing more than half the Canadian population, must participate before it would share in the costs of standard hospital and diagnostic service insurance.

Five provinces, representing 56.3 per cent of the population, had already indicated they would join.

Health Minister Martin was elated when PEI announced its entry.

He was at Montreal, discussing hospital insurance with the health ministers of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, when Premier Matheson made the PEI announcement.

Thousands Cheer Bishop in Athens

ATHENS (AP) — Archbishop Makarios, leader of Greek Cypriots seeking union with Greece, arrived in Athens today after 13 months of British detention on the Seychelles Islands.

Thousands of Athenians braved chilly weather and gloomy skies to cheer the Greek Orthodox archbishop of Cyprus as he was driven along the seven-mile route to downtown Athens.

An imposing array of political, church and military leaders greeted Makarios at the airport and shared his triumphal entry into the city.

All Athens police were put on the alert for the archbishop's arrival, and troops in full battle dress were stationed in force at strategic points.

Makarios flew here from Nairobi, Kenya, where Chief Secretary Richard Turnbull declared Tuesday he was not a welcome guest in that British colony.

U.S. Accepts Russ 'Open Skies' Offer

LONDON (UP) — The United States today accepted Russia's proposal for a partial "open skies" disarmament plan in Europe provided Moscow agrees to widen the area under inspection.

Mr. Low said Tuesday night that his party, "which now has a national flavor," will make a big play for votes in eastern Canada in the June 10 federal election.

Fifteen Social Credit members—all from British Columbia and Alberta—were elected to Parliament in the 1953 voting and Mr. Low told a press conference he looked for brighter things two months hence. "We believe we are going to break into the East now."

Social Credit party had only six candidates in Ontario in the last federal election and now have 20 nominated already.

The party platform will be disclosed at a rally in Massey Hall here Thursday night.

Mr. Low appeared at the conference with Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Bennett of British Columbia. They will attend Thursday night's meeting and take an active part in the federal campaign.

Premier Bennett said "People in the other provinces will want to know how the

Peace River To Bella Coola Route Surveyed

Plans to construct a multi-million dollar oil pipeline from the Peace River to tidewater at Bella Coola were disclosed here today.

Lands Minister Ray Williston confirmed that an application has been received by the government from ACT Oils Ltd., and surveys are now in progress.

ACT Oils was incorporated in B.C. in 1950, with Vancouver financier Austin C. Taylor as principal shareholder.

Mr. Taylor's office stated today however that the firm had been sold in 1954 to the Catawba Corp., headed by R. J. Richardson of Calgary.

The proposed pipeline would bring Peace River oil to a Pacific port over a considerably shorter distance than the present West-coast Transmission Ltd. gas pipeline from Dawson Creek to Vancouver.

Bella Coola is some 300 miles north of Vancouver at the head of Bentinck Arm.

Early stages of the pipeline would follow roughly the same route as Westcoast's line and would turn off to the west near Prince George.

The company's application was directed to the provincial railways department, which controls pipeline construction. After surveys are completed and it is decided to go ahead with the project, the company must apply to the government for right-of-way property.

It is understood that surveys have been underway for the past month.

Ideal for Supertankers

Announcement of the new pipeline surveys raised speculation regarding another proposal, announced last week, for installing offshore "doughnut shaped" discharge units for big tankers off the B.C. coast.

This plan is being worked out by Commercial Leaseholds Quebec Ltd., and Marine Oil Terminal Co. of New York, according to the wire service reports.

While there has been no confirming statement yet it is presumed oil reaching Bella Coola would be for export and the coast off Bella Coola would be a natural for one of the offshore units, it was noted.

The offshore loading and discharge units are designed for use by the new supertankers which have deadweights in excess of 100,000 tons.

Teamster Won't Talk at Probe

Scranton Union Official Cited For Contempt; Linked to Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets investigators today ordered contempt of Congress charges against Robert Hubshman, Scranton, Pa., teamsters union member who refused to tell them even whether he is "a decent citizen."

Hubshman invoked the U.S. constitution's fifth amendment against self-incrimination when called to the Senate committee's witness box.

A big red-haired man, Hubshman refused to answer any questions except to give his name and address. In testimony of others, he had been linked to acts of union terrorism including beatings and sabotage.

The first witness today was

Helen Canfield, friend of convicted dynamiter Paul Bradshaw. She told how she secretly recorded conversations by Scranton union officials in an effort to prove Bradshaw was innocent.

Miss Canfield, a pretty brunette, was called after Bradshaw's sister, Mrs. Margaret Kollra of Scranton, testified that union officials took revenge on her husband because of the recordings.

'Shouldn't Have Talked'

She quoted a teamsters union steward whom she named only as Sullivan as telling her husband, Albert Kollra, "don't you know when you're through" when he demanded work. She also testified that union official John Durkin told her: "Paul Bradshaw shouldn't have talked."

Committee chairman, John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) also placed in evidence a sworn statement from Scranton Mayor

James T. Hanlon denying as "untrue" Bradshaw's testimony Tuesday that Hanlon had urged Bradshaw to "lay off" until after a 1955 city election with accusations against union officials in connection with the dynamiting.

Bradshaw testified Tuesday that he had no part in the actual dynamiting but agreed to "take the rap" under promise that he would be "taken care of."

Scranton Folk Shaken By Strong-Arm Charge

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Many of Scranton's 124,000 people are shaken to find their city in the unflattering glare of a United States Senate searchlight.

That searchlight is poking around in Washington for the facts about reports that strong-arm staff has played a big part in certain labor activities here. To many Scrantonians these are shocking allegations.

A summing up of public opinion at this touchy moment runs along these lines: "We're living in a town that's had its troubles but isn't licked by them. We're busy trying to solve our problems, and we don't think of violence as a solution."

TERRORISM CHARGED

At the moment, four union leaders are appearing before the Senate labor rackets committee to answer testimony of a convicted dynamiter who linked them with alleged terrorism in the Scranton area.

They are being questioned about bombings, threats, beatings and truck sabotage, of which the committee heard vivid stories Tuesday.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said he hoped to question all of the men accused in testimony by Paul Bradshaw, former teamster official who testified he was double-crossed after he had agreed to "take the rap" for a house bombing.

ORDERED VIOLENCE

Names mentioned in Bradshaw's long day on the witness stand included:

Joseph Bartell, business agent of carpenters Local 261, Scranton. Bradshaw said Bartell had given him orders that resulted in acts of violence to halt non-union building operations.

Philip Brady, business agent of electrical workers Local 81. Bradshaw also linked Brady with orders to halt work on some jobs, including a road construction job by non-union crews.

Anthony Bonacuse, business agent for Local 130, Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, Scranton. Edward Puzsek, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., housing contractor, testified Tuesday that Bonacuse warned him "it would be a smart thing for you to be union—the boys play rough here," when he went to Scranton to build a home. The home subsequently was bombed in 1954.

John Durkin, secretary-treasurer and business agent, Scranton Teamsters' Local 229. Bradshaw testified Durkin told him to drive the car when a "stink bomb" was thrown into a Scranton bakery which was using non-union delivery men.

TOSSED STINK BOMB

Robert Hubshman, member of Teamsters' Local 229. Bradshaw said Hubshman tossed the stink bomb after either he or Hubshman decided that a quart of stench material they had been given was to much, and reduced the charge to a pint.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) called for testimony to show whether the AFL-CIO, in implementing its newly adopted code of ethics, is attempting to oust union officials convicted of crimes.

Bradshaw said there has been no effort yet to remove any of the Scranton leaders from office.

Paris Scene Of Algerian Gang Violence

PARIS (AP)—Rival gangs of Algerians in France killed three Algerians and wounded six Tuesday night in clashes in Paris and its suburbs.

Another man was missing from his bloodstained room.

The endless vendetta among the 350,000 Algerians in France had been largely ignored by the French press. But today the influential Paris newspaper, Figaro, expresses concern that "excessive tolerance" of the French authorities is being interpreted as proof of weakness.

Since Jan. 1, 1956, more than 150 Algerians have been killed and nearly 1,300 wounded in clashes among nationalist militants in France. The chief fighting groups are the National Liberation Movement (MNA), which numbers the bulk of its adherents among Algerians in France, and the more extreme National Liberation Front (FLN), which the French claim is directed from Cairo and Tunis.

FEAR REPRISALS

Their targets generally are Algerians who refuse to contribute to the Nationalist cause, or who are considered pro-French.

Police have been hampered by the refusal of witnesses or victims to talk for fear of reprisals.

Rebel Forces Battle Army In Indonesia

5,000 Fanatics Behind Uprising

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Rebel forces today were battling the Indonesian army in heavy fighting near Macassar, capital of the Celebes, according to unconfirmed reports reaching here.

The rebels were reported to be troops of Kahar Muzakkar, leader of the 5,000-strong fanatical Darul Islam Army.

Nine Javanese battalions earlier were moved into the Macassar area to pacify the Celebes. The battalions are commanded by Lt.-Col. Sudirman.

Meanwhile, army sources reported today that two emissaries from rebel groups in Central Sumatra have been arrested in Jakarta, capital of the Indonesian Republic.

An army spokesman would not confirm that the two men, Lieut. Zulkifli Nasution and Lieut. Sinaga, had been placed under arrest.

Nasution was an emissary of Col. Ahmad Hussein, leader of the rebel Banteng Council which took over the administration of Central Sumatra in December, and Sinaga of Col. Maludin Simbolon, leader of the unsuccessful December coup in North Sumatra.

The outlawed Darul Islam declared war against the Indonesian government nearly three years ago and has clashed frequently with federal troops. The organization is dedicated to the creation of a Moslem theocratic state.

In another development today, Garuda Indonesian Airlines cancelled until further notice all flights to Macassar "due to the situation on the island of Celebes."

10-Year-Old Runs TV Take to $192,000

NEW YORK (UP) — Robert Strom, 10-year-old science whiz, set another all-time TV quiz show record Tuesday night when he ran his winnings to $192,000.

The fifth-grade student breezed through a three-part series of questions on various aspects of science on "The $64,000 Question."

"It's up to the boss whether I go on," said Rob with some detachment after the show. "Who's the boss? The boss is Mom."

The boss, Mrs. Beatrice Strom, of the Bronx, N.Y., shrugged. "Rob is bearing up fine. Me? . . . well, the show isn't so bad. It's what goes on in between shows. Reporters at the door, reporters at the phone.

"Why, the girls are even mailing in cheese cake shots to Rob from all over the continent!"

Young Strom, natty in a striped jacket, waltzed through a three-part question on his 10th appearance on the give-away. It marked the third time he has reached the $64,000 level. Next week, if he chooses, he can gun for another $32,000. If he makes that, he can try for his fourth and final $64,000 on April 30. That would give him $256,000 in all.

Whatever happens, Rob is assured of the $192,000 he has won thus far. Or what will be left after it's spread over a three-year period. That three-year spread would leave him with some $83,000 after taxes.

Last night, Rob, who plays the outfield on a Little League team and collects Presley records, answered a question that dealt with math, chemistry, physics, electronics and astronomy.

His first question called for the name of the scientist associated with frequency modulation (E. H. Armstrong); the founder of analytic geometry (René Descartes); and the discoverer of radioactivity (Henri Becquerel).

He was then asked to tell what happens from the mixing of hydrochloric acid and sodium hydroxide—a neutralization reaction occurs in which a strong acid and a strong base interact to release chemical energy in the form of heat. Salt and water are by-products—and the mixing of metallic sodium and water—hydrogen gas is displaced and explodes by reacting rapidly with oxygen in the air. Sodium hydroxide is the by-product.

After chewing over that mouthful, young Rob was faced with a question of astronomy. Using a map of the sky mounted on the face of his isolation booth, he was asked to name the seven constellations in the sky that contain first magnitude stars and the names of the first magnitude stars.

The constellations were: Scorpius, Cygnus, Lyra, Aquila, Bootes, Leo and Virgo. The stars were: Antares, Deneb, Vega, Altair, Arcturus, Regulus and Spica.

The boy was then asked to locate and encircle each of

U.S. Has Right To Aid Jordan Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States could go to Jordan's assistance if it becomes a victim of aggression.

The president also told his news conference the United States may have to go before the United Nations Security Council to report on the stalled Suez Canal negotiations. But he added that his government has not given up hope that an agreement with Egypt can be reached.

Eisenhower said the United States has two ways of helping Jordan if it is attacked. First, he said, a Big Three agreement of May, 1950, provides for action in event any Middle East nation is the victim of aggression and this could apply in an Israeli-Arab dispute.

Second, the Middle East doctrine resolution approved by Congress, he said, permits the United States to go to the aid of any nation attacked by Communist aggression.

The United States, he said, would be guided by either of these two pronouncements. The president, however, did not voice any concern that aggression is imminent.

SUEZ PRINCIPLES

On Suez, the president said the United States has insisted in its negotiations with Egypt that the canal be operated in line with the six principles approved by UN Security Council last October.

These included provision for agreement on tolls, insulation of the canal's operation "from the politics of any country," and opening of the waterway to ships of all nations.

The president said some progress has been made; he has not given up hope of an agreement, but the United States might have to go back to the Security Council.

The president said in discussing the Middle East that American ships are not entitled, as he put it, to bull their way into the Gulf of Aqaba.

INTERNATIONAL

He said the United States long ago announced its readiness to join with other nations in stating that the Gulf of Aqaba and the adjacent Straits of Tiran are regarded as international waters, pending a decision to the contrary by the World Court.

American ships can do as they choose, he said, since this government has not told them to avoid entering the gulf.

Officials said Egypt already has been informed of the possible U.S. move to refer the stalled Suez negotiations to the Security Council.

By taking the issue to the Security Council, the United States hopes to highlight the differences or stumbling blocks standing in the way of a satisfactory Suez agreement. Efforts will be made in the American "interim report" to emphasize the need for giving any agreement international backing.

Early action is essential, officials said.

U.S. Refugee Cost Runs to $48 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department said Tuesday Americans have spent $48,000,000 to help resettle refugees from the Communist revolt in Hungary. United States government aid of all types totalled approximately $30,000,000. In addition, the American people contributed more than $18,000,000 through voluntary welfare agencies and private charitable organizations.

Specials said, because of pressure from American and Allied shippers who want to begin using the canal.

Guilt by Association

THREE PRINCIPLES OF CANADIAN policy have been clarified and reinforced by the tragic case of the late Herbert Norman.

First, the Canadian Government will choose its own officials, determine their trustworthiness for itself and reject any interference from a foreign nation.

Second, Canada will maintain its existing system of security, by which all inquiries into the loyalty of its officials are secret, are not subject to interference by Parliament and are not to become the football of partisan politics.

Third, Canada rejects outright the theory, popular with some members of the American Congress, of guilt by association.

This third principle has seldom been discussed in our Parliament because few Canadians have ever questioned it. But in the Norman case Mr. Pearson felt compelled to explain the Government's policy, as supported by all parties in Parliament, for the information of our American neighbors.

Breaking the established precedent of secrecy, he revealed that Mr. Norman, in his college days, had associated with persons believed to be communists; that Mr. Norman had never denied that association; and that the Government, after repeated checks, had been absolutely assured of his loyalty.

This aspect of the case is of the highest importance and most Canadians, regardless of party, will agree that Mr. Pearson's position is unquestionably right.

He says, in effect, that the Government is concerned only with the attitude of its servants when they are appointed as mature men, to posts of responsibility, not with the views they may have held in their youth.

The Government knows—everybody knows—that young men, particularly young men of intelligence, often explore and sometimes sympathize with theories of politics that the state cannot accept in its official.

It knows also that in the years when Mr. Norman associated with supposed communists, the theories of communism apparently offered no danger to the Canadian state.

At that time Russia had not become an aggressive power; it soon became our ally in the Second World War. Some of the most conservative businessmen of Canada, indeed, joined organizations to promote our friendship with Russia and Sir Winston Churchill was publicly praising the genius of Josef Stalin.

It is therefore quite wrong to condemn any man today because he may have sympathized with communism and with Russian policy years ago; just as wrong as it would be to appoint Canadian officials who have such sympathies today.

What matters, and matters solely, as Mr. Pearson says, is the present state of an official's mind, and in Mr. Norman's case the Government took special precautions to satisfy itself on that point.

It was fully satisfied. No member of our Parliament has questioned the Government's verdict. No one has proposed to change the existing system of security. No one has supported the vicious theory of guilt by association which, incidentally, contradicts all the theories of the American Constitution but unfortunately is supported by some American politicians. And no one has admitted for a moment the right of a foreign power to interfere in our national business.

If Canada's principles of conduct in these vital matters is now better understood by Canadians and Americans alike, some good has arisen from the tragedy of Mr. Norman, a fine Canadian destroyed by a few irresponsible men in Washington.

Old Problem Returns

THE PROBLEM OF KOREA, which once sent the United Nations to war against an aggressor and thereby made history, may once again come before the world body. Reports to the United States tell of a build-up of military strength by the communists in North Korea, in open violation of the terms of the armistice. Since the U.N. itself is a signatory to the armistice treaty, it is directly involved in any further threat to the peace.

State Secretary Dulles has made it clear that the reported violations are viewed seriously in Washington and that the matter is being studied at the highest level. While the U.S. does not wish a return to a state of belligerence, the communist action may force some steps by the United States.

The matter assumes further importance in view of Britain's announced intention to withdraw all British troops from South Korea except a small non-combatant group. The U.N.-sponsored southern part of the Korean peninsula cannot live under the threat of imminent invasion from the North. Nor can the world live under the threat of aggressive action which could plunge it into a wider conflict.

Red China, which controls North Korea, does nothing to better its chances of acceptance by the U.N. by thus raising another threat to world peace. The situation is equally a threat to the integrity of the United Nations, whose authority is being flouted.

It may be that Red China has been encouraged in its action by the U.N.'s display of helplessness in the Hungarian crisis. If so, that impression should be quickly corrected.

1877—Still Going Strong

THE "MAYOR OF VICTORIA," West, C. F. "Charlie" Banfield, celebrated his 80th birthday this week and the good people of his neighborhood marked the event with suitable ceremonies.

It is gratifying to see the appreciation shown by his neighbors to a man who has spent his energies and talents so prodigally for the good of his district. It is equally pleasing to see Charlie Banfield still alert and interested in the affairs of his community.

"Charlie" Banfield retired, some years ago to one of the most active retirements recorded in this district. Behind him is a career as King's Printer and a onetime member of the old Victoria Daily Times composing room staff. May he have before him a continued enjoyment of activity which has made retirement a figure of speech only.

Musical Ride for B.C.

WHATEVER ELSE THE BRITISH Columbia centennial committee books in top-notch entertainment next year, it has already acquired the best in its class in the RCMP musical ride.

This is more than an equestrian event which has "stopped the show" in Madison Square Garden, delighted experts in Britain and won acclaim throughout this continent. It is an exhibition with a particular national flavor, a precision drill by a force noted throughout the world and known far and wide as a colorful adjunct of the Canadian scene.

To visitors and homefolk alike the musical ride, staged in major centres throughout the province, will be an attraction eagerly anticipated by all who enjoy showmanship and who have looked forward to the time when they could see in the flesh an institution which has brought high honor to this country.

By the Light of the Lamp

GRANNY CHRYSTAL, A little old lady in a Banfield cottage, may have a point in her assessment of the benefits of electricity.

The Scottish Hydro Electricity Authority went to great expense to bring power to her home. After the wires had been connected for three months, the agency found that Granny had used only five cents worth of electricity.

Investigation revealed that the 84-year-old woman turned the light on at dusk only to see to light her kerosene lamps.

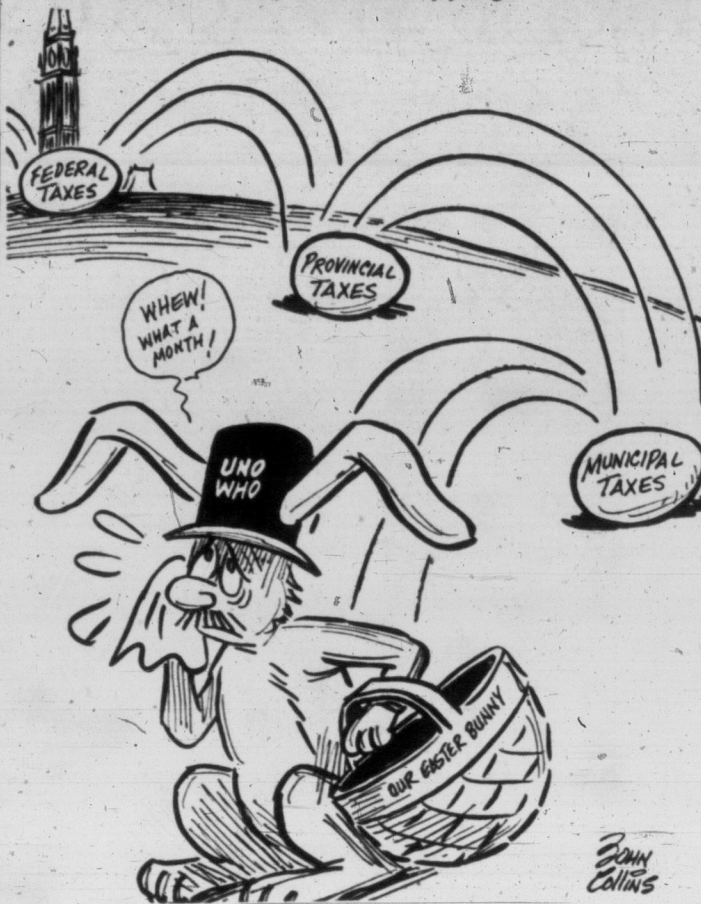

Her explanation was simple: "I've nothing against the new electricity. It's just that I've got used to lamps."

Granny, at 84, sounds like a spry old soul with a tough, if open mind, a fine sense of independence and enough to do about her cottage to keep her actively healthy and alert.

We wonder if she happens to have a grand-daughter who is a modern housewife with an electric refrigerator, electric range, electric washing machine, electric ironer, electric dishwasher, electric garbage disposal unit, radio and television set—and, if she has such a hypothetical descendant, is the young woman bored with the whole business of living efficiently?

Power, we're told, means progress. And what is progress in terms of the full life?

HOW TO EXPLAIN IT?

The Foreign Country

THE good old hands-across-the-border loosened their grip for a moment last week. It wasn't an open diplomatic break, you understand. But one of those differences cropped up to remind us that Canadians and Americans aren't the same after all; that there are differences between the two countries which can't be overlooked, and that the 49th parallel isn't just a technicality but a real border between two separate nations.

Tobin

It all began when a visitor from the U.S. walked into the office a few days ago. He was in a state of bewilderment, he said. He couldn't understand why there was all the fuss in this country over the Norman affair.

The papers seemed to be full of nothing but the Norman affair, he said. And he couldn't see why all these editorials were being written about the fellow. Just because his name "happened to come up" in the U.S. Senate subcommittee was no reason to get all excited.

Just Carrying On

And what did we mean by classing Senator Jenner and Senator Eastland with Senator McCarthy? McCarthy had done a very fine job routing out Communists who had infiltrated U.S. federal departments to a dangerous extent. The others were just carrying on his good work. So what was all the fuss about?

My visitor went out a half hour later, and his final words were that he still couldn't see what all the fuss was about. So I felt that I had failed him. He had come for information and I had apparently been unable to provide it.

But on thinking it over later I wondered if I wasn't up against something a little tougher than a mere explanation. What I had run into head-on was one of the major phenomena of the world. A half-hour was hardly enough in which to get the problem straightened out.

I think at the base of my friend's bewilderment was the fact that he didn't really recognize that he was in a foreign country.

He had come up here, he had met friends and relatives, the language was the same, the customs were the same, even the slang and brands of pop were similar.

Almost Treasonable

To find people outraged by something the Senate subcommittee had done was almost like finding treason. Surely these practically-Americans could see that the subcommittee was only working for their own good, to ensure that no Communists threatened the good old U.S.A.—er, ah, that is, North America.

And secondly, this particular visitor was fully conscious of the extent to which Communists had moved into many important governmental posts a few years ago. He felt that pretty strong measures were necessary to drive them out. I gathered that the means were justifiable even if a few innocent persons were bumped in the process. After all, the security of the nation was at stake.

Well, the first problem was a natural one. I don't suppose there are two separate nations in the world whose joint frontier means less in language, customs and ways of life. For a citizen of the large neighbor to visit the smaller country would naturally pose difficulties in remembering that this really was a different people.

Even Senator Neuberger, one of Canada's best friends in the south, forgets that now and then.

Foreign Meddling

So, equally naturally, it would be hard for a visitor to remember that to Canadians the Norman "case" wasn't just another in a long string of such cases; it was a bang-up. No. 1 incident which had all the appearance of foreign meddling in Canadian affairs.

Unless you could remember that the U.S. is a foreign—if well-liked—country as far as Canada is concerned, obviously you would overlook the significance of the incident.

And even before the national aspect is considered, of course, there is another problem.

While public opinion in the neighboring country appears to be mixed on the question of trial by subcommittee, Canadians, I think, are almost unanimous in their aversion to it.

Even where the victim is an American citizen, we, as a nation, do not like the system whereby a man's character and livelihood can be destroyed merely by unproven charges. His answers to the charges, no matter how well substantiated, can never undo all the harm that has been done to him.

And we don't like a system under which a man can become the victim of ambitious politicians who try to further their own careers under the banner of patriotism.

Our Own Man

The McCarthy and Jenner methods, carried on without control of the nation's government or its courts, are not for us. The sense of outrage was all the greater, then, when a Canadian, whom our own Government had cleared of suspicion, was dragged into the machine.

But how, in a few minutes chat, could you explain 300 years of history, the ramifications of the British heritage, the sensitivity of a small nation living cheek by jowl with the world's greatest, the tenacity of a people who had built an east-west nation in defiance of geography's obvious north-south preference, and the let-down feeling Canadians experience when a country they admire falls short of their expectations.

I can well understand my visitor's bewilderment about it all. There are 16 million of us up here who haven't quite got it pegged down yet either.

As Our Readers See It

Aging and Resented

Under the heading "Goal For The Aging" in your issue of April 12 Dr. M. N. Sherman of Seaview Road quotes a conference held in California in 1951 as authority for the opinion "The Aging group contains the greatest potential for meeting and solving the problems attendant upon aging."

That statement is most unrealistic and is not borne out by recent facts. For instance that fire in a most unsafe aged persons home in Montreal was but another example of that kind of regard in which old people are held.

It is fine sentiment (if it were real) to say that life for the aging is a happy adventure from beginning to end, when we admit that most aged are abandoned by their families, told they are costing them far too much, expected to exist in single rooms or in fire traps called—"Aged Men's Homes" or "Aged Women's Homes" and are given or allowed suitably small pensions on which to live, and are the last to be considered when increased incomes are the subject of consideration. Just how are we to contribute happiness to others when measures of happiness for us is the last and least consideration of those younger who insist on telling us where and how to live?

L. J. PEPPER.

Cry Shame

May I, through the medium of your column, comment on a recent radio news commentary of the 12th inst.

In the first place I would like to say that I am in complete accord with the commentator's concern over the health of Sir Anthony Eden and, if it is true, his financial position. I most certainly agree that any financial burden, due to the breakdown in his health (the contributing factors to which are all too well known) should be lifted from his shoulders, and in such a manner that there would be no hint or feeling of accepting charity.

Where I think the announcer went off the track was in suggesting that Canada might make a substantial contribution to Sir Anthony's welfare and thus "Shame Britain" into caring for those who have given their health in her service. In other words, the suggestion is that Canada should contribute, not for any feeling of philanthropy, but solely to humiliate her best friend—Britain. What a strange purpose for giving a gift!

I am a Canadian (of British origin) but I say that Canada, particularly after the ineffectual part she played in what is now known as the "Suez Affair" is in no position to criticize Britain, much less attempt to shame her.

"KEEP CANADA BRITISH."

Screening Security

It is a serious matter for Canadians to consider this: "Canada does it quietly." Being in Ottawa when the famous spy case was in progress and the mess of that inquiry, it is time to ask, "Who checks who?" Tut, tut, Mr. Howe, are you doing at the house-warming of the new Ottawa Embassy?

A. CAROLYN BAYFIELD.

FROM GAZA

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Using the Living Dead

UNDER the mild but brilliant sunshine of the balmy southern Mediterranean springtime, the big camp of Palestinian Arab refugees a few miles from Gaza town seems not too bad a place. The town for this is what it really is—well laid out and clean.

The mudhuts are solid and well roofed. The leaders of the camp, Supervisor Misbah Mekki, Dr. Anwar Athony and the rest, are all fine, hard working people who obviously do their best for the twenty thousand and more souls committed to their care.

Outwardly, moreover, the camp almost conveys the impression of a town with a life of its own. The women gossip at their work at the little embroidery centre. Through the windows of the big school, come the sounds of chanting Arab recitation.

Ration-Queue

At the food warehouse, a great crowd of men and women and children are gathered to draw their rations of flour and oil, beans and sugar, and they talk and laugh while they wait for their names to be called.

But here, if you pause among the crowd for even a moment, a near riot automatically ensues. It is always the same when any foreigner stops among a crowd in one of the refugee camps.

These people have no past except the memory of their homes long lost; no present purpose except to rot in the camps; no future except the hope of return and revenge.

They exist from day to day on their poor rations, which have been insanely set at a level not quite sufficient to prevent hunger. And so pouring out their grievances, their well justified grievances, is to them irresistible.

This is the reality. The tidy outward appearance of the camp is an illusion. For in this tidy setting the refugees lead the lives of the living dead, and they and their children and their children's children.

And these living dead—two hundred and twenty thousand of them in the Gaza strip alone—are permanent reminders that new Israel, like Israel of old, was born in blood by driving out the simple people of the land.

They are such useful pawns that any improvement in their lot is actually resented and opposed.

Centennial Project

I see we are having difficulty with regard to our Centennial Project.

It seems to me quite obvious, that to agree to a project simply because it will "set an example of intermunicipal unity,"—as reported in the press—is fundamentally wrong, particularly if such is against the better judgment or conscience of one.

Our Centennial, particularly the first, should, in my view, be marked by the construction of an edifice of an outstanding nature of its own and not one that is within the ordinary and primary duty of a municipality to provide and build.

To pounce upon whatever monies can be got from the project for ordinary municipal expenditures is wrong. Let me be more specific: Let us not evade our public obligation to build hospitals, city halls, garbage and sewage systems, and all such other public necessary works which is our ordinary duty. Let us construct for a centennial an outstanding edifice such as an auditorium—for the use of all, whether young or old, ill or well.

I am truly sorry for Victoria and its taxpayers if policies exist as above referred to. We all know that it is not always easy to do what is right—but let us never forget the lesson given us nearly two thousand years ago. We commemorate this month those tragic events, when One who always stood fast for what was right, was condemned by a weak and corrupt magistrate and crucified by a multitude swayed by evil leadership.

C. L. HARRISON.

Dry Rot

Easter is an opportune time of the year to throw a light upon the deplorable trend in human nature towards "crucifixion" of a "fellow-man."

The Herbert Norman case is significant in this respect. Mr. Norman is dead, but will his death and the contributing causes of that tragedy halt the fears, greeds and insidious ambitions of those men who callously use "anyone" to serve their own personal "advancement?"—a form of progress(?)

That can be nothing but questionable, for the price demanded is the loss of moral fibre; without this "fibre" a process of "dry rot" sets in and its seepage into a country diseases a nation unto death, taking both the good and the bad, even though decency may shine through to proclaim its suffocated victory.

KATHLEEN M. WORTHINGTON-LAKE, 851 Maddison Street.

Partisan

The announcement made through Dr. Fairley, the member for Victoria City, to the effect that the Liberal Government is willing to make an expenditure of $500,000 on terminal wharf facilities at Saanich Peninsula, is not only vague in the extreme in that no location is mentioned and no item has been included in the estimates tabled at the present and last sitting of the present parliament, but it is typical, of course, of the Liberal Government to make such promises on the eve of an election and to adopt an utterly partisan method in doing so.

ROBERT D. HARVEY, 620 View Street.

Using the Living Dead

In the Baghdad Pact riots last year, for instance, Egyptian and Communist agents led the attack on the admirable agricultural co-operative established near Jericho by Musa Bey Alami. The reason was that Musa Bey Alami had contrived a decent livelihood for too many refugees.

There have been similar episodes in Gaza. In sum, everything is done, by propaganda and by rules, to make the refugees and what is worse, the refugees' children, go on living the lives of living dead, and so to keep them as a political lever.

Political Lever

At this moment, Egypt's President Nasser is using the refugees as a lever in the Suez Canal negotiations. He is saying that he will not abandon his "right of belligerency", that he will not permit Israeli ships to pass through the Canal, unless Israel takes satisfactory steps to settle the refugee problem.

The failure of the Israelis to offer reasonable compensation to those they have driven out, their refusal to let those come back who wish to do so, is a standing reproach to Israel.

But almost none would go back—you have only to ask them—to Israel as Israel exists today. And what President Nasser means by satisfactory steps to settle the refugee problem is simply the re-partition of Israel and the liquidation of Israel as a viable state.

There are some reasons to believe that the U.N. authorities may not press the Israelis to make the kind of territorial concessions that Israel cannot make and stay in business as a nation.

By the lunatic logic of our times, Hitler's crime against the Jews was expiated by a crime against the Palestinian Arabs. And now this second crime, so the theory runs, can be expiated by still another crime against all the hundreds of thousands of simple Jewish people who have pulled up their old roots and with labor and sacrifice have put down new roots in Israel's soil.

Just a Ritual

In actual fact, any such U.N. pressure on Israel, like President Nasser's defence of his "right of belligerency", will be mere ritual manoeuvring.

The Arab nations do not have the strength today to liquidate Israel. The great powers are not going to use force to liquidate Israel. And the Israelis will fight first. So the refugee problem is not going to be solved by the liquidation of Israel.

In a more practical, less passion-ridden world, a plan might well be attempted that would at least compensate the first generation who are determined to go home to an Arab Palestine or die in the camps; and would also save the second and third generations from this life of the living dead. But this, no doubt, is too much to hope for nowadays.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"DON'T LET THE COPS FIND OUT WHAT?"

From Our Files

April 17, 1897 — Ottawa: For the nine months ending March 31 Canadian exports amounted to $99,192,000 and imports to $85,089,000. Total trade was $10 millions better than last year.

April 17, 1917 — The massed choirs of the Choral Society, the Thomas Steele Choir and the Congregational Church will perform in the church, J. Douglas Macey will conduct.

April 17, 1937 — Further reconstruction will be done on the Malahat from Mile 16 north. "By the end of the year we will have the Island Highway surfaced 100 per cent from Victoria to Campbell River." Hon. F. M. MacPherson, public works minister announced.

Varmints Across the Line

NEW YORK—Nothing beats a well-built fence for keeping varmints away, and in the language of the United Nations Emergency Force, a varmint is anybody who seeks to cross the demarcation line between the Gaza Strip and Israel, in either direction.

Hence the proposal by Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns to Israel that she erect a barbed wire barrier laced with mines along the Gaza Strip frontier—an idea that General Burns first proposed to Israel back in 1936 when he was supervisor of the United Nations Truce Mission. The plan was abandoned on that occasion, but there seems a good chance now that Israel will accept it, if she has the assurance that the Gaza side of the fence will be patrolled by UNEF troops.

The fence idea represents what UN officials regard as the "next best thing" to having the troops of the Emergency Force stationed on both sides of the demarcation line. Israel has consistently refused to consider having the men of UNEF on her soil.

Obviously, General Burns does not want the sole responsibility for preventing border incidents to fall upon the Emergency Force. If he can help it, the UNEF border patrol is efficient, but it is not foolproof, as General Burns has reason to know both as a soldier and as the former truce supervisor.

THE POROUS WALL

Israel herself has given many reminders of the fact that the wall erected by UNEF along the demarcation line is a porous one. The latest of these reminders came this week in the form of a letter to the president of the Security Council from Israel's representative at the UN, Mr. Abba Eban.

This was the latest of the monthly reports Israel has been sending the UN on what she calls "infiltration and marauding" into her territory from Egypt, since she pulled her troops back behind the armistice line.

Last month, Israel published a list of minor invasions of her territory from the Sinai Peninsula, through the check points set up by UNEF. This month, her report deals with bandits entering her territory from the Gaza Strip, again through the UNEF picket lines. In recording these incidents, Israel is building up a dossier either as a basis for future negotiation or as a justification for counter measures—she does not demand Security Council action, she merely asks that member nations of the UN be informed.

Arabs in the Gaza Strip have boasted that there are 10 or 15 points at which they can walk into Israel, whatever precautions UNEF may take to stop them. That they speak the truth would seem to be indicated in Mr. Eban's list of 19 transgressions since March 10, all of them after UNEF took over patrolling the armistice line.

INVARIABLE PRELUDES

Some samples: On March 13, a flock of sheep was stolen from Kissufin by marauders from the Gaza Strip; on March 13 a group of infiltrators from the Gaza Strip crossed into Israel and reaped 40 dunnams of wheat from the fields of Kfar Aza; on March 15, infiltrators from the Gaza Strip stole 50 sacks of grain from Nirim village; on March 18 infiltrators from Gaza stole a stand of corn in the fields of Mefalsim village; on the night of March 23, 12 goats were stolen from Dagan village, and tracks led to the Gaza Strip.

Commented Mr. Eban: "Experience has shown that incidents which at first sight appear to be relatively unimportant, such as infiltration and marauding for purposes of theft and robbery, are the invariable prelude to serious outbreaks of violence and terror throughout the area."

It is this sort of thing that General Burns hopes would be brought to an end if Israel would string barbed wire along her side of the line—two fences with a strip of mines down the middle. Even such a line could not doubt be penetrated by well-equipped military patrols, but it should discourage the sheep stealers and wheat reapers, and make UNEF's job easier.

New Daffs Outdo Older Varieties

Regardless of cloud or sunshine for the weekend, we are assured of a fine display of color in our gardens for Easter.

Never have the daffodils appeared brighter, each variety as it unfolds seems more beautiful than those already opened.

A visit this weekend to one of the commercial daffodil gardens will well repay the home gardener. Selections for next fall's planting can be made from seeing the newest varieties side by side with those which were new thirty years ago.

The gold of the daffodils will gleam on the dullest days, but it may be the newer pink varieties which will intrigue you. Whatever your preference, those all pure white, or the lemon petals with an orange cup, the huge blossoms or the miniatures, the singles or the doubles, each has its individual charm, and its qualities are best assessed as you see the bulbs in flower.

Begin to plan your own Easter garden for next year by choosing the makings now. You will have triple enjoyment: seeing the flowers in bloom, and receiving in the fall an order of fat, heavy bulbs which you

Eskimos Quick To Learn Value Of Bank Savings

OTTAWA (CP) — There aren't any Eskimo millionaires yet but their bank accounts are already impressive.

The northern affairs department said Tuesday 235 Eskimos working on the DEW (Distant Early Warning) line have saved about $200,000.

Most of the savings range from $80 to $1,000. A few individuals have saved as much as $2,000. The new earners and savers represent only a few of Canada's 11,000 Eskimos. But they're the first Eskimos in history banking their money in facilities provided by post offices or the Hudson's Bay Company.

Eskimos occasionally splurge, just like anyone else, the department said. But most of the Eskimo's cash goes for food, clothing, rifles, boats or tents.

MAN'S ACTION MELTING ICE CAP

Sea Will Rise 40 Feet California Physicist Warns

SANTA MONICA (AP)—A noted physicist predicts that ocean levels will rise at least 40 feet and inundate vast areas of the earth in the next 50 or 60 years unless atmospheric temperatures can be controlled.

In a copyrighted story, the Santa Monica Evening Outlook quotes Dr. Joseph Kaplan as saying this inundation could occur as a result of accelerated melting of the polar ice caps.

CAUSED BY MAN

Dr. Kaplan, a professor at the University of California, at Los Angeles and head of the U.S. national committee for the 1957 International Geophysical Year, said the melting of the ice caps is being speeded by man's "tremendous use" of oil and gas. "We're changing the earth's atmosphere," he said. The 54-year-old scientist said the burning of fuels is of such great magnitude that discharged gases are warming the atmosphere as far up as 15 or 16 miles, and will have a great effect on the Arctic and Antarctic ice masses.

Should the oceans rise by 40 feet, their waters would roll through New York City, downtown San Francisco, much of Florida, sections of Tokyo, and many other coastal cities. Dr. Kaplan said heat control is the answer to the threat.

"We're now working on a method of controlling man's environment and the temperature of the world," he said. "We've already fired rockets into the upper atmosphere and discharged chemicals that affect the temperature of the atmosphere."

"Control by man of the earth's weather and temperature is within the realm of practicality now," he said.

"We're changing the earth's atmosphere," he said. The 54-year-old scientist said the burning of fuels is of such great magnitude that discharged gases are warming the atmosphere as far up as 15 or 16 miles, and will have a great effect on the Arctic and Antarctic ice masses.

Not Snobbery, Just System

LONDON—The fact that half a million youngsters are currently taking this "11 Plus" test (for entrance to grammar school) has sparked a controversy as to whether the many English parents who do it are right in sacrificing everything to put their youngsters through private schools.

Among others, author Nicholas Monsarrat is against parents making themselves martyrs for the sake of their children getting education at "a good school."

Says he: "I deplore the morale and financial suicide of parents who 'give up everything' for their children. One of the reasons why the youth of today is so detestable is that we worship them, worry about them, and work our trousers to the bone for them. All those who don't want to be eaten by their young should join my underground movement—the Society for the Preservation of the Adult World."

As a guest from the Dominions in this country, one finds oneself going along with the system. If you try to buck it, by saying "In my country the local free school was good enough for anybody," and put your youngsters in the local council school you are likely to be doing them a disservice that will mark them for the rest of their lives.

Young Mac is at a private school that costs £42 a term—something over $350 a year, plus "extras" which I always seem to be paying out. His sister's fees at another school are slightly less. Neither of them are in their teens yet and the fees will jump to above three times as much when they go to senior school.

Why pay them then, when there are free schools readily available?

Perhaps the answer is best illustrated by the remark of one of the boys in Mac's school when I was with a group of the boys coming back from a football game. We passed the attractive, newly-built council school, which has a much better setup than Mac's school in an old converted mansion. Said the boy: "That's the Cockneys' school."

He did not say it from snobbery. It was a statement of fact. Children of working class families go to the council schools. A parent who is a "professional man" sees to it that his youngsters go to private schools, even though it's a burden to meet the fees.

He wants them to mingle with youngsters from the same background, and that's the only way he can do it. He doesn't choose to pay fees for the snob value; he is forced into it by the system that has been in force for ages here.

SYNOPSIS—This cloud crept into the southwestern part of the province Tuesday night and a few light showers occurred over southern Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. Skies were almost clear elsewhere and light frosts again occurred in interior valleys.

A flat area of low pressure is moving erratically toward the coast and the circulation around it will spread thin cloud over most southern districts today.

Parents Note: Danger Time For Children

TORONTO (CP)—Watch yourself around the house on Sundays between four and seven p.m.—particularly if you're a little boy between one and five-years-old.

According to two federal health department physicians, the 47 p.m. stretch on Sundays witnesses more accidents in the home than any other similar period during the week.

And males in the 1-5 age group are the most prone. Dr. E. H. Lossing and Dr. Roger B. Goyette disclosed in the April issue of the Canadian Journal of Public Health the results of an accident survey conducted among 1,000 families in the Ottawa-Hull, Que. district.

Four hospitals handed on accident reports and the doctors checked each until they had 1,000. Their study showed: "Cutting and piercing" mishaps accounted for 246 of the 1,000 cases. Falls of one kind or another made up 409. Blows of various descriptions reached 105. The balance consisted of burns, poisoning, foreign agents entering body openings and accidents caused by animals or insects. There were 109 reports not classified because of their great diversity.

HONEYMOON OVER FOR B.C. LUMBER, WILLISTON SAYS

PORTLAND (AP)—The Pacific Northwest Trade Association heard a warning from a British Columbia cabinet minister Monday night that the "postwar honeymoon" for the lumber industry may be over.

Hon. Ray Williston, B.C. minister of lands and forests, said the industry will have to diversify to survive. He added that the future lies not in lumber but in wood cellulose products.

Restoration of Seaside Forts Proposed as Historic Landmark

UNIFORMS were not issued 5th Canadian Garrison Artillery until seven months after this photo was taken in 1878. Officer in uniform is believed to be Lt.-Col. C. F. Houghton, and man to left of him, with arms akimbo, possibly is Capt. C. T. Dupont.

Some earth, concrete, and a few old cannons could restore the old 5th Canadian Garrison Artillery batteries here and add much historic interest to the waterfront, in the opinion of S. P. Hanna, 363 Lampson Street.

According to Mr. Hanna there were earthworks at Finlayson Point, Macaulay Point, Brother Islands and at the foot of Olympia Avenue near the site of the model yacht pond.

In the first muster of the pioneer battery, Capt. C. T. Dupont, commanded 50 NCO's and gunners. Preparations were designed to repel possible Russian attacks on Victoria, expected if Britain entered the Russo-Turkish War on the side of the Turks.

BEARPIT WOODS

According to Mr. Hanna, "we often crawled inside" a partly-collapsed gun mount at the foot of Olympia Avenue, close to the bearpit woods.

"Why bearpit?" "Between Lover's Lane and Dallas Road there were large bearpits with a number of animals. Each pit had a large post supporting a platform through which the bears could climb to the top. The first bear to catch a tossed ham bone climbed up to the top and chewed the bone with wonderful growls, while the other bears complained below."

Fireman Found Guilty In Forged Will Case

(From The Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER—Gilbert Campbell, 51-year-old Vancouver fire department lieutenant, was found guilty Tuesday of dealing in a forged document in the $900,000 Thomson will case.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating two hours. It found him not guilty on a charge of forgery, as directed earlier by Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan.

Defence counsel Thomas Dohm said he would begin immediate action to appeal the conviction.

Conviction on the dealing charge carries a maximum sentence of 14 years. Campbell was remanded for sentence to the end of the Supreme Court sittings.

He was charged in connection with the will of hotel owner James Thomson, who died in 1919.

In addition to the charges of forgery and dealing in a forged document he was accused of attempting to defraud the heirs of the hotel owner.

Mr. Justice Ruttan told the jury that if they found Campbell guilty on the dealing count, they should not consider the fraud charge.

The jurist directed Monday that the forgery charge be thrown out after an RCMP handwriting expert testified he could not positively identify Campbell as the man who forged the three signatures on the disputed will.

DRUG TRAFFICKERS JAILED

VANCOUVER—Ruth Postnikoff, 32, who said she used 36 capsules of heroin a day to "feed her habit," was sentenced Tuesday to seven years in penitentiary.

She pleaded guilty to six charges of trafficking in narcotics and was given a seven-year concurrent term for each.

Miss Postnikoff told Magistrate Oscar Orr she was "fixed" seven times a day, eight capsules to a fix.

Magistrate Orr commented: "You can't have time to do much else." A cap of heroin costs $5 retail on the underworld market.

Her husband, John, had been sentenced to six years Monday. Both were arrested in an RCMP roundup of suspected traffickers last month.

In other cases Tuesday, Arthur Dwyer, 26, who said he had been taking drugs since he was 16, was given a one-year term for trafficking.

William Matheson, 47, was sentenced to five years on a trafficking charge.

CONSTABLE REMANDED

VANCOUVER—City police constable Edward Hart, 33, was remanded to April 24 Tuesday when he appeared in magistrate's court on a charge of driving while impaired. He was arrested Monday after his private car was in collision with a parked taxi in the West End.

CLUB STRIKE ENDS

VANCOUVER—Striking and locked out members of the Club and Cabaret Workers, Local 740, agreed to return to work today after a two-week work stoppage. The dispute between the 150 waiters and bartenders and the management of seven city clubs ended Tuesday night when the union accepted a six-cent-an-hour employer contribution to a health and welfare plan.

The union had demanded a seven-cent-an-hour, or total employer-paid contribution.

FOUND DEAD IN CAR

VANCOUVER—John McKinnon, 40, was found dead from gunshot wounds at the wheel of his car Tuesday, a few hours after he had pleaded guilty in police court to causing wilful damage.

He had appeared earlier on a charge of causing wilful damage to his residence and was remanded for sentence.

McKinnon, a longshoreman, is survived by his widow and two children.

CAREY LEAVES OAKALLA

VANCOUVER—James Carey, 28, sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of a Vancouver police constable, was transferred Tuesday from Oakalla Prison Farm to B.C. Penitentiary.

Carey was originally sentenced to hang along with 35-year-old Joe Gordon for the murder of constable Gordon Sinclair. Carey's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment at the last minute. Gordon was hanged April 2 in Oakalla.

TEACHERS VOTE

VANCOUVER—A majority of elementary school teachers here have voted in favor of reaffiliation with organized labor, but delegates to forthcoming teachers' convention will vote individually on the issue.

The Vancouver Elementary Teachers' Association said Tuesday a secret ballot produced a favorable majority but not the two-thirds majority required for the association to instruct its delegates to vote as a block for reaffiliation with labor.

ART GALLERY BANKRUPT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's art gallery is bankrupt, city council was told on Tuesday.

"To all intents and purposes we are bankrupt," said H. W. Kellond, chairman of the art gallery finance committee.

"We do not even have sufficient funds with which to meet our bank overdraft."

He appealed for an increase of $35,000 in the annual city grant, which this year had been set at $20,000. Council agreed to increase the grant by $5,000.

Mr. Kellond said appeals will have to be made to outside municipalities for financial aid to make up the $30,000 so the gallery can keep operating.

The building and art collection are valued at about $200,000.

U.S. Outstrips Canada In Wheat Export Gain

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wheat exports continued to rise in the first seven months of the current crop year, but the increase was only about one-sixth of that gained by the United States, the world's leading exporter.

Canadian exports rose by 23,000,000 bushels in the seven months to 160,000,000 from 137,000,000, the bureau of statistics reported today.

U.S. exports increased by a spectacular 152,200,000 bushels to 297,400,000 from 145,200,000. However, some of the American wheat is given away or sold on long-term credit.

In that same period, Australia's shipments almost doubled to 81,900,000 from 48,600,000.

An elderly woman went into a Victoria drug store recently and asked for some "intoxicated iron nuggets" to tone up her system.

The dispenser was puzzled at first. After putting a few questions he decided what the lady really wanted were nuxiated iron tablets.

Going to the United States for Easter?

Even for a short trip, you will save yourself money and trouble by getting U.S. cash or U.S. Dollar Travellers Cheques from your nearest Bank of Montreal branch before you leave. With Canada's currency at a premium, you can obtain the U.S. dollars you need at a worthwhile discount.

If you don't do this, you run the risk of not getting your money's worth, for often it is not practicable for merchants and others south of the border to allow the premium.

For trips of longer duration—to the U.S. or anywhere else—your B of M manager will be glad to advise you about the best and safest way to carry your travel funds and to extend the services of our foreign branches and world-wide network of banking correspondents.

SUPER-VALU has all you'll need

The festive Easter dinner almost plans itself at Super-Valu, where all the traditional Easter foods are featured in tempting array. Everything you plan for the festive table, from appetizers to sweet, juicy ham and on to that extra fancy dessert is featured for easy choosing, pleasant shopping, at your Super-Valu store. Plan a memorable Easter feast with fine foods from Super-Valu.

TIPS for your EASTER Feasting

GLAZING YOUR HAM

For a delicious, easy-to-prepare glaze use Big Red Cranberry Sauce as suggested in the recipe on this page. This glaze offers a tempting, tangy flavor that is a delectable accompaniment to the mild cure flavor of Super-Valu ham.

DECORATING YOUR HAM

20 minutes before cooked remove ham from oven; remove rind and score diagonally  $\frac{1}{2}$ " into the ham fat, place cloves at intersections. Brush glaze over ham. Decorate with pineapple slices and stud with colored cherries. Pour remainder of glaze over ham. Return to hot oven for 15-20 minutes to set glaze.

ADD A TOUCH OF EASTER

Colored hard-boiled eggs arranged around your ham give a colorful Easter touch. Dye the eggs in contrasting shades and place around the ham in alternate shades.

HAMS

SKINLESS AND SHANKLESS

How to Prepare a Tenderized $\frac{3}{4}$ Skinned Ham

Bake on a rack uncovered in a slow oven (325 degrees). Allow 25 minutes to the pound for half ham or 30 minutes for a whole ham. Take the ham from the oven 30 minutes before it is done. Mix together two tins Big Red Cranberry Sauce with one cup brown sugar. Baste half over ham, return ham to oven and increase heat to 425 degrees for 30 minutes. Heat remaining sauce and serve over ham.

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

Among other things, Bill McColl can be said to be a bit of a prophet.

Prior to last Sunday's second round in the Times Open, McColl gazed into his crystal ball (Spalding Kroffite, of course) and saw an ominous spectre with thick wavy hair, swinging an over-sized driver.

It was Bill Court and McColl recognized the sign.

Late Sunday afternoon, while the wind moaned angrily around the clubhouse eaves at the Victoria Golf Club, McColl pointed a finger at Court, slumped on an over-stuffed couch, and said, "There he is. The only guy in the draw I was afraid of. And he got me."

Court "got" McColl in a dramatic upset, curling in a jug-handle putt on the 18th green while the wind screeched distraction in his ears.

Nobody in golf really scares McColl and he had thrown the challenge at Court by holing a difficult six-footer for his five on the 18th.

Court was uphill from the hole, lying three.

And he was a tired boy; so tired in fact, that he had him much good because that would have forced extra holes and it is doubtful if Court's legs could have taken much more, walking under the taxing conditions of the weather.

In case you don't know Court's background, he was junked by the medics 12 years ago as a hopeless cripple after a serious illness.

They said then that he would never walk again. Play golf? Don't talk nonsense.

But Court confounded the medical experts. He not only made himself walk again through a tortuous period of his life he would sooner forget, but he went back to golf.

Did His Worrying Before the Match

Still, the ravages of his illness have left their scars. Bill's legs are not strong and they tire easily. In baseball vernacular, he has had wheels.

Those legs were numb from the waist down as Court surveyed that putt Sunday. He had just dropped a feathery explosion shot-out-of-a-deep-tray onto the green and he knew how much he needed that putt.

He stepped up and stroked it and down it went. And down went Bill McColl, just the toughest match play competitor on the Island.

As Court said after his match, "I knew how I had to hit that putt. I had the green read and it was a question of striking the ball right. By that time, I was so tired and so surprised at still being in the match that I was beyond worrying. I had done all that before the match."

Court had dropped three of the first four holes in his match and was playing like a duffer. It was pure nerves.

"I didn't eat or sleep before the match. I stayed awake all night, playing every hole a dozen times in my mind and I couldn't even think of eating. When I got on the first tee, I was scared to death. And when I was three down after four, I said to myself, 'Well, Bill, you might just as well walk in; you've had it.'"

Court won a few holes as McColl made mistakes that were not characteristic of McColl in the slightest.

Out of Bill's Pan Into Joe's Fire

Inexorably, the slender pro from Colwood battled back to even terms. Finally, it became a one-hole match. And then a one-shot match. And Court had that one shot.

Having scrambled out of the frying-pan, Court now finds himself in the fire, slow-to-burn, easy-going fire named Joe Pryke.

Pryke, the Gorge Vale pro, is the picture-swinger with all the shots. If Joe lacks anything, it could be the "killer" instinct needed for match play. A perfect stylist, Joe is too nice a guy to get mean on the golf course.

Pryke, described by Court as "a bow-and-arrow" shooter, in praise of his accuracy, was battling a bad back last Sunday that impeded his pivot and took a measure of oomph out of his shots.

If anyone is going to lose in the Court-Pryke match next Sunday at Colwood, it will be the galleries.

Both Court and Pryke are gallery favorites and the local golf world would like nothing better to see them both win the 1957 title. Both are deserving and both are overdue.

But only one can win and he will have to beat a good golfer to do it.

City Swimmers to Host Strong Visiting Clubs

Coach Archie McKinnon will have his Flying Y swimming team set for strong competition when it hosts Vancouver, New Westminster and Ocean Falls clubs in a four-team swimming gala at the Crystal Garden Monday.

Ocean Falls is expected to produce the toughest competition that the locals have faced in a long while. Coach Johnny Gates has had swimmers on all of Canada's last three Olympic teams and figures to have potential Olympians with him this trip.

Vancouver Y team is coached by Frank Smith while the New Westminster Y's Torpedoes are tutored by former British Empire Games star John Service. Canadian records may be in danger when these star-studded crews meet head-on with near assurance coming when Victoria's Bob Wheaton takes to the water.

Regals Clout Royals

Pelletier in Goal For New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Brandon Regals owe a large part of their first-game victory in the Western Hockey League playoffs to a 25-year-old right winger who also played a big part in the Regals' Prairie championship.

The Regals defeated New Westminster, the coast division champions, 4-3 here Tuesday night in the best-of-seven playoff opener.

The victory came with less than three minutes to go after the teams battled to a 3-3 tie, their third deadlock in the series.

Len Haley, who was in on two winning goals that helped Brandon take the Prairie championship from Edmonton Flyers, grabbed the puck from a face-off in the Royals zone and neatly beat Marcel Pelletier for the winner. Pelletier, Victoria Cougar goalie, was replacing Bev Bentley who was forced out of action by recurring dizzy spells.

New Westminster opened the scoring on a play started by Bobby Love behind the Brandon net. Love passed to Blinky Boyce in the corner, who swept it out directly in front of the goal and Gordie Fashaway tipped it in.

Regals made it 1-1 when Lyle Willey beat Pelletier with a rebound.

The second period appeared headed for a donkeywork five minutes after it started. Sticks were high and for a while all the players were on the ice with threatening gestures. But the ruckus, out of which Brandon's Howie Milford and Royals' Ollie Dorohoy drew minor penalties, subsided as quickly as it began.

Brandon broke the 1-1 tie when a loose puck bounced off Norm Johnson and rolled into the net. At 15:42, Bobby Love evened it again by deflecting a drive from centre ice past Lucien Decheane.

A changed Brandon team hit the ice in the third period, outshooting the Royals 19-8.

Elliott Chorley started the Regals rolling at 5:00, scoring on a play with Johnson and Voss.

Royals' veteran Max McNab executed the smoothest play of the game with a fast breakaway from centre ice, cleverly out-sticking four defenders and beating Decheane smartly with a fake and a backhand.

But the Royals couldn't hold back the eager Regals and Haley broke through with the winner.

Canadiens Rule Puck World After Blood-Tinged Victory

Capture Stanley Cup Over Battling Bruins

MONTREAL (CP)—The 1957 Stanley Cup final passed today into hockey history, the last chapter recording on blood-tinged pages Montreal Canadiens' victory over Boston Bruins.

The most savagely-fought game of the series—a game that had its highlights of fighting, brawling, slashing and almost everything in the book—turned out to be a comparatively easy 5-1 win Tuesday night for the hard-hitting Montrealers.

Canadiens jumped into the lead, increased it to a comparatively safe margin and finished off the best-of-seven series with a 4-1 margin. Over the five-game distance they outscored the Bruins 15-6.

The underdog Bruins, revitalized and hopeful after a win Sunday in Boston, set out to make it a slam-bang affair. They counted on the big thrust to send them into the lead and allow them to concentrate on stalling Montreal's scoring power.

As it turned out, the Bruins ran into the heaviest bumping and checking of the series at the hands of the determined Canadiens, playing before the largest home crowd of the season—15,286 jammed into the Montreal Forum.

From the time rookie Andre Pronovost scored the first goal late in the opening period, the crowd sensed a Montreal victory—the second successive cup win.

Canadiens held a 3-0 lead at the end of the second period, gave up a goal in the third and then made victory certain with two more goals in the final minutes.

Victorious Blows Evenly Divided

The five Montreal goals were scored by as many players—Pronovost, Dickie Moore, Bernie Bombardier, Geoffrion, Don Marshall and Floyd Curry. Boston's lone goal was scored by scrappy Leo Labine.

Referee Frank Udvari called 17 penalties, including three five-minute majors.

The first period was the wildest of all—five penalties to each team. Fern Flaman of Boston and Bert Olmstead were tossed out for fighting, with minor penalties added, and Leo Labine was tagged with a minor penalty in the same uprisings. Lesser skirmishes, which got overlooked in the general milling, broke out.

Johnny Peirson of the Bruins and Dollard St. Laurent of Maurice Rockett Richard, Montreal's colorful veteran, was bowled over by Doug Mohns' solid bodycheck in the third period. The Rockett suffered a slight concussion and needed three stitches in the back of his head.

Bob Armstrong, hefty Boston defenceman, rammed into the boards in trying to prevent Dickie Moore from scoring early in the second period and was taken to hospital for x-ray examination of a badly injured right ankle.

Wine Flowed Freely for Champions

The viciousness of the struggle faded as the game moved along and the Bruins faded too. In the third period they were a tired team. Labine's goal gave them a lift momentarily, but that was all. The late goals by Marshall and Curry simply added to the Montreal margin.

With the final siren the victory celebration broke loose. Fans' hopped over the boards and swarmed about their heroes. The Bruins shook hands with their conquerors and went to their dressing room.

At the centre-ice ceremony the cup was presented to captain Maurice Richard and Cooper Smeaton, cup trustee. There were a few speeches—all brief—and Canadiens went to their dressing room. It was a bedlam of excitement jammed to the doors. The cup was filled with champagne and passed around. A victory celebration at a downtown hotel followed.

Most Desirable Habit, These Canadiens Have

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens' win in the Stanley Cup final over Boston Bruins Tuesday night marked the ninth time the Montreal club has won the coveted trophy.

Canadiens now have won it seven times since the cup came into exclusive possession of the National Hockey League in 1926, after the demise of the old Western Canada Hockey League.

The previous victories came in 1956, 1953, 1946, 1944, 1931 and 1930. Before that, in the older days of the competition, Canadiens won in 1924 and 1916.

Canadiens now have made it two in a row for coach Toe Blake, who took over the team in the 1955-56 season. They defeated Detroit Red Wings in the final last year by the same 4-1 margin they polished off the Bruins.

The Bruins were the first United States team to come into the NHL. They made their debut in 1924. Since then they have won the cup three times. They won 4-0 over Detroit in 1941, 4-1 over Toronto Maple Leafs in 1930 and 2-0 over New York in the shorter best-of-three series in 1929.

THE WORST WAS YET TO COME

Things were still rosy for Boston goalie Don Simmons as he watched puck bounce off end boards after deflecting shot from Jean Beliveau of Canadiens in first period of Stanley Cup game at Montreal Tuesday night. However, other Montreal forwards later pumped five goals into Boston net to give Habs 5-1 victory and second straight NHL playoff title with 4-1 edge in best-of-seven series, outscoring Bruins 15-6 in the five games.—(AP wirephoto)

Starting Gate Opens; Old Warhorses Cavort

By United Press

Stan Musial and Warren Spahn—two baseball gaffers—acted like old fire horses when they heard the bell sound for the opening of the 1957 campaign.

Musial, now 36 years old and in his 17th season with the St. Louis Cardinals, collected four hits in four official at-bats in pacing the Redbirds to a 13-4 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Spahn, who celebrates his 36th birthday Saturday and pitched his first major league game with the old Boston Braves back in 1942, got Milwaukee off flying by hurling a four-hit, 4-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

A crowd of 32,554 at Cincinnati watched the Redlegs absorb their worst opening day defeat in 46 years. And Musial emerged as the biggest culprit, whacking out two singles and two doubles as the Cardinals bombarded four Cincinnati pitchers for 17 hits. Herm Wehner went the route for St. Louis, scattering eight safeties.

If other National League openers, Gino Cimoli's 12th inning homer gave the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over the Phillies and the Pirates trounced the Giants, 9-2. The Yankees opened defence of their American League pennant by edging the Senators, 2-1, while the Red Sox turned back the Orioles, 4-2. The Athletics downed the Tigers, 2-1, and the White Sox clipped the Indians, 3-2, on an 11th inning single by Larry Doby.

Robbin Roberts, who set a major league record last year by serving up 46 home run balls, opened the new season with three "gopher" pitches. In addition to Cimoli's winning blast, Roberts disappointed a record Phillies' opening turnout of 37,667 by giving up homers to Don Zimmer and Gil Hodges.

A ninth-inning single by Andy Carey with the bases loaded carried the Yankees to their opening victory and broke up a tight pitching duel between Whitey Ford and Chuck Stobbs. Ford allowed only six hits while the Yanks nicked Stobbs for seven, including a seventh-inning homer by Yogi Berra.

Tom Morgan, a Yankee castoff, pitched four-hit ball for the A's against the Tigers. Gus Zernial homered off Frank Lary in the sixth.

HOUSTON, Tex.—Paul Jorgensen, 130, Houston, outpitched Davey Walden, 131, Youngstown, Ohio, 10-0.

TAMPA, Fla.—Nilo Bianco, 145½, Houston, outpitched Sanford Barron, 145½, Memphis, 10-0.

Meet Davie Turner, Man of Many Parts

Times Outdoor Editor

Dynamic Davie Turner needs no introduction to those who followed soccer in British Columbia 20-odd years ago. They can still remember the great New Westminster Royals of that era and the play-making mastery of Turner and inside-right Dickie Stobart making openings for Jack Coulter, the opportunist at centre forward. And they won't have forgotten the picture of Turner flashing in to fire those bullet drives from his inside-left slot.

But David B. Turner, BSA, BA, MA, PhD, deputy minister of B.C.'s new Department of Recreation and Conservation, may be known only as a name often seen in the newspapers to many of our newer residents and the younger generation.

And since his new position means that he will be kicking the ball on the side of the province's sportsmen; perhaps while he is in the process of pulling the strings of the department together would be as good a time as any to meet him.

Despite the shock of silvery hair, it's hard to believe it was 53 years ago that this energetic organizer was born in Edinburgh and 43 years since he left Scotland for Edmonton and a start on his athletic career.

He took up hockey with the rest of the Edmonton youngsters, but soccer was always his favorite sport and he was playing with the seniors at 14. Once he played three games in one day—a high school match in the morning, a Boy Scout final in the afternoon and, after grabbing a dinner of two ice cream cones, a senior game in the evening.

Named Soccer Player of Half Century

Dave shifted to Cumberland in 1923—the roaring days of mid-Island soccer, when miners were willing to back their team's chances with a month's pay—and took his educated toes to Vancouver the following year.

Then came a season with New Bedford, Mass., in the professional American League and a brief stay with Ulster United in the Toronto pro-loop of that time.

It was in Toronto, says Dave, that the urge for a higher education finally won out, so he headed back to Edmonton and the University of Alberta.

But he rushed through exams in 1927 to go to New Zealand with a Canadian all-star squad. Stopping at Vancouver on the way back to enroll at the University of B.C., he was a natural choice for the New Westminster powerhouse being assembled by Fred Hume, now mayor of Vancouver.

In his decade with New Westminster, the Royals won four Dominion crowns and Turner, declining offers to play in the Scottish League, wrote his name indelibly in the books of Canadian soccer. You'll find it on page 1—Canada's player of the half-century.

That was Davie Turner the athlete.

Working as a car salesman to help pay tuition fees, Dave graduated from UBC with a bachelor's degree in agriculture in 1933. He earned a BA in 1936 and an A in 1943.

The PhD came from Cornell University in 1947.

Dave Started as School Teacher

His first profession was teaching and in that capacity he was president of the New Westminster Teachers' Association and an executive in the provincial federation. Earlier he had been president of the UBC agriculture undergraduate group and member of the students' council.

That was David B. Turner the scholar.

After taking his doctorate—in conservation of natural resources—Turner became assistant director of land utilization for the B.C. lands service. Before moving up to director of conservation for the Lands Department in 1950, he originated the annual B.C. Natural Resources Conference, which has proved to be his biggest achievement and launching site of the idea that grew into the new ministry.

The conference is a gathering of independent organizations, combining to examine the condition of our natural resources and discuss the best ways to both utilize and preserve them. In his position as secretary, Turner has edited the huge volume of Natural Resources Conference transactions each year. Thus for the past nine years he has read almost every word on our natural wealth in a publication that is being used as a model for similar work all over the world.

He's a walking encyclopedia on our province, proud of its past, confident of its future greatness and dedicated to the task of promoting the wise usage of all natural resources so that B.C. "will be as good to live in tomorrow as it is today."

That is Dr. David B. Turner, organizer and conservationist.

Helped Win Big Battle for Sportsmen

There has been some concern that the fish and game divisions of the department might play minor roles to the other main branches—parks and travel bureau. So let's take a look at a few more of Dr. Turner's facets.

The busy man who allowed himself the luxury of tilting back a chair and resting his feet on a corner of his desk during a brief coffee break Tuesday talked enthusiastically of the bluebacks he caught at Saanich Inlet Sunday, and recalled hunting and mink-raising days at Edmonton.

Always interested in wildlife, Dave's thesis at UBC was on the cross-fox. At Cornell it was "Professional Opportunities in the Fish and Wildlife Field," which has been widely used since being published in book form.

He has surveyed fish and game conditions in many sections of the province and helped win a big battle for sportsmen when pressure was applied to allow reclamation of Duck Lake, near Creston. His recommendation that the major portion of the lake, one of the most important waterfowl resting places on the Pacific Flyway, be left alone to serve its natural function was adopted against bitter opposition.

Dave would like to see more wilderness areas set aside for future hunting and have streams and lakes remain in natural condition where possible.

That is David B. Turner, sportsman and wildlife expert.

'Cautious Man, But Not a Slow One'

Enthusiased over the natural association of the various branches of the recreation and conservation ministry, Dr. Turner is one of the busiest men in the country as he goes about the task of welding them together.

Describing himself as a "cautious man, but not a slow one," he fully endorses Conservation Minister Earle Westwood's plan to keep all programs rolling in high and make changes slowly. "We'll examine each department as we go along . . . and try to learn what is best for the public," he says. "It's the long-range planning for peoples' needs that interests me."

He is a man who appears to have been moulded to fit his job, first of his kind in Canada. He is a man who wants everyone, big and small, to know, enjoy and conserve the inherited wealth of our lakes, streams, and forests, today and tomorrow.

This is David B. Turner, BSA, BA, MA, PhD, deputy minister of recreation and conservation.

"C" Division, Tuesday, April 23—Tommas vs. Gibbs; Johnson vs. Jones; Dr. Olson vs. Sigurd; Knapp vs. Beidit; Strodsky vs. Creed; Antikainen, bye.

Lions Ready To Spend $492,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have approved a $492,000 budget for 1957.

General manager Herb Capozzi, in announcing the budget Tuesday, said it is designed to yield a surplus of $52,000.

Expenditures planned for players are $18,000 more than last season's $313,607 for players, coaches and trainers. The Lions' gross revenue for the 1956 season was $340,000.

Allocated for the development of minor football here is $22,500. "That's more than any club in Canada is turning over to the minor clubs," Capozzi said.

CRICKETERS RETIRED; PIG-BEFORE-WICKET

BRISBANE, Australia (UP)—The cricket team of Cooktown, Northern Queensland, abandoned its current match series today because invading wild pigs took over the pitch.

The persistent animals moved into the field during the night, plowed wallows two feet deep along the whole 22-yard length and refused to be dislodged.

PLAY STARTS THURSDAY

Annual CLGU Event Draws Large Entry

Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie will be attempting to retain a share in the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union foursome title when the annual competition opens at Royal Colwood Golf Club Thursday.

Winner of the tourney with Mrs. I. McIntyre last year, Mrs. MacKenzie will be partnering Mrs. G. Harrel in this year's event, which has attracted the large total of 94 entries from four Victoria and district clubs.

One of the strongest bids for first place is expected to come from the partnership of Mrs. Keith Olson, winner of the recent Empress tournament, and Mrs. W. H. Moore.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, soured, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas builds up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay sour. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand.

WE STARTED TO LIVE BETTER THE NIGHT WE SMELLED SMOKE—

"The smell of smoke is a frightening thing. Thank Heaven, we caught it in time—the Fire Chief told us hundreds of Canadian families every year aren't so lucky.

"The electrical contractor told us a previous owner had wired the outlet that was smoking with a piece of extension cord.

"He also told us: Three out of five homes in Canada are inadequately wired or have faulty wiring such as he found in ours.

"No wonder they have trouble," he said. "Folks pile today's heavy appliance load on wiring ten to forty years old . . . never give it a thought. Their cars depreciate more in one year than a good, once-in-a-lifetime rewiring job would cost. They want all the wonderful new electric appliances . . . want to be modern without modernizing. When 15 amp fuses start to blow they replace them with 20 then 30 amp. Soon circuits get over loaded, wires get hot, insulation falls off between the walls . . . then s-w-o-o-s-h . . . it would have cost less to have called an electrical contractor!"

"He was right. Rewiring didn't cost much. And we financed it on a Home Improvement Loan. Our new wiring and lighting is the talk of the neighborhood. Our toasters are ready faster, the kettle boils quicker—all our appliances operate better—and our light bills are lower. With full HOUSEPOWER we're not only safe . . . we LIVE BETTER—ELECTRICALLY!"

HERE'S WHAT TO DO!

- Call an electrical contractor at once. Have him do an ELECTRICAL SURVEY on your home, building or plant wiring for safety, efficiency and HOUSEPOWER rating. Most contractors do this work at no obligation to you.
- Ask your contractor about Home Improvement Loans . . . how they finance wiring improvements at low interest.
- Contact your Electric Utility for advice.
- Contact your Nearest Electric Service League for free literature or advice; or write to the Institute of Electrical Living, 126 Davenport Road, Toronto, Ontario, for informative literature on full HOUSEPOWER for old or new homes.

BUT ONLY ON BAD SHOTS...

Golf's Pill Brigade Moaning Best Licks

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Twenty-three golfers, nearly all claiming to be in poor health, took their final swings today in preparation for the opening Thursday of the $38,500 Tournament of Champions—and to hear them moan and groan, there isn't a winner in the lot.

"I've got a virus that has so weakened me that I can hardly lift a club," says Dr. Cary Middecoff, the National Open Champion. "I'm feeling a bit better than I was during the Masters, but the pills make me light-headed."

Bobby Rosburg, winner of the San Diego and Motor City Opens, has an injured right thumb.

"Hurts every time I close my fist," he complains.

Ed Furgol, winner of the Miller, Rubber City and Caliente Opens, has what the doctors call a "pitcher's arm."

"Got some kind of a calcium deposit in my right arm," says Ed. "Pains something fierce every time I swing."

And Ted Kroll, the world champion, has a blister on his right hand from—of all things—golfing.

But if history repeats itself, you can pick the winner from among the men who are ailing the most.

Way back in 1934 Olin Dutra won the National Open when he was so sick he could hardly lift his head.

Craig Wood won the Open in 1941 with his back crooked in a leather cast so tight that he could only take a one-half backswing. Ben Hogan was a success on the tour right after his frightful accident when he was so weak that he had to sit on a stool between nearly every shot.

Meanwhile, the boys are gritting their teeth and going through practice rounds—hitting near-perfect shots into the headwinds and only complaining of their ailments and injuries when a shot goes wrong.

Strange Tale Told to Trial By 'Deserter'

POITIERS, France (UP)—A 31-year-old American soldier told a general court martial Tuesday a fabulous tale of adventure during the 11 years since he disappeared from the U.S. Army in the Second World War.

Pvt. Vito Sala, of Brooklyn, N.Y., claimed he was a victim of amnesia. But the army is trying him for desertion.

He faces a possible death penalty for deserting in wartime.

Sala told a strange tale of wandering around Europe under an Italian name, of fighting in Indo-China, of being wounded and captured and later decorated in the historic siege of Dien Bien Phu, and of battling nationalist rebels in Algeria.

He surrendered to U.S. authorities last October and asked them to trace his past. French documents backed up his tale.

Victoria West, James Bay Churches Divide

Division of a two-church pastorate was indicated this week with the decision of Victoria West United Church to call a full-time minister.

The church has shared its minister with James Bay United Church since early depression years.

Present minister, Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, will resign July 1 to take charge of Salt Spring Island United Church.

Lionel W. Wright has been named secretary of Victoria West pastoral relations committee to seek a successor. New minister also is expected to be named for James Bay.

WHILE MILLIONS WATCH

Brain-Washing Test Set on British TV

LONDON (Reuters)—Millions of Britons will see a man brain-washed next week.

Telev viewers will hear him talk about the experiment as a perfectly rational man. Then a visor will be put over his eyes and he will be led into a sound-proof room containing a comfortable bed.

Then, while the viewers turn their attention to other things, he will be left in the room, first to sleep, then to while away weary hours doing absolutely nothing. Finally he will be led before the audience again and his visor will be removed.

This won't happen until the following evening, when he will be met by a battery of doctors and psychiatrists who will attempt to determine what effects the long darkness, silence and boredom have had, and whether he is more open to suggestion than he was before.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Dan Gerber (MOTHER OF 3)

I heard a baby nurse say recently: "The climate in which a child grows sets the stage for future behavior. If it's warm and sunny with friendliness, willingness and gentle humor, a baby will blossom accordingly."

If the atmosphere is stormy and filled with tension, the child may well develop unnecessary fears. "Somehow I never thought of the word climate in that particular sense, but she used it in a way that makes sense."

Eating pleasure, beyond measure. That's usually the state of affairs when you serve baby Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. For they have a creamy, custard-like texture that's deliciously smooth on baby's delicate tongue—a delightful, fresh-egg flavor that's just right for young taste buds. As for nourishment, they're rich in iron, have a high vitamin-A value, are a good source of body-building proteins too.

Combining ingredients and pour into greased custard cups. Set cups in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 35 minutes, or until a knife, inserted into custard, will come out clean.

"Gerber Squash is one of the Gerber 'green and yellow group' vegetables that provides baby with a high vitamin-A value."

Toddler in the house? Interesting menu planning made easy with Gerber's "Recipes for Toddlers." For your copy just write me, Mrs. Dan Gerber, at Dept. B, Box 4027, Terminal A, Toronto, Ontario.

Shirt story. Why not salvage squares of dad's discarded T-shirts for just about the softest baby wash cloths ever?

Rain Floats Mounties To Top Spot

(By United Press)

One raindrop does not make a downpour, etc., but a crowd of them got together Tuesday night and floated the unlikely Vancouver Mounties and the unaccustomed San Francisco Seals to the top of the Pacific Coast League.

The two clubs sported 4-1 records after the year's first series and when the rains started falling in Northern California yesterday they moved into the loop's top spot while sitting on their hotel chairs.

The assist (aside from the one credited to the weatherman) went to the Los Angeles Angels, who knocked the Hollywood Stars off the pinnacle with a 5-3 win.

San Diego last-gasped Portland, 3-2, to drop the Beavers into the cellar after Seattle at San Francisco and Vancouver at Sacramento were washed out.

San Diego escaped the cellar when Stan Pawloski singled with two out and the count three-and-two in the bottom of the ninth inning. The hit drove home Bobby Young and gave Pete Mesa his second victory of the season.

Derby Champ Tulyar Sick

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Irish veterinary surgeon M. Cosgrave left by air Monday for the Claiborne Stud in Paris, Ky., where the fabulous race horse Tulyar is reported seriously ill.

"Tulyar is very ill and we shall see what we can do," Cosgrave said before leaving Ireland.

ON INDIANS' RELIGION

Old Manuscript Stirs Controversy

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A 21-year-old manuscript of a famous Canadian anthropologist, published by the Provincial Museum, is stirring up a controversy among students of religion on the early religious beliefs of B.C. Indians.

New Zealand-born Dr. Diamond Jenness, one-time lecturer at the University of British Columbia, in his work explores the popular belief that B.C. Indians before the arrival of the white man were idolaters—followers of a backward faith.

HIGHLY DEVELOPED

He discloses that some B.C. tribes possessed a highly-developed esoteric faith.

The manuscript, published under the title "The Faith of a Coast Salish Indian," is hailed by anthropologists as one of the most interesting works of its kind.

The main points disclosed in the manuscript are:

1. Some Indian bands had developed a highly integrated form of religion—in some respect similar to Christianity.

2. The conception of a supreme being was acknowledged by the Salish band.

3. Indians believed in reincarnation.

4. Indian bands practised an orderly set of religious rituals, such as dances, designed to maintain moral discipline.

IN 1936

Dr. Jenness, who is associated with the National Museum in Ottawa, collected the material for his work in 1936 from Katzie Indians, a Salish band inhabiting a reserve 25 miles from Vancouver.

At the request of several scientists, including Wilson Duff, Provincial Museum anthropologist, he permitted the publication of his studies.

Dr. Jenness' chief source of information on the religious beliefs of Indians came from a 75-year-old Indian, "Old Pierre" of Katzie, who had managed to preserve the faith of his forefathers.

He describes Old Pierre, now dead, as a highly intelligent man, who enjoyed an honorable reputation as a medicine man in Saanich and on the mainland. Dr. Jenness did not doubt the sincerity and honesty of Old Pierre whom he knew intimately. The old man's beliefs also tallied with those of other Indians.

UNCANNY

The anthropologist's work shows that the Indians held "deep" religious beliefs and appeared to have had an uncanny knowledge of the psychology of man. In addition, it shows that the natives had a "book of Genesis" explaining the origin of the world.

One religious myth strongly suggests the Indians—at least the Katzie band—subscribed to the belief of the original sin, the fall of man, and the creation.

Since the publication of the manuscript, some anthropologists and students of religion have taken issue with Dr. Jenness, especially with regard to his report that the Katzie band acknowledge the conception of a supreme being.

This school of thought expresses the theory that the Salish band synthesized their early beliefs with Christian teachings when they came in contact with Roman Catholic missionaries. From this arose an orderly religion.

Dr. Jenness throws cold water on this theory.

He notes that the Bella Coola Indians, who had never heard of the Katzie band, had developed an orderly religious system which was almost identical with the Salish band.

The manuscript also shows that some of the beliefs of Old Pierre and other Indians, are of a deep philosophical nature, unlikely to have been taught by missionaries.

"You know, when I'm feeling good about something I like to smoke a cigar. And these Old Port cigars are just right for me. They're very mild, and yet they've got plenty of flavour."

Keep 'Hangman' Irish Tell U.S.

(From Reuters and BUP Dispatches)

DUBLIN — The death of Canadian ambassador E. Herbert Norman is one reason why the Irish government should not accept President Eisenhower's appointment of security officer Scott McLeod as ambassador to Ireland, the Irish Times says.

It was "his unwholesome department," the Times says, that led the Senate's internal security sub-committee to "republish the discredited charges which impelled Mr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian ambassador to Cairo, to jump to his death."

The Times says that whether McLeod was responsible, this fact alone should make the Irish government refuse to accept McLeod as the successor to Ambassador Charles Taft.

The paper adds that McLeod supporters argued he had done a good job even if a few innocent persons "had the bad luck to have suffered."

"We do not welcome the hangman in our midst and it is not customary to reward his services with an ambassadorship."

"Mr. McLeod's appointment would be indiscreet in any circumstances. In the light of Mr. Norman's suicide, it becomes intolerable," the Times said.

'INQUISITOR'
The newspaper said McLeod had gained "notoriety as a systematic inquisitor of diplomatic qualifications, after a formula more reminiscent of Russia than of a Western democracy."

The Irish Association of Civil Liberties announced in a statement Monday it backed the Times opposition to McLeod.

PIONEER SQUARE
The second tour takes in Pioneer Square, small park adjoining Christ Church Cathedral, used as a cemetery from 1858 to 1873. Distinguished pioneers buried there include John Work, chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, J. Murray Yale, commander at Fort Langley, Hon. J. S. Helmcken, surgeon and legislator, and Capt. Charles Dodd, second commander of Ss. Beaver.

Other highlights of the tour are Captain Ella's House, 1158 Fort, built by the coast navigator in the 1860s; Craigdarroch, Robert Dunsmuir's castle, and now the School Board office, 1050 Joan Crescent; Stadacona Park, Fort Street, part of the estate of Maj. Charles Dupont; Fernwood, opposite the Safeway Store on Fort Street, home of the province's second surveyor-general B. W. Pearce and John Tod's House, 2564 Heron Street, built in the 1850s.

FORMER COLLEGE
In four three are the Angela Hotel, 923 Burrard, formerly Angela College, built in 1866 as a school for young ladies; Church of Our Lord, Humboldt Street, built in 1874 as a result of an ecclesiastical dispute which Christ Church Cathedral; School of the Sisters of St. Ann, Heywood Avenue, opened to boys and girls in 1858; Chapel of the Sisters of St. Ann, Heywood Street, first Roman Catholic Cathedral on the Island, opened in 1858; HMCS Malahat, Wharf Street; the Tolmie residence "Cloverdale," Lovat Street, first stone house built in Victoria, and the Jewish Cemetery on Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Among points of interest in tour four are the home of the Hon. Peter O'Reilly, 2616 Pleasant Street, bought in 1867; St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt, built in 1866 for use of officers and men of the Royal Navy; Craigflower Farmhouse near Craigflower Bridge, built of local lumber in 1856; and Craigflower School, the oldest schoolhouse in Western Canada.

NORTHERN SEGMENT
The Eskimo portion of Canada's population numbered only 9,733 persons in the 1951 census.

FOUR HISTORIC TOURS OUTLINED IN GUIDEBOOKS
Guidebooks outlining four tours of historical landmarks in Victoria and district are now available to the public.

Compiled by the Local Council of Women, they may be obtained at Kent's Ltd., Fort Street, or from members.

First tour includes Helmcken House, Elliot Street, former home of Dr. John S. Helmcken who arrived here in 1850 and now a provincial museum; the Legislative Buildings, formally opened in 1898; Emily Carr's home, 207 Government, built in 1863 by Richard Carr, father of the famous Canadian artist and author; Beacon Hill Park, setting of many gala events in Victoria's history; and Ross Bay Cemetery containing the graves of Sir James Douglas, Rodrick Finlayson, Joseph Despard Pemberton, Dr. William F. Tolmie, Sir Henry Crease and Charles Edward Pooley; Chinese Cemetery on Crescent Road, first used in 1873; and Waldran Park, on Gonzales Hill, which features monuments to early explorers of the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

MASS BIKE SAFETY INSPECTION AT ATHLETIC PARK ON SATURDAY
Bike Safety Week will be climaxed Saturday by a mass volunteer inspection of bicycles at Royal Athletic Park and award of safety emblems.

All district cyclists between ages 15 and 14 are invited by Victoria Optimist Club. They will hear a traffic safety talk by Victoria police traffic head, Sgt. Brooke Douglas.

There will be a draw for a portable battery radio. The safety emblems which will be distributed will be of a light reflective material.

Victoria Mayor Percy Scourah, Police Chief John Blackstock and Arthur Mourant, campaign director, have endorsed the project.

"If we can save one life, it will have been worthwhile."

RULES
The Optimists First Annual Bike Safety Campaign provides the following rules for general observance:

Keep your brakes in good mechanical condition.
Have front and rear lights.
Ride single at all times.
Signal when ready to turn.
Keep to the right.
Have bell or horn in working order, and use it.
Never carry passengers.
Never hitch a ride from a car or truck.
Carry packages in a proper carrier.
Walk your bike across heavy traffic.
Stop at all stop signs; and before coming out of driveways or alleys.
Keep from stunting and showing off in traffic.
Watch out for parked cars and suddenly opened car doors.

German Children Get Polio Shots
MANNHEIM, Germany (CP)—The first consignment of United States anti-polio vaccine to arrive opening up of the old Kootenay in West Germany has been examined and released for use by health authorities. Federal health officials have calculated that in recent years, Mr. Fahmi said, about 1,200,000 German children between 2 and 3 will receive injections.

"We've lost so many good miners of late," Mr. Fahmi said, "that we hope we'll get some of them back soon."

LOVELY SPOT
"Kaslo is one of the loveliest places in Canada," Mr. Fahmi says, "and our tourist trade gets bigger every year. I'd say 75 per cent of our tourists come from the United States and most of them are attracted by the marvellous fishing."

"New fishing camps are opening up and the new highway from Balfour to Revelstoke will bring us lots more trade."

Once a boom mining town, Kaslo has seen a bit of a slump in recent years and this is a "tragedy" in the opinion of Mr. Fahmi.

"Two-thirds of the country has never been prospected and there's all kinds of stuff there if people would only come and look for it."

However, Kaslo's 14,000 residents are now eagerly anticipating the opening up of the old Kootenay in West Germany has been examined and released for use by health authorities. LOVED PUBLISHING
"We small-time proprietors wanted to make money, too, but we were also in the business because we had something to say and because we loved publishing for publishing's sake."

A life-long newspaper man, Mr. Fahmi ran a weekly paper in Manitoba before he sold out and came to Victoria in 1939.

"I thought I'd retired," said the dapper, quiet-spoken publisher, "but the ink was in my veins and when the Kootenay at Kaslo came up for sale in 1940 I had off to the Kootenays and bought it."

"I had 14 lively, busy years up there and I don't regret a moment of it. My only regret is that I pulled out... this was my second retirement and it was still too early. I'd like to be back in the business again."

Mr. and Mrs. Fahmi still reside at Kaslo but motor down to Victoria every year to enjoy the climate and look up old friends.

INDIVIDUALISM DYING ON WEEKLY PAPERS
By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Individual weekly newspaper proprietors are "a dying race" in Canada and their loss is lamented by C. Roy Fahmi, proprietor, publisher, editor and printer of the Kootenay, at Kaslo, from 1940 to 1954.

"The big combines are swallowing up the small weekly newspapers," mourns Mr. Fahmi, a still lively 70-year-old, who with his wife is now vacationing at the Dominion Hotel.

"This absorption process makes for stereotyped newspapers with stereotyped opinions and they promote stereotyped thought among their readers. The whole emphasis is on advertising and profit."

'Goodwill' Cyclist Rides 83,000 Miles

A disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, who has clocked 83,000 miles on a bicycle, is in Victoria for a brief rest before leaving for Japan, the last lap of his world journey.

Tall and slim, 34-year-old Mishreelal Jaiswal of Bihar State, India, said the main purpose of his cycling tour is to preach "goodwill and non-violence."

"The only way to world peace is by non-violence," he said. "Non-violence is the best religion in the world."

SUCCESS
Wearing a white Gandhi cap, a navy blue Nehru jacket and white pyjama trousers made of Kurta cloth, Jaiswal, a widower, said his "mission" has so far been a success.

He has visited every country in Europe, Africa, South America and the United States. He has been received officially by leaders of most countries, such as Prime Minister St. Laurent, President Eisenhower and former British Prime Minister Eden.

Jaiswal said he has so far worn out two bicycles on his journey.

The cycling tour has cost him about $3,000.

The most difficult country to travel through, he said, was South Africa.

"I ran into some trouble there with wild animals," he said. "A buffalo attacked me on one occasion. I also ran into some lions. Altogether it wasn't a pleasant experience."

Britain Considers Restricting Press On Court Hearings

LONDON (Reuters) — A special government committee will consider whether restrictions should be placed on published reports of preliminary court hearings in England, Home Secretary R. A. Butler announced Monday.

He told a questioner in the House of Commons that an eminent judge, Lord Parker, will head the committee.

Demands for such an inquiry into press reporting have been sparked by the recent trial of Dr. John Bodkin Adams, resort physician acquitted last Tuesday of murdering one of his wealthy, elderly patients with massive quantities of drugs.

LOVELY SPOT
"Kaslo is one of the loveliest places in Canada," Mr. Fahmi says, "and our tourist trade gets bigger every year. I'd say 75 per cent of our tourists come from the United States and most of them are attracted by the marvellous fishing."

"New fishing camps are opening up and the new highway from Balfour to Revelstoke will bring us lots more trade."

Once a boom mining town, Kaslo has seen a bit of a slump in recent years and this is a "tragedy" in the opinion of Mr. Fahmi.

"Two-thirds of the country has never been prospected and there's all kinds of stuff there if people would only come and look for it."

However, Kaslo's 14,000 residents are now eagerly anticipating the opening up of the old Kootenay in West Germany has been examined and released for use by health authorities. Federal health officials have calculated that in recent years, Mr. Fahmi said, about 1,200,000 German children between 2 and 3 will receive injections.

"We've lost so many good miners of late," Mr. Fahmi said, "that we hope we'll get some of them back soon."

LOVED PUBLISHING
"We small-time proprietors wanted to make money, too, but we were also in the business because we had something to say and because we loved publishing for publishing's sake."

A life-long newspaper man, Mr. Fahmi ran a weekly paper in Manitoba before he sold out and came to Victoria in 1939.

"I thought I'd retired," said the dapper, quiet-spoken publisher, "but the ink was in my veins and when the Kootenay at Kaslo came up for sale in 1940 I had off to the Kootenays and bought it."

"I had 14 lively, busy years up there and I don't regret a moment of it. My only regret is that I pulled out... this was my second retirement and it was still too early. I'd like to be back in the business again."

Mr. and Mrs. Fahmi still reside at Kaslo but motor down to Victoria every year to enjoy the climate and look up old friends.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Individual weekly newspaper proprietors are "a dying race" in Canada and their loss is lamented by C. Roy Fahmi, proprietor, publisher, editor and printer of the Kootenay, at Kaslo, from 1940 to 1954.

"The big combines are swallowing up the small weekly newspapers," mourns Mr. Fahmi, a still lively 70-year-old, who with his wife is now vacationing at the Dominion Hotel.

"This absorption process makes for stereotyped newspapers with stereotyped opinions and they promote stereotyped thought among their readers. The whole emphasis is on advertising and profit."

NEW AMBASSADOR ATTACKED
The death of Canadian ambassador E. Herbert Norman is one reason why the Irish government should not accept President Eisenhower's appointment of security officer Scott McLeod as ambassador to Ireland, the Irish Times says.

It was "his unwholesome department," the Times says, that led the Senate's internal security sub-committee to "republish the discredited charges which impelled Mr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian ambassador to Cairo, to jump to his death."

The Times says that whether McLeod was responsible, this fact alone should make the Irish government refuse to accept McLeod as the successor to Ambassador Charles Taft.

The paper adds that McLeod supporters argued he had done a good job even if a few innocent persons "had the bad luck to have suffered."

"We do not welcome the hangman in our midst and it is not customary to reward his services with an ambassadorship."

"Mr. McLeod's appointment would be indiscreet in any circumstances. In the light of Mr. Norman's suicide, it becomes intolerable," the Times said.

'INQUISITOR'
The newspaper said McLeod had gained "notoriety as a systematic inquisitor of diplomatic qualifications, after a formula more reminiscent of Russia than of a Western democracy."

The Irish Association of Civil Liberties announced in a statement Monday it backed the Times opposition to McLeod.

PIONEER SQUARE
The second tour takes in Pioneer Square, small park adjoining Christ Church Cathedral, used as a cemetery from 1858 to 1873. Distinguished pioneers buried there include John Work, chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, J. Murray Yale, commander at Fort Langley, Hon. J. S. Helmcken, surgeon and legislator, and Capt. Charles Dodd, second commander of Ss. Beaver.

Other highlights of the tour are Captain Ella's House, 1158 Fort, built by the coast navigator in the 1860s; Craigdarroch, Robert Dunsmuir's castle, and now the School Board office, 1050 Joan Crescent; Stadacona Park, Fort Street, part of the estate of Maj. Charles Dupont; Fernwood, opposite the Safeway Store on Fort Street, home of the province's second surveyor-general B. W. Pearce and John Tod's House, 2564 Heron Street, built in the 1850s.

FORMER COLLEGE
In four three are the Angela Hotel, 923 Burrard, formerly Angela College, built in 1866 as a school for young ladies; Church of Our Lord, Humboldt Street, built in 1874 as a result of an ecclesiastical dispute which Christ Church Cathedral; School of the Sisters of St. Ann, Heywood Avenue, opened to boys and girls in 1858; Chapel of the Sisters of St. Ann, Heywood Street, first Roman Catholic Cathedral on the Island, opened in 1858; HMCS Malahat, Wharf Street; the Tolmie residence "Cloverdale," Lovat Street, first stone house built in Victoria, and the Jewish Cemetery on Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Among points of interest in tour four are the home of the Hon. Peter O'Reilly, 2616 Pleasant Street, bought in 1867; St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt, built in 1866 for use of officers and men of the Royal Navy; Craigflower Farmhouse near Craigflower Bridge, built of local lumber in 1856; and Craigflower School, the oldest schoolhouse in Western Canada.

NORTHERN SEGMENT
The Eskimo portion of Canada's population numbered only 9,733 persons in the 1951 census.

U.K. TO KEEP GAS RATIONING

LONDON (AP)—The British government has punctured hopes that gasoline rationing would be ended before Easter.

Paymaster-General Reginald Maudling told the House of Commons rationing "must stay for the time being" because the troubled Middle East situation meant that regular oil supplies could not be depended on.

Rationing was imposed in December after blockage of the Suez Canal. For the four-month period beginning April 17, the ration is being raised to allow private motorists to travel 300 miles a month instead of the present 200.

The well-known Malahat Chalet has been sold for an undisclosed sum and will be expanded at a cost of about $20,000.

50 Ocean-Going Bottles Found Over Wide Area

NANAIMO (CP) — Officials here say about 50 bottles have been found of the 15,000 dropped into the Pacific Ocean during the last six months of 1956.

The bottles, for which the Pacific Biological Station here pays $1 each, have turned up at widely scattered points from the Aleutians to the Washington coast.

They were dropped into the sea to determine the average speed and course of ocean currents in the Northern Pacific. The bottles are expected to keep turning up for several years.

NANAIMO—Preliminary hearing on a charge of creating a public mischief, laid against former Brannan Lake School supervisor John Southern, was adjourned Tuesday to May 6.

According to the charge, Southern misled police by claiming he was assaulted by at least four persons in Chinatown here.

Southern is represented by Harold Hine, and E. D. Strongarm is Crown counsel.

NANAIMO—B.C. Coast Steamships has announced that Ss. Princess of Nanaimo will provide one extra round trip between here and Vancouver, Thursday.

The extra sailing will be from Vancouver at 9 p.m. and from Nanaimo at 11:45 p.m.

H-BOMB CANCEROUS, EXPERTS THEORIZE

LONDON (AP)—A group of British atomic scientists, estimated Tuesday night that "one nominal high-yield nuclear test" may eventually give bone cancer to 20,000 persons throughout the world.

They said, however, their calculations were based on a hypothesis that has yet to be proved.

The scientists said damage may result to the present generation mainly from the release of strontium-90, a radioactive substance which enters the body in food and accumulates in the bones.

Teenagers to Compete In Safety Rodeo Here

Teen-agers from all Greater Victoria high schools will match their skill in a safety-driving rodeo at the B.C. Electric Co. bus depot, Garbally Road, on April 27.

So far, 25 pupils have applied to take part in the teen-age safety driving rodeo sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ken Robinson, director of the Jaycee traffic safety committee, said today.

It will start at 9 a.m. and will last throughout the day.

The competition is divided into written examinations covering all aspects of motoring, and such road tests as driving in a straight line, serpentine, smooth stopping and parallel parking.

The winner will take part in the regional finals in Vancouver.

The winner of the Vancouver contest will be sent to the Ottawa finals where he will stand a chance of winning a $1,000 scholarship.

The contest was started by the Jaycees last year with a view of encouraging teen-agers to improve their driving habits. Thirty high school pupils took part in the 1956 rodeo.

Last year's winner was David Wright, 17, of Victoria High School. He placed second in the regional finals in Vancouver.

Ucluelet Gets Automatic Phone System

TOFINO — Automatic telephone systems, installed at a cost of $55,000, now are in service here and in Ucluelet.

The automatic unit here cost $11,800, and serves 60 customers, while the 132 subscribers in Ucluelet use a board that cost $14,200.

Remainder of the total cost was taken up by cable-laying expenses.

Tofino subscribers can dial Ucluelet numbers directly, and vice versa, merely by dialling a prefix number for the other centre, then the regular number.

Also in operation is a direct radio-telephone circuit between Ahousat and Flores Island and Port Alberni, which will permit the 40 residents of the outlying points to make long distance calls directly. Previously they had to be relayed through the Ahousat agent.

Blind Man Named Public Relations Chief for CNIB

Donald H. MacLaren has been appointed public relations officer for the B.C. division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, CNIB, director for Western Canada, Capt. M. C. Robinson announced today.

"The newly-created office will be in charge of all information relating to the blind and the part CNIB plays in their rehabilitation," Capt. Robinson said.

The new PRO, blind since his high school days, has a master's degree in industrial sociology and has written and produced numerous news and documentary broadcasts. He is a Vancouver native.

Sportsmen Would Allow Under-14s To Carry Guns

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — T. S. Barnett, MP, will be asked by the Alberni Fish & Game Association to press for an amendment to the Criminal Code which would allow boys under 14 to carry firearms if accompanied by an adult.

The sportsmen's organization noted at its regular meeting here that this point was not covered when the code was revised last year.

Simple Cancer Detection Tests 'Just Around Corner' Says Expert

Simple tests which will disclose the presence of "cancer early enough to assure positive cure may be just around the corner."

Citizens will be able to have regular checks, just as they now have chest X-rays, free and without bother.

The encouraging words come from Dr. H. M. Edmison at Victoria Cancer Clinic, Royal Jubilee Hospital.

"Tests are now available whereby secretions from various parts of the body are examined under microscopes for the presence of cells, which suggest they may have come from a surface of a cancer.

"Where they are noted, more elaborate investigations are called for. At least one of these tests is expanding into what may be an annual examination for everyone."

"It promises to provide a new method of early detection."

QUEEN SENDS REGRETS ON GOV'T HOUSE FIRE

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross has received a telegram from Queen Elizabeth expressing regret at the loss of Government House.

"My husband I am so sorry to learn that Government House, Victoria, has been burned down and are much relieved to know that you and Mrs. Ross are safe."

The message was relayed by J. F. Plante, secretary to Governor-General Vincent Massey.

The Queen and Prince Philip stayed in Government House in 1951 when they were Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Pasadena Students Visit Fire Ruins

Twenty-six high school and seven university students from Pasadena, California, left Victoria Wednesday after viewing the charred remains of Government House.

On a crowded two-day visit to the city they were guests at Hotel Douglas and were entertained here by the Pioneer Youth Group, the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and the YMCA.

The students are on a motor coach tour of the Pacific Northwest organized by the Lake Avenue Congregational Church.

Accompanying them are Rev. William D. Gwynn, youth pastor, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Van Syoc, sponsors.

"We were enchanted with Victoria and its scenic environment," Mr. Van Syoc told The Times, "and everyone was most friendly and helpful."

"Some of the students said they would like to live here permanently and my wife and I feel much the same."

"If any Victorians want to visit Pasadena I can assure them their hospitality will be reciprocated."

The visitors also toured the Legislative Buildings, inspected the giant totem pole now being carved for Queen Elizabeth at Thunderbird Park and drove out to Butchart Gardens.

VIENNA (AP)—Visa difficulties have prevented the Glen Miller band from performing at a reception at the United States embassy in Prague.

The band arrived here by train Tuesday, after it was stalled in Czechoslovakia by Communist authorities. It had just completed a tour of six Polish cities, where the musicians were mobbed by jazz-starved fans. Band members said their Czechoslovak visas were found invalid for a stay in Prague, and they had to cancel the concert there.

CITY DELEGATES

Delegates from Victoria will be Mrs. W. Findlay, first vice-president, and Miss Audrey Price, a practicing nurse.

Miss McClan is also discussing plans for VON's provincial annual meeting in Vancouver June 7.

The order has nine members in Victoria and 58 in British Columbia.

Truancy by Working Pupils Protested by School Board

Local and national managers of Canada Safeway and the provincial labor relations board will be asked by Greater Victoria School Board to avoid student employment during school hours.

The board protest followed a recent incident when 15 students were absent to work at the opening of a new Safeway here. Suspension of the students, all boys, had been considered.

Parents will also receive letters from the board, advising that such absence "undermines discipline and administration."

Fire Protection Budget Slashed

Plan to Reopen Vic West Hall Dropped
In $32,000 Cut by Finance Committee

Victoria's fire protection budget was cut by $32,000 Tuesday.

At the same time, council finance committee approved a $37,550 gift to Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau—an increase of $5,000 over last year.

Largest single item cut from the budget submitted by fire chief Frank Briers was $29,400 for re-opening of the old Victoria West fire hall on a temporary basis while Point Ellice Bridge is demolished.

The committee rejected the scheme to keep one truck and three shifts of men at the old hall in view of recent arrangements made with the RCN fire department for emergency aid if required when the bridge connection is out.

A program to install radio control mechanism on fire trucks which would automatically turn traffic lights red when the trucks approached, was reduced to an experimental basis. A program of replacing old style alarm boxes will be dropped this year, also.

Anglicans Plan $20,000 Campaign For New Church

Campaign to raise $20,000 for a new St. Peter's Anglican Church in Lake Hill will get under way next month, chairman Roger Bray said today.

Sixty persons attended a preliminary meeting at the Women's Institute Hall Tuesday night to hear campaign objectives.

Construction of the church on St. Peter's Road is expected to begin by the end of the year.

More than 300 residents of the Lake Hill district will be canvassed for donations and pledges over a three-year period, Mr. Bray said.

Watherston Heads Dickens Group

E. F. Watherston was unanimously re-elected president of the Dickens Fellowship Victoria branch at its annual meeting Monday night.

Elected vice-presidents were Norman Cribbens and Mrs. C. H. Jarvis-Read. Mrs. Dorothy H. White continues as secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Bradbury is hostess.

Mrs. Betty Lee, a recent arrival in Victoria, was admitted as a new member of the branch.

Canada-U.S. Split Seen by Magazine

NEW YORK (CP) — Newsweek magazine says Canada may withdraw its ambassador from Washington if the Norman controversy continues and particularly if External Affairs Minister Pearson is "dragged into it."

The magazine says members of the United States Senate internal security sub-committee "indicated they thought they had 'the goods' on Pearson himself, and they intended to use it unless Canada's press laid off."

The "goods" reportedly consisted of shopworn testimony by Elizabeth Bentley claiming that Pearson was one of her contacts when he was with the Canadian Embassy in Washington.

Those who knew Pearson at the time recalled that he was a highly accessible official, available for personal or telephone talks to virtually everyone.

If the controversy were allowed to continue, some observers believed, and particularly if Pearson were dragged into it, he was prepared to withdraw the Canadian ambassador to the U.S. In their present mood, the Canadian cabinet and people would wholeheartedly approve."

In Ottawa, Mr. Pearson said after reading the Newsweek report that he had no comment.

MINER KILLED

FERDIE — John Baher, 52, was killed Tuesday by a fall of rock at number three mine of the Elk River colliery of the Crowsnest Pass Coal Co. Ltd.

KINDLY THUG ROCKS BABY, ROBS DADDY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When two bandits entered a neighborhood grocery store the owner's baby daughter started crying.

One of them held a gun on Mrs. Eugenie Kluga, lifted her 10-month-old baby from a play pen and quieted the infant's crying by rocking it gently.

His companion, also armed, took $17 from the cash register. Then the baby was returned to the pen and the men fled.

Pioneer Resident of Calgary, Mrs. A. Gillespie, Dies Here

Mrs. Anna Marie Gillespie, 92, a pioneer resident of Calgary, died at a funeral service in McCall Brothers' Chapel on Saturday at 3 p.m. Interment will be at St. Mary's Churchyard, Metcalvin.

Born in Ireland, Mrs. Gillespie was a pioneer resident of Calgary. She went to that city on the first through train from the east in 1886.

Mrs. Gillespie is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Ball of Aldergrove, B.C.; one son, James, of Victoria; 12 grandchildren, and several great-grandchildren.

Rev. H. M. Bolton will officiate.

Logging Tax Denounced By Foley

VANCOUVER (CP) — M. J. Foley, president of the Powell River Co., denounced the B.C. government's new logging tax act Tuesday as "untimely, excessive and discouraging to industry."

He told shareholders that assuming last year's basis of earnings the tax on Powell River Co. will increase to $1,600,000 from $200,000—a five-fold jump.

He continued: "The amend-

ARE YOU TOO SINGIN' THAT EASTER BONNET SONNET?

By DINAH KERR

Victoria's gal-folk kicked over the traces of winter today and headed for town to cap the Easter season with a glamorous, flowery, just plain frivolous Easter bonnet. With a satisfied sigh, they settled in front of city hat shop mirrors, combed their hair, and called for the springiest models that the world's

"mad hatters" had to offer. They weren't disappointed—salesgirls trotted out with shoulder-sheltering straws, tiny be-feathered straws, and straws rampant with tulles, flowers and jewels. At far left, Mrs. Jim Harvey, 3000 Baynes Road, settled for blue picture hat with one blue rose teetering on the brim. It'll put her husband's eye out. Mrs. Ross MacKinnon, 1461

Richardson, second from left, brushed aside the wide-brimmed models for a tiny lavender straw with two flowers perched like lookouts at the top. You can carry flowers too far, Mrs. Harold Collings, centre, of 1135 Hilda, decided. She headed back to the hat racks for a more conservative—but definitely spring-like model. Even little Janice, seven-year-old daughter of

Mrs. T. W. Rayson, 2465 Plumer, got into the hat act. Feathers, she agreed, are definitely out... they age a girl so. New hats just because it's spring—the idea is ridiculous, thought Glennie Anderson, four, 1145 Grant, at far right. To demonstrate, he snatched up a bouquet of paper tulips, balanced them on his head—and laughed at female frivolities

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1957 23

MONTE ROBERTS

The Ask the Times man (he lives in the lower right hand suite on this page) is possessed of knowledge which is little less than awe inspiring.

Ask him what day of the week April 19 fell on in 1776, and he will tell you.

Ask him the native habitat of the blue-breasted wattlebird, and he'll tell you.

Ask him how many pounds of tea and how many stacks of crumpets were consumed in Victoria in July, 1800, and, if he doesn't know, he'll find out.

In short, the Ask the Times man could almost be described as seeing all, knowing all, and telling all.

Thus it came as a shock to me to find the Ask the Times man stumped.

He came to me—ME, mind you—for help on a question. In fact, he said, rather plaintively, "is an answer to this question possible?"

Here is the question in question:

"Editor of Ask the Times:

"You have printed the number of boats large and small passing Ripple Rock. Will you tell us the number of large boats and fishing boats that have passed there SAFELY all these years?"

Well, I examined the question carefully, and I said to the Ask the Times man: "This seems to be a good question. Do you have a good answer?"

"No," the Ask the Times man confessed. "That is why I am appealing to you. You are supposed to be the marine expert around here. Can YOU give me an answer?"

"I will think about it," I said.

And I HAVE thought about it.

In the first place, every question must have an answer, in much the same way that every cloud must have a silver lining.

Therefore, there MUST be an answer to the question of how many ships have failed to sink on Ripple Rock.

So I started calling my friends around the waterfront, the shipping experts, the pilots, the marine historians.

But it appears none of them had ever kept records of ships not sunk on Ripple Rock.

Then, suddenly, the answer came to me in a blinding flash of inspiration.

Simply subtract the number of ships which DID sink from the total number of ships which passed Ripple Rock—and there you are.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City police took Mrs. Charles W. Forbes, 53, 1349 Grant, to Jubilee Hospital Tuesday at 3:30 p.m., suffering from a large cut on the top of her head, received when she fell down stairs.

Eighth in the Art Gallery's series of anthology evenings will be held this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Anthony Emery will speak on new English poets and curator Colin Graham will show colored slides newly acquired with the Leon Korner grant.

A downtown hall suitable for card games, dancing and meetings by senior citizens is the object of a search by Silver Threads, a Community Chest organization. A special committee headed by George Brebner, Montreal Trust Company, is checking vacant buildings.

Annual election of officers will be held at a meeting of South Vancouver Island Pharmacists' Association in Royal Jubilee Hospital clinic room tonight at 8 o'clock.

Formerly "Centennial Optimist Club," the new Optimist Evening Club of Victoria will meet at Moose Hall, 512 Fort, Thursday at 6:30 p.m. Club's name was changed to comply with international rules that the name must designate a zone of the city or time of meeting. New officers, elected Tuesday night, are Wally Gray and Douglas Stewart, vice-presidents; Gordon Jones, treasurer; and Bob Lewis, secretary. John McAllister was elected president at a previous meeting.

Celebration of St. George's Day and the anniversary of Shakespeare's birth will be marked by the Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, at an annual dinner in the Glensiel Hotel next Tuesday at 6 p.m. Chairman and toastmaster will be K. C. Symons, president of the local branch. Reservations may be placed with H. Langley, 34567 or Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 47491.

A willy-nilly Easter lily in the garden of Mrs. George Holt, 1168 Rhoda Lane, has outdone itself for the Easter season. It has sprouted 16 buds on one stalk "where even four are very unusual," says Mrs. Holt.

Personnel of the RCAF stationed at Holberg, B.C., were entertained over the weekend by a versatile concert party from Victoria produced by George Harrison and directed by Mrs. Verna Moore. Entertainers were Ron Chisholm, accordion; Reg Stoffer, comedian; Norman Bryce, guitar; Mrs. Moore and Arthur Stringer, vocalists; Margaret Carlson, Vancouver, pianist; Bert White, comedian; Darlene Moore, dancer, accompanied by Dennie Luske.

Birthday party for six patients at the Veterans' Hospital was held at the pavilion Monday, celebrating April birthdays. Celebrating April birthdays were A. E. Hawkins, W. M. Evans, Archie Derbyshire, William Casson, Richard Watson, A. O. N. Wilkinson. Gifts were presented by Mrs. Wallace Courtenay, president of the DVA ladies' auxiliary.

Entertainment was provided by Victoria Unit No. 12, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, Mrs. Ruth Jones, Mrs. Betty MacFarlane, Mrs. Irene McAllister, Mickey Francis, Cecil Boulter, Bernie Ryall and Joe Fee.

Fred Hurley, chief electoral officer, admitted Tuesday there was a $6,000 error in a statement of campaign expenses incurred by the CCF party in last September's British Columbia provincial election.

Mr. Hurley said the mistake originated in his office. A statement tabled by the Social Credit government in the legislature some weeks ago listed CCF campaign expenses as $18,837. Party secretary Harold Thayer protested the figure should have been $12,837. Mr. Hurley said Tuesday Mr. Thayer was right.

A $3,125 gratuity—three months salary—has been granted by the provincial government to Frances Mary Chetwynd, widow of Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd.

Margaret J. Clay, 821 Linden, has been re-appointed by the provincial government to serve as a member of the Public Library Commission for another three years.

City council public works committee today approved moving of the F. W. Francis Jewellers "sidewalk clock" to a new location outside the new Mallek building, Douglas and Fisgard.

The jewellers will move there when the Mallek building is completed.

SOMEBODY'S GOTTA STOP WORRIED FIREMEN ARGUE

City's fire-fighters' union today asked Chief Frank Briers to authorize all fire trucks to come to a full stop when faced with amber or red lights, unless fully controlled traffic lights are installed throughout Victoria.

At present, not all lights can be turned to "stop" when fire vehicles are called out.

Chief Briers has asked for a radio-control system which would enable the drivers of trucks to change traffic lights.

The union request, read to public works committee, was referred to the fire commission for comment.

The request was made because of the danger of accidents at intersections where motorists are not stopped by red lights.

Rebuilding Proposed For Garbage Wharf

$226,952 Plan Replaces Earlier Scheme To Build New Structure on Garbally

Victoria public works committee today recommended reconstruction of the old garbage wharf at the foot of Swift Street at a total cost of $226,952.

The proposal replaces an earlier recommendation that a new wharf be built at Garbally yards.

Financing of the project will be left to council to determine. It was pointed out the city fund for capital expenditure, collected from sales of tax reverted lands, will be wiped out by planned construction of a new $350,000 fire hall.

Liability Denied By Authorities In Store Flooding

Public works committee asked city council today to deny liability for claims of flooding filed against the city by several View Street business houses last December.

Claims came in after heavy rainfall which flooded many sections of the city. Claimants say works and fire department pumps diverted water to their premises.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady wrote that in all cases where pumps were used, water was pumped into manholes and the city could not be blamed for any street flooding.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Unit No. 12, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans: 1001 Wharf Street; 8 p.m.

Authors' Association, Victoria Branch: Art Gallery, 8 p.m.

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society: Knights of Pythias Hall, 8 p.m. Past presidents' night.

Victoria Optimists: Pacific Club, noon luncheon. Rev. Douglas Kendall will give his annual Easter message.

MIXED BLESSING OF SUNSHINE, RAIN

By TONY DICKASON
The countryside this year has been favored with a mixed blessing of sunshine and gentle rains that should bring about one of the best growing seasons ever experienced here.

The magic spell of growth, green and colored loveliness, is expected to bring about an "ideal" year for all field crops and home gardens as well as vigorously pulling other growth to new heights.

So nicely warm-wet has the season been so far that Dr. William Newton, chief of the plant pathology laboratory at the Dominion government experimental farm, Saanichton, says:

"We are delighted with the prospects. We haven't had a more favorable spring for agriculture in many years."

Last year much growth looked pretty scrubby; it had not yet recovered from the cruel and killing frost of November, 1955.

But nature, as she will, has bounced back with more life than ever.

Police Capture Jewelry Thieves

$3,000 Loot Recovered In Arrest on Hotel Roof

Smart police work by city constable John Burdyny resulted in capture early today of two 18-year-old store-breakers who had rifled four downtown shops of goods and cash totalling over $3,300 a short time before.

The youths Donald Lloyd Davison and Stanley Lionel Deacon, both of Vancouver, were captured by Const. Burdyny hiding on a hotel roof about 3:30 a.m.

They pleaded guilty in police court to three charges of breaking, entering and theft, and one charge of breaking and entering with intent to steal.

JEWELRY HAUL
All stores entered were in the same block, between Douglas and Broad, and Yates and Johnson.

Value of jewelry taken from S. C. Johns, 650 Yates, alone totaled $3,185.11.

Entries were all made from the rear of shops which open on a common areaway in the centre of the block.

Other stores were Sherwin-Williams Co. Ltd., 1314 Douglas; Liberty Cafe, 652 Yates, and Copp the Shoe Man, 1316 Douglas.

In the paint store (Sherwin-Williams), where nothing was stolen, papers were spread around a mezzanine office, drawers spilled out and a pile of papers and newspaper burned on the office floor.

GOING TO EAT
Const. Burdyny was walking toward a Johnson Street cafe for something to eat at about 3:30 a.m. when he heard what he thought were footsteps behind the Liberty Cafe.

Thinking someone was in one of the shops, he called for a patrol wagon and began to investigate.

On a rear fire escape at the Lincoln Hotel, which is on the northwest corner of the block, property.

He found three large boxes of jewelry and other goods.

Proceeding to the roof he found the two young men hiding and took them into custody.

"A nice piece of police work," commented Chief John Blackstock this morning.

With Const. Burdyny's call for aid, Sgt. Stephen Dunnell and nine constables attended the block and began checking premises.

RANSACKED
At Cops they found entry had been made by smashing a rear stockroom window.

Drawers were ransacked and a number of shoe boxes emptied.

Two pairs of new shoes were stolen and two pairs of old shoes left on the floor.

Two separate amounts of money in the shop were overlooked, an employee discovered.

Further investigation showed the paint shop was entered by a rear toilet window. A cash drawer was opened, drawers ransacked and contents scattered.

A rear door of the cafe was forced and the cash register opened. Currency amounting to $100 and silver totalling $50 was taken along with a full bottle of rum from a cupboard.

Entry to the jewelry store was by a small rear window, which gave way to a furnace room. Two doors leading to the shop were forced, where showcases were ransacked and contents scattered around the floor.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded the pair to April 25 for a probation report.

They had nothing to say after evidence was given by Det. William Andrews, who listed stolen property.

Mansion Ashes Sifted; Valuable Items Found

Workers sifting the ashes and rubble of Government House are turning up a number of valuable items.

A few pieces of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Ross were uncovered Tuesday afternoon and the twisted forms of silver bowls and ornaments have also been found. A number of cases of wine were discovered intact in the cellar.

The main Government House safe, which officials said contained only petty cash and papers, is still buried under debris. Mrs. Ross kept most of her jewelry in her suite.

Meanwhile, plans are now under discussion by government officials for a new Government House to be built on the same site.

Style of architecture to be followed and other details of construction have not yet been decided, a spokesman said.

MORE DURABLE
"We hope it will be both dignified and residential, and it will have to be more durable and fireproof," he said.

Temporary quarters for Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross while a new Government House is being built, are being sought.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—What nation owns South Georgia Island?—D. T. S.

A.—This well-known island in the South Atlantic lies 800 miles east of the Falklands, of which it is a dependency. Like the Falklands, it is British, and was claimed for Great Britain in 1775 by Capt. Cook. Its length is 100 miles, area 1,450 square miles.

Cushion-Soled Play Shoes Play Many Sun Time Roles

By PENNY SAVER

This is the kind of weather that I like for tramping around the woods picking Easter lilies, or bounding around rocky beaches where salt spray is blown in by gusty winds.

One of these outdoor jaunts of course calls for the proper clothing, and very important is footwear. It's no fun trying to walk along a beach in high heels, and a venture up an intriguing cliff is almost impossible when you're wearing slippery-soled shoes. As you have probably guessed, there is something I want to tell you about. You boating-enthusiasts read on, too, for this is for you as well.

Registered Nurses Meet in Vancouver

More than 400 nurses from throughout B.C. will meet in Vancouver May 24 to review and discuss the role of their profession and learn about some of its latest techniques at the 45th annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C.

Two days of business sessions in Hotel Vancouver will be preceded by a day-long educational program at St. Paul's Hospital in which experts will lecture on such subjects as new drugs, drug therapy and mental health nursing. Featured speaker at the business session will be Mrs. Henrietta Adams Loughran, dean of the School of Nursing at University of Colorado. Her topic will be "What is New and What is Needed in Nursing Education and Nursing Service."

B.C. Health Minister Eric Martin, Mayor Fred Hume, Vancouver, and Miss Trenna Hunter, president of Canadian Nurses' Association, will take part in opening ceremonies. The program will include a reception at HMCS Discovery. The Greater Vancouver District Branch of the association will be host for the meeting.

The Student Nurses' Association of B.C. will meet at the same time as the registered nurses.

National Delegates — At last meeting of the Navy League Chapter, IODE, the regent, Mrs. W. F. Mawdsley, and the standard bearer, Mrs. L. Painter, were named to attend the national IODE meeting in Vancouver in late May. Mrs. Mawdsley presided and four new members were welcomed, Mrs. H. Davenport, Mrs. W. G. Stone, Mrs. A. F. English and Mrs. D. Mair. Plans were made for the chapter to visit the Odeon Theatre on April 26 at 1 p.m.

Cushioned soled running shoes, tennis shoes, or, if you wish, boating shoes, are not only serviceable and comfortable, but they even look good. This is a real treat in this sort of shoe, because many styles aren't too attractive. The ladies will love these blue and white canvas shoes because they can be popped into the washing tub, and come out like new. White stitching on almost-navy blue gives them a sporty, nautical look that is popular. There are no seams on the lower part of the shoe, so they are particularly comfortable for tennis, when quite a strain is put on a pair of shoes and the seams sometimes dig into your feet. These white-soled play shoes, available in junior to adult sizes, are selling for $3.95 a pair.

Now when you go off on a sunny day excursion, walking is a pleasure because of the cushioned soles, and a clamber up a small bank is easy, because the crinkly-surfaced soles won't slip.

Coats are being shed on the warmer days, and sweaters, which for the past months have been hidden under heavy coats, are sparkling forth in bright new colors. For the youngsters there is a whole line of new, machine-washable sweaters in colors corresponding to adult styles. Of heavy-duty nylon, these sweaters are mothproof, shrinkproof and won't stretch or sag. Imagine a sweater that can be put into a washing machine! Wonderful!

They are $4.95 and $6.95 in pullover and cardigan styles. Rather than hunt all over town for the bargains and novelties I've written about in this column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I shopped.

In Honor of The Bride

Miss Ann Williamson, whose marriage to Mr. Keith Wilson takes place Easter Saturday, was honored at a miscellaneous shower recently given by Mrs. I. Braun and Mrs. H. C. Harvey at the former's home. Corsages were presented to the bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. W. R. Williamson, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. D. S. Wilson. Gifts were concealed in a decorated trailer. Other invited guests were Mrs. P. Jones, Mrs. V. Hardisty, Mrs. P. Koirs, Mrs. S. Heal, Mrs. N. Underwood, Mrs. D. Pearce, Mrs. E. Hodgson, Mrs. J. Vaughan, Mrs. D. Mercer, Mrs. R. Walsh, Mrs. N. Rutherford, Mrs. B. Browne, Mrs. R. Mayhew, Mrs. P. Hull, Mrs. P. Sinnamon, Misses M. Clarke, S. Wilson, H. Demery, M. Simmons, L. Leinweber and P. Kelg.

Miss Lois Falk, whose marriage to Mr. Clifford Baughman takes place next weekend, was honored at a surprise miscellaneous shower by former co-workers of Fourth Central Block, Royal Jubilee Hospital, and friends at the home of Mrs. Mary Hundley. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of yellow roses and her mother, Mrs. W. Falk, received pink carnations. A large replica of an Easter basket held the many gifts. A buffet supper was served guests, who included Mrs. Alma Dickinson, Mrs. Nettie Maximenko, Mrs. Kathleen McNaughton, Mrs. Bertha Gow, Mrs. Katrina Langkilde-Lauesen, Mrs. Eileen Eldridge, Mrs. Marion Luney, Misses Margaret Strachan, Barbara Shoemaker and Mildred Fletcher.

Mrs. G. W. Wagg, Mrs. J. H. Wagg, Mrs. J. S. Rippon and Miss Faye Wagg were hostesses at a shower, held at the home of Mrs. Wagg, to honor bride-elect Miss Doreen Askew. Red roses, in corsage, were presented to the guest of honor, and her mother, Mrs. E. Askew, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. O. Carroll, received carnation corsages. Gifts were presented in a golf bag on a "green". The refreshment table was centred by a cake decorated in yellow and flanked by matching candles. Invited guests were Mrs. A. G. Wagg, Mrs. H. Ray, Mrs. S. Erikson, Mrs. W. Dwyer, Mrs. M. McCoy, Mrs. J. Lees, Mrs. J. Gullford, Mrs. W. Atkinson, Mrs. F. Coffey, Mrs. G. Hines, Mrs. W. Scofield, Mrs. M. Moir, Mrs. M. Allan and Misses I. Corkle, J. Munnelly, E. Rhodes, M. Wagg, K. Lees, M. Hawthorne and B. Rippon.

Travel Talk — At a recent meeting of the Alpha Group of Metropolitan United Church Women's Association, Miss G. Holling gave a talk on her visit to the Scandinavian countries. President Mrs. William McCulloch conducted the meeting and Mrs. E. J. Bonfoy gave the devotional. Plans for a garden party in May were discussed. Tea was served by Mrs. W. Spry and Mrs. M. Salmon.

Baby Receives Names

Rev. H. J. Jones officiated at the christening ceremony in St. Philip's Church recently, when the three-months-old son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Falk, 2340 Lincoln Road, received the names Graham Elliott. The baby wore a christening gown that had been worn by her maternal grandmother. Godparents are Mr. J. E. Martin of Prescott, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilson of Petrolia, Ont., for whom Dr. and Mrs. C. Y. Brown stood proxy. A tea was held at the home of the baby's parents, where special guests were the baby's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Falk, of Vancouver. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Green of Ingersoll, Ont.

Say 'Bon Voyage'

Mrs. J. L. Hobbs was hostess at "Woolston," her home on Hobbs Road, Cadboro Bay, with a bon voyage party in honor of Mrs. W. G. Thorpe, who is leaving for England in early May. The tea table was arranged with a silver bowl of wild lilies and silver candelabra holding white candles. Mrs. George Masters and Mrs. E. Sheppard presided and assisting the hostess in serving the 26 guests were Mrs. W. E. Speed, Mrs. F. D. Lee, Mrs. J. Oliphant and Mrs. R. W. Thorpe. A bon voyage cake was cut and Mrs. Thorpe was presented with a sterling silver maple leaf set with rhinestones.

Sidney Christening

The five-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Calhoun of Sidney will receive the names Thomas Alfred Newman at a ceremony in Holy Trinity Church, Sidney, on Sunday. Rev. Roy Melville will officiate and godparents will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Dixon of Langley and Mr. Samuel MacDonald Freeman, by proxy. The baby's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Calhoun, of Montreal, are visiting their son and will be present at the service. Following the ceremony, the baby's parents will serve tea at their home. The table will be centred by a tier from the parents' wedding cake and a tier from the grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary cake.

From England

Miss Eileen Stirling, sister of Reginald Stone, the well-known radio organist, has come to Victoria from Kingston-on-Thames, Eng., to make her home. At present she is living with Mr. and Mrs. Stone at 150 Wildwood Avenue.

Hope Group Holds WA Coffee Party

A coffee party at the home of Mrs. A. G. Fulmer, 1151 Old Esquimalt Road, was sponsored by the "Hope Group" of the Women's Association of Esquimalt United Church. Convener of the party was Mrs. A. Crouch, group leader, who also received guests.

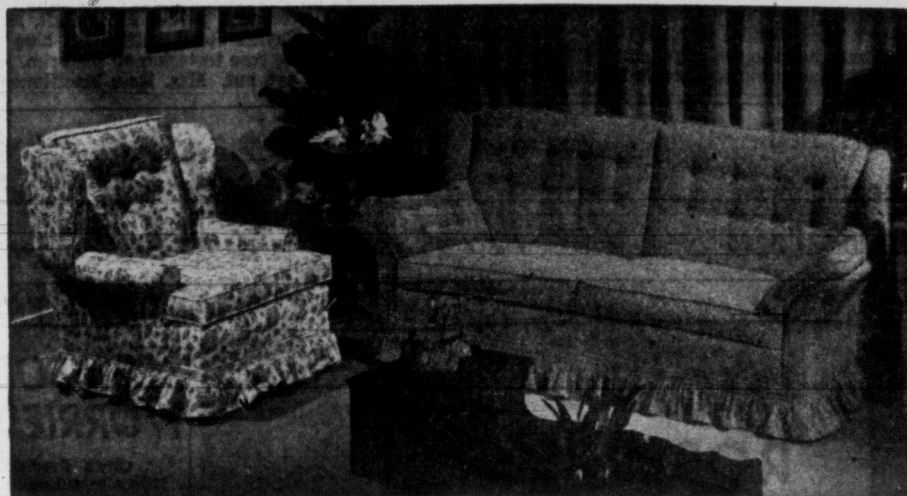

Mrs. Vincent Rush, president of the Women's Association, Mrs. D. R. Pilkey, Mrs. M. Walker, Mrs. R. M. Robertson and Mrs. W. Thompson presided at the table, which was covered by a lace cloth and centred with pink candles and a cut glass bowl arranged with peach blossoms and pink tulips. Serviteurs were Mrs. Fulmer, Mrs. F. Wheeler and Mrs. T. Flanagan. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. H. W. Thomas and Mrs. M. Walker.

Mrs. F. Philips was in charge of door receipts, the sum of $50 being realized.

Smorgasbord for Delegates

A giant IODE badge carved of ice was placed on one of the beautifully arranged buffet tables at a smorgasbord dinner held Tuesday evening in the Empress Hotel's Crystal Ballroom for delegates and members attending the 44th annual meeting of Provincial Chapter, International Order Daughters of the Empire. Chefs in tall white hats served guests the many colorful delicacies prepared for the occasion. Guest of honor was Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, CBE, honorary president. Standard bearers in white uniforms were an outstanding sight as they led the way into the ballroom, and placed their standards on the platform. A musical program, including Miss Pamela Paver and Mr. Stanley Martin, vocalists, and Mr. Robert Turner, pianist, was presented, with Mrs. H. N. Forrest accompanying. A tea that had been planned for delegates at Government House this afternoon was held instead at the Thorpe Place home of Mrs. Owen Fowler.

Feted at Farewell Parties

Mrs. James Finlayson, who is moving to Vancouver to make her home, was guest of honor when Mrs. J. A. Barry and Mrs. Hamilton Browne entertained at a coffee party at Mrs. Barry's Newport Avenue home this morning. Mrs. J. R. Barry presided at the table, which was decorated with spring flowers. There were 22 guests.

Mrs. George Wheaton, Newport Avenue, also entertained for Mrs. Finlayson with a luncheon. Guests were some of Mrs. Finlayson's golfing friends.

Home From Europe

After a six-month trip abroad, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wismer have returned to their home on Gillespie Place. They spent three months in Italy, Christmas in Sicily, and motored through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Switzerland before sailing from Antwerp on the Holland-American Line's Dinteldyk's maiden voyage through the Panama Canal.

Easter Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. John Godfrey and their baby son, Ian, are coming from Vancouver to spend the Easter weekend with Mr. Godfrey's parents, Commodore and Mrs. V. S. Godfrey, at their home on Terrace Avenue.

Going to Germany

Mr. Heine Chueden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyer Chueden, 801 Collinson Street, will leave Friday for Germany. Mr. Chueden who has studied for two years at the University of British Columbia, will continue his medical studies at the University of Goettingen for the next two years.

SPRING FESTIVAL IN EASTER WEEK

Girls' auxiliaries of the Anglican Church in Canada are preparing for a two-day spring festival with teen-age representatives from branches on Vancouver Island and the adjacent Gulf Islands. It will be held in Christ Church Memorial Hall on Monday and Tuesday next week. Assisting with arrangements are from the left, Judy Neuls, St. Luke's; Lovisa MacKay, St. Paul's; Pat Home, Christ Church; Gail Byers, St. John's; Darlene Nute, St. Saviour's and Barbara Searle, St. Mark's. Mrs. A. E. Raymond, diocesan girls' auxiliary secretary, is in charge of the planning committee.

WMS Head Pays Official Visit in City

Mrs. William C. Smalley, Edmonton, president of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada, paid an official visit to Baptist women of Victoria last week. With provincial president, Mrs. Newland Phillips, she was a guest at tea at the Elk Lake Church.

She addressed a rally of Baptist women at First Baptist Church. Mrs. Phillips presided. In her speech, Mrs. Smalley presented a vivid picture of Baptist women's work in Africa, Japan and the North American continent, all linked with the Baptist World Alliance.

Following the meeting, a reception was held to honor Mrs. Smalley. Among those present were representatives from First Baptist, Douglas Street Baptist, Emmanuel Baptist, Stevenson Memorial and Elk Lake Churches. Miss Kay Stewart, president of the Women's Union of First Baptist Church, was hostess. Tea was served by the Rose Gordon Group of the Women's Union. Mrs. Smalley, secretary of the Baptist Women's Union of North America, is leaving shortly for Chicago, to attend meetings.

A Problem About Wedding Photographs:

Just after our daughter was married, we ordered an album of the candid photographs taken of the wedding. We had to do some stretching to manage it, but felt it was worth it because all of the pictures are wonderful. Now the bridegroom's parents have asked us to give them a set, and there is no doubt in my mind that they expect us to furnish it as a gift. What should I do? The cost of the wedding made a terrific hole in our bank account and we feel that to buy another album of pictures is out of the question.

Louise Davis Answers:

Your best solution would be to tell the bridegroom's parents that you will gladly loan them your album for a while, but that you wouldn't want to part with it permanently. That should give them a hint that you don't expect to order another set and pay for it. Perhaps they will offer to purchase it for themselves if you will order it for them, and perhaps that is what they meant in the first place. If it is still evident that they expect the album as a gift, your only "out" would be to be frank about it by telling them that your budget can't manage it. Be sure to make it plain that they are to pay for it, but be tactful and diplomatic about it. It would

Easter Table Tricks With Chicks

The Easter celebration, always joyfully anticipated, offers special promise to the small fry when it falls late in April. There's an excellent chance the weather will cooperate for an outdoor egg hunt on lawns already green and soft. Flowers will decorate the landscape and the house.

Thanks to the bumper crop of spring birthdays, seasonal symbols such as chickens, eggs and bunnies, which engage the particular affection of most youngsters, will appear repeatedly as party decoration motifs. Small children usually relish bright, strongly accented decorations, with favors for all. Those which the youngsters themselves can help make and which require only inexpensive, readily available materials are best.

With construction paper, clear and colored plastic tape, a waxed food carton and a handful of flowers, you can whip up a charming chicken centerpiece for an Easter table. Individual chicken nut-cups can emerge from paper cups and tapes.

For centerpiece, cut out two identical chicken shapes from yellow construction paper. Snip a beak and comb from red construction paper and paste of tape in place. From white plastic tape, snip out small triangles. These decorate the chicken's sides for a feathery wing effect.

Place the two chickens around a waxed container (such as a cottage cheese carton); hold them in place by joining them with cellophane tape at the head and tail. Into the container pop a few flowers.

The chicken can be "nested" in artificial grass or, more elaborately, in fluffy lavender ribbon bows. Home-dyed and decorated eggs also look pretty circling the chicken.

If you have scraps of self-adhesive plastic shelf coverings, use these as well as colored plastic tape for easy-to-handle decorative motifs on hard-boiled eggs.

Do you know this trick for trimming tiny shapes from colored plastic tape? Stick a strip of tape to waxed paper first, cut out the desired shapes, then remove the paper.

Perky little chicken nut-cups are made from yellow paper cups or white cups wrapped in yellow construction paper.

Beaks are diamond-shaped cutouts folded in half and held in place with a thin piece of cellophane tape. Paint or crayon on them eyes. Add a crepe-paper pom-pom or a ribbon bow on the other side as a tail.

Fill with jelly beans or candy eggs.

Evaluation Could Lead to Accrediting Of Nursing Schools

The Canadian Nurses' Association gave the go-ahead signal last year for establishment of an evaluation program which will eventually lead to accreditation of schools of nursing. This was the history-making step Miss Evelyn Mallory, director and professor, School of Nursing, University of British Columbia, described for more than 100 nurses at a recent meeting of Victoria Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia.

All schools of nursing must be approved by the laws of the province, but this approval is based on minimum standards. Accreditation will be voluntary and will be the responsibility of the CNA. It will be a seal of approval by the nursing profession on a school of nursing after a careful analysis of its program. It will become a proof that the educational program carried on is worthy of public recognition. It will guide prospective nursing students in their choice of schools.

Twenty schools of nursing in Canada will be chosen to take part in a pilot study to establish criteria by which other schools will be evaluated.

Bring and Buy—At last meeting of the Servimus Group of Metropolitan Church, a bring and buy sale was held. Mrs. G. W. Robinson was in charge of the meeting and guest speaker was Rev. Laura Butler, whose subject was "Easter."

Old Girls' Group Re-Elects Mrs. Marshall as President

Mrs. Buntie Marshall was re-elected president at the annual meeting of Norfolk House Old Girls' Association, held recently in the school boarding house on St. Charles Street. Other officers are Mrs. Michael Penn, vice-president; Mrs. Walter Furlong, treasurer, and Miss Pam Campbell, secretary. Executive members are Miss Be Carr, Miss Margaret Izard, Miss Kiwi Westinghouse, Miss Ann Burridge and Miss Nancy Dunn. Reports of the year's activities showed that $500 was given to the building fund; a mimeograph machine was purchased for the school and contributions made toward cost of furnishings for the new boarding house.

An after-five party in honor of the retiring headmistress, Miss D. W. Atkins, was held and a bazaar. Future plans include a reception in honor of the new headmistress, Miss Winnifred Scott, a summer dance and a fall bazaar.

It was decided to look into the formation of an associate auxiliary in England under sponsorship of Miss Sheila Johnson. This group would have as its project the purchasing of books for the school library.

Speakers were Hugh L. Henderson, chairman of the board, and Mrs. M. E. Gage, the board secretary. Special guests were Miss Atkins and Miss Ivy Cheatham.

Speech 'Courses' Served Toastmistresses as Dinner

Toastmistress Miss M. Cottingham presented a speech dinner at a meeting of the Victoria Toastmistress Club. Each speech was presented as a different course. Those taking part were Miss H. Egan, Miss G. Mitchell, Mrs. S. Roberts, Mrs. R. Rose, Mrs. H. Ker, Mrs. P. Rayment and Mrs. F. Pellett.

Open House Marks Close of Season

A junior open house at the YWCA, Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, marks the end of a successful mid-winter program. Among classes exhibiting or demonstrating achievements of the past three months are creative crafts, creative art, busy bee art, folk dancing, junior gym and square dancing.

With the exception of the square dancing class, all classes will be repeated in the spring program, commencing Monday. Creative dramatics for children between ages seven and nine will be added to the list of after-school activities for children.

Benefited from the money sent for milk for undernourished children. It was decided to hold a rummage sale in June.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to select to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sarah Fessler, aged 10, Nashville, Tenn., for her question:

What Was the Pony Express?

The Pony Express is a poetic name for an old time postal service. It is poetic because no real ponies took part in the speedy operation. The job was done by relays of fast horses in the prime of life. Each was galloped at top speed for from 10 to 15 miles. The lone rider traveled light, carrying no more than one or two pouches of mail.

Horseback mail service was used in the Eastern States way back in 1839. By this method, a letter mailed in Maine could be expected to arrive in Georgia 10 days later. But distances to the Golden West were long and hazardous. To solve this postal problem, the Overland Mail Service was started 99 years ago. Easterners could then correspond with friends on the west coast. At first the mail was jolted along in light wagons. Later it rode on the rumbling wheels of the stagecoaches.

Events were moving fast in our history and California was in the news. The stagecoach mail was not fast enough to keep up with the times. Remember, 100 years ago cross-country railroads were a dream. There was no radio to flash the news, no telephone and even the telegraph was not quite ready. The U.S. postal authorities remembered the old horseback mail service in the east. And the idea of the Pony Express to the west was born.

Mail to the west was fast enough as far as the Missouri River. More speed was needed over the prairies and the mountains. Here a single horseman could outdistance the fastest of stagecoaches. And so, in 1860, the Pony Express was begun. Pony Express riders were gathered and stabled at points along the road. Wayside stations were built 10 to 15 miles apart all along the way.

The mailmen were the young and vigorous pioneers of the day. Each rode a relay of 75 to 100 miles with all his might. He chafed horses at each way station where he was allowed a two-minute rest. The long, fast relay began at St. Joseph, Missouri, and ended at the west coast. A letter mailed in St. Louis was scheduled to arrive in San Francisco 10 days later. But the riders vied with each other for records.

The thundering hoofs of the Pony Express relayed President Lincoln's inaugural address from the Missouri to the Pacific in seven days and 17 hours.

Pony Express mail cost three times as much as stagecoach mail. It was written on thin paper and wrapped in oiled silk to protect it from the weather. It was packaged in a leather pouch worn as a saddle bag and tossed from one relay rider to the next.

Eighteen months after the start of this wonderful adventure, the east and west were linked with a telegraph line. The Pony Express was no longer needed and it was discontinued. In its short history, those mailmen had ridden through rough terrain, rough weather, hostile Indians--and delivered the mail. Looking back, the U.S. takes pride in the Pony Express. It remains as part of the glamorous and heroic story of America.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Chinese Group: Thorne Wong went on to the troop at a "going-up-ceremony" on Friday evening. He was given the grand howl by the pack and taken over the line by "Akela" Winnie Bennett. Ernie Quan, patrol leader of the fox patrol, took him into the patrol as a recruit, and Scoutmaster George Bennett welcomed him to the troop.

"Second" Garry Yee received his knotted and bookbinder badges as well as the "grade B" all-round cord earning 12 proficiency badges. Ken Yuen and Henry Quan received their electrician badges.

There will be no meeting of the pack or troop on Good Friday.

First Centennial Troop: At a recent meeting Bob Loat was promoted to troop leader, and Richard Hunt patrol leader of the Cougars.

The group is holding a bazaar on April 25 at the Centennial Church Hall, Gorge Road, at 7:30 p.m.

First Dunsmuir Group: Scoutmaster Allan Rand invested Gerry Olette, Don Hauser, Bryan Barton and Bill Flowers as scouts at a ceremony on Friday evening.

The group committee tonight will hold a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Fyvie, 430 Springfield Road.

First Comox Pack: A full course chicken dinner was held for the Cubs and their fathers recently in the Legion Hall, Comox. Guest speaker was Group Captain R. C. Weston who based his address on the Cub promise. He contrasted the willing type who goes about his work with a cheerful, helpful outlook and the one who is always grumbling and urged to do his work.

Chief Andrew Frank brought along several interesting articles used by his people in the early days. They included a stone dish used in two places, used in making and mixing paint; a shovel-like baler made of yellow cedar and a cedar bark baler. Chief Frank danced one of the ceremonial dances.

GRANBY, Conn. (AP)— Judge Leonard T. Calvert remitted a $10 fine imposed on John E. Banish for driving an overloaded truck after the truck driver told him: "The truck was loaded with dry lumber and it absorbed rain water increasing its weight."

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)— A man stopped at the police station here and said he had choked his wife because of her incessant talking and nagging. He asked police to check her condition.

They did, and reported: "When we went to the apartment, she kept talking constantly and violently. This appears to be sufficient evidence that she is O.K."

CGIT Sunrise Service in Park Easter Sunday

Annual Canadian Girls in Training sunrise service will be held at Beacon Hill Park Lookout on Easter Sunday morning.

Eighteen CGIT groups, representing Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches here, will take part in the service which begins at 8.

Principal speaker will be Mrs. Neil Swainson.

The service will be conducted by Miss Judy Worthington, president of the CGIT conference, and Miss Marlene Parfitt will lead the prayer.

High School UN Seminar at UBC August 25-30

Fifth annual high school seminar on the United Nations will be held at University of British Columbia Aug. 25-30.

Theme of this year's conference, sponsored by Vancouver and Victoria branches of United Nations Association, will be "Canada, an Emerging Power."

A $30 seminar scholarship plus transportation costs will be awarded to a student submitting the best essay on "Canada's Contribution to the United Nations."

Essays of 1,500 words or less must be submitted before June 30 to the Vancouver branch of office, 1300 Robson Street, Vancouver 5.

Students from Grades 11 and 12 throughout the province may attend. The seminar will include a briefing on the United Nations and lectures and discussions dealing with Canada's place in the UN and world affairs.

Truck Plunges Off Road; 14 Die

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)— Fourteen persons were killed and 23 injured when a truck overturned near Bezerras, in Brazil's Pernambuco state, and plunged into an abyss. Three passengers escaped injury.

Hidden Camera Traps Gunman And His Girl

CLEVELAND (AP)— A 24-year-old man and two 18-year-old girls are held by police for the $2,376 hold-up of the St. Clair Savings and Loan Company Saturday which was filmed by a hidden movie camera.

They were listed by detectives as Steven Thomas, identified as the gunman who covered the lower part of his face with a handkerchief during the moon stickup; Wanda Diczni, who police said scooped the money from a teller's till into a paper bag, and Rose O'Donnell, who police said admitted driving the getaway car.

All three were held without formal charge for questioning.

Photographs of Thomas and Miss Diczni were identified by three employees of the company after a showing of the movie had given detectives a hunch on the identity of the girl, police said.

The camera which filmed the five-minute robbery was focused through a small, glass-covered hole in a back wall.

Miss Elsie Rapic, 19, a teller, stepped on a pedal to start the camera as the gunman announced to manager Stanley P. Zupan, 51, of the loan company: "This is a stickup."

The robbery followed by one day the installation of the camera.

First Centennial Troop: At a recent meeting Bob Loat was promoted to troop leader, and Richard Hunt patrol leader of the Cougars.

The group is holding a bazaar on April 25 at the Centennial Church Hall, Gorge Road, at 7:30 p.m.

Speaking of Color — This Green Dog Is Getting Greener

DENVER, Colo. (AP)— Pinky is a part-college dog and owner Bob Salas says she has a two-day-old puppy even more colorful than her name.

He swears that Pinky's progeny, sired by a boxer, was born green and "has been getting greener since it was born." Five other pups in the same litter are white, and another is brown.

Salas described the off-color pup as a sort of green-off-white, not too noticeable at a glance but a glaring contrast alongside her white brothers and sisters.

BEST PLAY OF YEAR

New York Critics Pick O'Neill Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Drama Critics Circle annual award for the best play of the year went Tuesday to Eugene O'Neill's drama, Long Day's Journey into Night. Nineteen of the 20 critics cast their ballots for it. Miss Ethel Colby of the Journal of Commerce chose Orpheus Descending.

O'Neill's drama, which is posthumous and autobiographical, now is in its 24th week at the Helen Hayes Theatre with Fredric March and Florence Eldridge in the starring roles.

The Most Happy Fella won first choice as a musical. It has been running for 50 weeks.

For the best foreign play of the season, the critics' prize went to The Waltz of the Toreadors, starring Sir Ralph Richardson.

(BB PLUS) "THE BARRETT'S OF WIMPOLE STREET" (Royal)—It is a matter of record that Edward Barrett Moulton Barrett, father of one of England's most treasured female poets, Elizabeth Barrett, was a bitter, tyrant of a man. Not only did he rule the rod over his nine children, of which Elizabeth was the eldest, but he demanded that they should never marry.

Much of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" is given over to the children's fear of their father. And, as papa, John Gielgud plays it up to the hilt. Unfortunately for the play the stilted manner of a stilted day, the illness of Elizabeth that made many scenes seem over-long because of the fact that she must always be reclining or sitting, lent the whole an air of staginess and melodrama that eventually made both the acting and the situations appear unreal.

Another item that could well have been subtracted from the overall meaning of the whole was that there are many today who will remember another screen version, one back in the mid-1930s that starred Charles Laughton and Norma Shearer. And as is the way with such memories the latest usually suffers in comparison.

AS ELIZABETH BARRETT (1806-1861) Jennifer Jones was adequate only to a degree. That which made up the poetess never came through the character as portrayed by Miss Jones. Bill Travers, who distinguished himself in the fine English comedy "Wee Georgie" last year appeared in the most unlikely mould as that of Robert Browning. True, he had the vigor and boundless enthusiasm that were said to have characterized the poet, but not once did he reveal the soul of the man who wrote some of the world's most beautiful lines.

In the minor role of Elizabeth's sister, Henrietta, Virginia McKenna performed admirably. Indeed she was the only ray of light in a long and gloomy play. It was her light-heartedness and gay desire to marry her army captain that, in the end, served to show up papa Barrett as a most unpalatable gentleman. So cruel was he that when Elizabeth married Robert Browning she had to insist that they do it on the quiet, in spite of Browning's protests. In the end they ran away together to Italy. It is a matter of record that when Barrett senior died years later he died without having forgiven his daughter for marrying.

In conclusion, although there are some who may enjoy this Victorian age revisited, there will be many others who will derive little satisfaction from it.

100TH BROADCAST

3 Canadians Featured On CBS Show

NEW YORK (CP)—Three gifted Canadians, including the winsome Gisele MacKenzie, will be featured when CBS radio presents the 100th consecutive broadcast of an award-winning program April 28.

Two male artists—Percy Faith and Donald Woods—are "regulars" on the program. The Woolworth Hour: The Best in Music, heard over a 48-station Canadian hookup as well as the entire CBS radio system.

Miss MacKenzie, the Winnipeg girl who soon will open her own television show in Hollywood, also starred in the performance that inaugurated the program as a weekly Sunday feature in June, 1953.

TORONTO NATIVE

She joined Faith, who is musical director of the radio series, and Woods, master of ceremonies.

Faith hails from Toronto, where he won fame as a concert pianist and radio conductor before coming to the U.S. Woods, born in Brandon, Man., has starred in radio, films and on the stage.

Artists for the 100th program were selected through nominations from listeners. They include Lois Hunt, Earl Wrightson and Vaughn Monroe.

Miss MacKenzie, who has won U.S. renown as a songstress, recently left The Hit Parade and won the chance to open her own NBC show with Jack Benny as adviser.

Lightning Bolt

Kills U.S. Soldier

FORT CARSON, Colo. (AP)—A trainee was struck and killed Tuesday by a lightning bolt which knocked seven other soldiers to the ground as they marched through a barracks area. The victim was not identified pending notification of next of kin. Five of the seven trainees were admitted to hospital.

Tycoon Monroe Ousts Partner From Her Firm's Executive

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe elected a new board of directors Tuesday for Marilyn Monroe Productions, Inc. The corporation vice-president she's been feuding with, Milton Greene, was dropped.

Also ousted were Irving Stern and Joseph Carr. Marilyn contends Stern and Carr are backing Greene in his feud.

Greene recently announced he had retained legal counsel to represent him in a disagreement with Marilyn over terms of her contract with him.

The movie actress, who is president of the corporation and owns 50.4 per cent of the stock, countered by calling for a new board election. Greene holds 49.6 per cent of the corporation's stock.

Marilyn submitted a new slate of directors. Greene didn't bother.

Those elected were Marilyn, her lawyer, Robert H. Montgomery, and businessmen George Givine and George Kupchik.

Chevrolet tops all cars in big Safety and Performance Tests!

1 Chevrolet officially rated
"best performing" of all cars
at famous NASCAR meet!

There's no question about it now — official National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing trials prove that the 1957 Chevrolet is North America's outstanding performance car!

Running in the famous Safety and Performance Weeks competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolets piled up the largest point margin ever recorded to capture the official Manufacturers' Trophy.

"Best performing" automobile

That's official fact. At Daytona, claims don't count — just performance. Electronic timing equipment and keen-eyed NASCAR officials guarantee that results are impartial, that all cars are regular production models.

Chevrolet took two weeks of blistering competition right in stride. Nothing in the low-priced field could touch it. No other car, regardless of price, scored such a sweep.

No smokescreen possible

There's absolutely no way to throw a smokescreen over the official results. The 1957 Chevrolet has here proved itself the most astonishing performer in the low-priced field!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

2 Chevrolet confirms performance leadership
and superior handling at
world's first Auto Decathlon!

Results at Daytona were important. But perhaps even more important to you is roadability — the safety and precision with which a car steers, stops, clings to curves. This is the quality of a car that shows itself when difficult road conditions or emergencies call for extra sureness of control and quick recovery from unusual situations.

Ten-way driving test

Now Chevy has proved its greater roadability in the world's first Auto Decathlon, certified by the National Automotive Testing Association. With typical Chevrolet poise, it romped through a rugged ten-way test of hair-pin cornering, acceleration, handling ease, steering and even-keel braking.

Expert drivers whirled the competing cars around snap-turns, sprinted over wet and dry pavements, speeded up over gravel, zigzagged around pylons. And when the dust settled, Chevrolet was tops again!

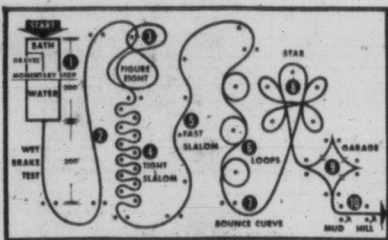

It outhandled all the low-priced cars — and all the higher priced cars tested!

What all this means to you

With its silent, sassy surge of V8 or 6 power, a new Chevrolet will show you the difference between just egging a car along for the years you own it and... driving a champ! It's a difference that means a whole lot to you as a car driver and a proud Chevrolet owner.

Come and drive the car that won the Decathlon — the car that won the official top performance award at the Daytona Beach trials! There's simply nothing quite like it... the two-time Champion Chevrolet!

See your Chevrolet dealer as soon as you can.

This is the Auto Decathlon course — ten brutal challenges to driving qualities. Here's where Chevrolet had a field day, riding rings around the competition!

Chevrolet shows its sure-footed way of going even on steep grades and bad roads. A demonstration drive will give you an idea of Chevy's winning form!

This water-bath simulates wet-weather driving, tests brakes when doused. Chevrolet sails through! This top performance car is a safer car!

The winner! Electronic timers accurate to 1/1000 of a second kept eagle eyes on every car. Chevrolet proves it has the driving qualities you want in a car!

Month after month since its introduction, Canadians have bought more '57 Chevrolets than any other car.

Park Avenue Mother of Three Sold Blood To Buy Groceries While Husband Idled

NEW YORK (AP) — A Park Avenue mother says she had to sell a pint of her blood to get grocery money for her three children while their scholarly father died.

Mrs. Hilda Lindley was granted a separation in State Supreme Court Monday from Francis Vincent, a Yale honor graduate.

The family lived on a $16,000-a-year scale with a Park Avenue apartment and a home on Long Island. The judge said Mrs. Lindley provided almost all the income. She has an administrative job with a book publisher.

"It was established," said the judge, "that after the wife's confinement incident to the birth of her third child in February, 1956, she had no earnings for a period of time."

"Her small reserve was ultimately depleted and there came a time when there was no money available with which to purchase food for the family. In desperation she sold a pint of her blood for $15 to enable her to buy food."

HOW GULLIBLE CAN SEAGULLS BE?

Sonic Weapon Threatens Winged Garbage Thieves

By PETE LOUDON

Seagulls stealing garbage from city barges and scattering it along the waterfront may be foiled by a crafty plan outlined to city council public works committee today.

Sombody has learned the seagull cry for "jiggers."

By playing it back to the birds over a public address system, they can scare them back to CPR ferries—it says here.

R. H. Mackay, wildlife biologist, Canadian Wildlife Service, writing from offices at UBC, told city engineer James Garnett, prices for the necessary equipment are available.

The biologist says two eastern U.S. gull-watchers, Hubert Frings and H. P. Starnier, had determined differences in four gull calls.

There is the food-finding call, a crowing or trumpeting call, a departing call and an alarm call.

"Gulls have no distress call when maltreated," adds Mr. Mackay.

(Even if they get wise, they can't tip each other off.)

The alarm "is two piercing cries in descending sequence and three sharp cries following."

The two biologists mounted speakers in an area frequented by gulls. Sound measured at 95 decibels, sounded one mile from the gulls, lifted all the gulls within a half-mile radius.

When speakers were located 100 feet from feeding gulls, they were all driven away from their food and stayed away, on an average, 30 to 45 minutes.

The cry of the herring gull apparently means "cheese it" to all gulls regardless of their type.

Black gulls and laughing gulls take off at the same alarm.

City engineer Garnett was impressed with the "auditory repellants" and pointed out there is also possibility of using the food-finding or attraction call, with loudspeakers located in another area, but audible at the garbage wharf.

As an alternative this could be sounded to urge the gulls to "follow the birds from Victoria."

Use of the canned bird calls would save the city the cost of covering barges with tarpaulins. Mr. Garnett said there is also a high frequency tone which could be sounded which is offensive to gulls.

Public works committee heard the report and passed on to other business.

20 GOALS PER SEASON OR ROCKET WILL RETIRE

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty goals a season, a target a lot of National Hockey League players never realize, was set Tuesday night by Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens as the decider in his retirement plans.

The Rocket, at 35 the NHL's eldest performer, said after Canadiens won the Stanley Cup against Boston that he'll quit the year he doesn't score 20 goals.

He scored 33 this last season in regular play.

Teamster union official Robert Hubsham of Scranton, Pa., today was cited for contempt of Congress when he refused to tell U.S. Senate members even whether he is "a decent citizen." See story, page 2. (AP Wirephoto.)

P.E.I. Opens Way For Hospital Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today moved a step closer to national hospital insurance with the completion of all the basic conditions for making the federal plan operative.

But because of a mountain of red tape still to be hurdled and the heavy job of setting up administrative machinery, the scheme may not be in operation before 1959.

The clincher, on meeting federal conditions, came Tuesday with Prince Edward Island's announcement that it has decided to become the sixth province to join the plan.

The federal government had stipulated that six provinces, representing more than half the Canadian population, must participate before it would share in the costs of standard hospital and diagnostic service insurance.

Five provinces, representing 56.3 per cent of the population, had already indicated they would join.

Health Minister Martin was elated when PEI announced its entry.

He was at Montreal, discussing hospital insurance with the health ministers of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, when Premier Matheson made the PEI announcement.

NEW BRUNSWICK NEXT?

There were indications later that New Brunswick may announce her decision next week.

Mr. Martin said draft agreements had been sent out to those which had agreed to enter: Ontario, Newfoundland, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Another copy now would go out to P.E.I.

The provinces would have to get their administrative machinery organized to the "point of no return" before federal payments are made. Federal provincial costs are to be shared roughly on a 50-50 basis.

The overall cost if all provinces enter is estimated at $400,000,000 a year.

B.C. IGNORES OWN ADVICE EGGMEN SAY

ALDERGROVE, B.C. (CP)

—The provincial government has been charged with disregarding its own $100,000 advertising campaign to buy B.C. products.

Poultry producers here were told Tuesday night that the government is purchasing 100 cases of eggs a week for Essondale mental hospital which are not produced in B.C. and is paying "at least seven cents a dozen under the wholesale price."

Besides being premier, Mr. Bennett is also minister of finance.

He was sworn in as agriculture minister by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross in the vice-regal suite of the Empress Hotel, only a few hours after Mr. and Mrs. Ross were forced to flee Government House before it was destroyed by fire.

People in the other provinces will want to know how the

Thousands Cheer Bishop in Athens

ATHENS (AP) — Archbishop Makarios, leader of Greek Cypriots seeking union with Greece, arrived in Athens today after 13 months of British detention on the Seychelles Islands.

Thousands of Athenians braved chilly weather and gloomy skies to cheer the Greek Orthodox archbishop of Cyprus as he was driven along the seven-mile route to downtown Athens.

An imposing array of political, church and military leaders greeted Makarios at the airport and shared his triumphal entry into the city.

All Athens police were put on the alert for the archbishop's arrival, and troops in full battle dress were stationed in force at strategic points.

Makarios flew here from Nairobi, Kenya, where Chief Secretary Richard Turnbull declared Tuesday he was not a welcome guest in that British colony.

U.S. Accepts Russ 'Open Skies' Offer

LONDON (UP) — The United States today accepted Russia's proposal for a partial "open skies" disarmament plan in Europe provided Moscow agrees to widen the area under inspection.

All Athens police were put on the alert for the archbishop's arrival, and troops in full battle dress were stationed in force at strategic points.

Peace River To Bella Coola Route Surveyed

Plans to construct a multi-million dollar oil pipeline from the Peace River to tidewater at Bella Coola were disclosed here today.

Lands Minister Ray Williston confirmed that an application has been received by the government from ACT Oils Ltd. and surveys are now in progress.

ACT Oils was incorporated in B.C. in 1950, with Vancouver financier Austin C. Taylor as principal shareholder.

Mr. Taylor's office stated today however that the firm had been sold in 1954 to the Catawba Corp., headed by R. J. Richardson of Calgary.

The company's application was directed to the provincial railways department, which controls pipeline construction. After surveys are completed and it is decided to go ahead with the project, the company must apply to the government for right-of-way property.

Early stages of the pipeline would follow roughly the same route as Westcoast's line and would turn off to the west south of Prince George.

Teamster Won't Talk at Probe

Scranton Union Official Cited For Contempt; Linked to Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racket investigators today ordered contempt of Congress charges against Robert Hubshman, Scranton, Pa., teamsters union member who refused to tell them even whether he is "a decent citizen."

Hubshman invoked the U.S. constitution's fifth amendment against self-incrimination when called to the Senate committee's witness box.

A big red-haired man, Hubshman refused to answer any questions except to give his name and address. In testimony of others, he had been linked to acts of union terrorism including beatings and sabotage.

The first witness today was

Helen Canfield, friend of convicted dynamiter Paul Bradshaw. She told how she secretly recorded conversations by Scranton union officials in an effort to prove Bradshaw was innocent.

Miss Canfield, a pretty brunette, was called after Bradshaw's sister, Mrs. Margaret Kollra of Scranton, testified that union officials took revenge on her husband because of the recordings.

'Shouldn't Have Talked'

She quoted a teamsters union steward whom she named only as Sullivan as telling her husband, Albert Kollra, "don't you know when you're through" when he demanded work. She also testified that union official John Durkin told her: "Paul Bradshaw shouldn't have talked."

Committee chairman John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) also placed in evidence a sworn statement from Scranton Mayor of.

Scranton Folk Shaken By Strong-Arm Charge

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Many of Scranton's 124,000 people are shaken to find their city in the unflattering glare of a United States Senate searchlight.

That searchlight is poking around in Washington for the facts about reports that strong-arm staff has played a big part in certain labor activities here. To many Scrantonians these are shocking allegations.

A summing up of public opinion at this touchy moment runs along these lines: "We're living in a town that's had its troubles but isn't licked by them. We're busy trying to solve our problems, and we don't think of violence as a solution."

TERRORISM CHARGED

At the moment, four union leaders are appearing before the Senate labor racket committee to answer testimony of a convicted dynamiter who linked them with alleged terrorism in the Scranton area.

They are being questioned about bombings, threats, beatings and truck sabotage, of which the committee heard vivid stories Tuesday.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said he hoped to question all of the men accused in testimony by Paul Bradshaw, former teamster official who testified he was double-crossed after he had agreed to "take the rap" for a house bombing.

ORDERED VIOLENCE

Names mentioned in Bradshaw's long day on the witness stand included:

Joseph Bartell, business agent of carpenters Local 261, Scranton. Bradshaw said Bartell had given him orders that resulted in acts of violence to halt non-union building operations.

Philip Brady, business agent of electrical workers Local 81, Bradshaw also linked Brady with orders to halt work on some jobs, including a road construction job by non-union crews.

Anthony Bonacuse, business agent for Local 130, Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, Scranton, Edward Puzsek, Wilkes Barre, Pa., housing contractor, testified Tuesday that Bonacuse warned him "it would be a smart thing for you to be union—the boys play rough here," when he went to Scranton to build a home. The home subsequently was bombed in 1954.

John Durkin, secretary-treasurer and business agent, Scranton Teamsters' Local 229, Bradshaw testified Durkin told him to drive the car when a "stink bomb" was thrown into a Scranton bakery which was using non-union delivery men.

TOSSED STINK BOMB

Robert Hubshman, member of Teamsters' Local 229, Bradshaw said Hubshman tossed the stink bomb after either he or Hubshman decided that a quart of stench material they had been given was too much, and refused the charge to a pint.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) called for testimony to show whether the AFL-CIO, in implementing its newly adopted code of ethics, is attempting to oust union officials convicted of crimes.

Bradshaw said there has been no effort yet to remove any of the Scranton leaders from office.

Coldwell Says Labor Ignored in Council

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's appointments to the 21-member Canada Council were criticized by CCF leader M. J. Coldwell Tuesday on the ground they did not include representatives of labor and agriculture.

Mr. Coldwell observed that Prime Minister St. Laurent appointed several businessmen and some distinguished representatives of the arts and letters.

U.K. Doctors Get 5% Hike

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan announced Tuesday that Britain's doctors, who have threatened to strike for more pay, will be given a five per cent pay increase starting May 1.

The British Medical Association, which looks after the doctors' interests, had advised the 21,000 family doctors to withdraw from the national health service starting Oct. 7 if the government did not agree to consider their claim for a 24 per cent cost-of-living bonus pay increase.

Paris Scene Of Algerian Gang Violence

PARIS (AP)—Rival gangs of Algerians in France killed three Algerians and wounded six Tuesday night in clashes in Paris and its suburbs.

Another man was missing from his bloodstained room.

The endless vendetta among the 350,000 Algerians in France had been largely ignored by the French press. But today the influential Paris newspaper, Figaro, expresses concern that "excessive tolerance" of the French authorities is being interpreted as proof of weakness.

Since Jan. 1, 1956, more than 150 Algerians have been killed and nearly 1,300 wounded in clashes among nationalist militants in France. The chief fighting groups are the National Liberation Movement (MNA), which numbers the bulk of its adherents among Algerians in France, and the more extreme National Liberation Front (FLN), which the French claim is directed from Cairo and Tunis.

FEAR REPRISALS
Their targets generally are Algerians who refuse to contribute to the Nationalist cause, or who are considered pro-French.

Police have been hampered by the refusal of witnesses or victims to talk for fear of reprisals.

Slide Blocks Highway

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Highway traffic near Popkum, 15 miles east of here, was blocked for almost seven hours Tuesday after blasting operations brought tons of rock crashing down across the Trans-Canada highway. R.C.M.P. said traffic was backed up "for miles" by the 300-foot slide. Traffic was expected to return to normal today.

Mystery Shooting

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Police were mystified today by the fatal shooting of Leonard Jacob Trupp, 20, whose body was found by passers-by Tuesday night on a downtown overpass above the railway.

Inspector John Burns of the Windsor detective bureau said: "It was not an accidental shooting."

Rebel Forces Battle Army In Indonesia

5,000 Fanatics Behind Uprising

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Rebel forces today were battling the Indonesian army in heavy fighting near Macassar, capital of the Celebes, according to unconfirmed reports reaching here.

The rebels were reported to be troops of Kahar Muzakkar, leader of the 5,000-strong fanatical Darul Islam Army.

Nine Javanese battalions earlier were moved into the Macassar area to pacify the Celebes. The battalions are commanded by Lt. Col. Sudirman.

Meanwhile, army sources reported today that two emissaries from rebel groups in Central Sumatra have been arrested in Jakarta, capital of the Indonesian Republic.

An army spokesman would not confirm that the two men, Lieut. Zukkiffi Nasution and Lieut. Sinaga, had been placed under arrest.

Nasution was an emissary of Col. Ahmad Hussein, leader of the rebel Banteng Council which took over the administration of Central Sumatra in December, and Sinaga of Col. Maludin Simbolon, leader of the unsuccessful December coup in North Sumatra.

The outlawed Darul Islam declared war against the Indonesian government nearly three years ago and has clashed frequently with federal troops. The organization is dedicated to the creation of a Moslem theocratic state.

In another development today, Garuda Indonesian Airlines cancelled until further notice all flights to Macassar "due to the situation on the island of Celebes."

Varmints Across the Line

NEW YORK—Nothing beats a well-built fence for keeping varmints away, and in the language of the United Nations Emergency Force, a varmint is anybody who seeks to cross the demarcation line between the Gaza Strip and Israel, in either direction.

Hence the proposal by Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns to Israel that she erect a barbed wire barrier laced with mines along the Gaza Strip frontier—an idea that General Burns first proposed to Israel back in 1955 when he was supervisor of the United Nations Truce Mission. The plan was abandoned on that occasion, but there seems a good chance now that Israel will accept it, if she has the assurance that the Gaza side of the fence will be patrolled by UNEF troops.

The fence idea represents what UN officials regard as the "next best thing" to having the troops of the Emergency Force stationed on both sides of the demarcation line. Israel has consistently refused to consider having the men of UNEF on her soil.

Obviously, General Burns does not want the sole responsibility for preventing border incidents to fall upon the Emergency Force, if he can help it. The UNEF border patrol is efficient, but it is not foolproof, as General Burns has reason to know both as a soldier and as the former truce supervisor.

THE POROUS WALL

Israel herself has given many reminders of the fact that the wall erected by UNEF along the demarcation line is a porous one. The latest of these reminders came this week in the form of a letter to the president of the Security Council from Israel's representative at the UN, Mr. Abba Eban.

This was the latest of the monthly reports Israel has been sending the UN on what she calls "infiltration and marauding" into her territory from Egypt since she pulled her troops back behind the armistice line.

Last month, Israel published a list of minor invasions of her territory from the Sinai Peninsula, through the check points set up by UNEF. This month, her report deals with bandits entering her territory from the Gaza Strip, again through the UNEF picket lines. In recording these incidents, Israel is building up a dossier either as a basis for future negotiation or as a justification for counter measures—she does not demand Security Council action, she merely asks that member nations of the UN be informed.

Arabs in the Gaza Strip have boasted that there are 10 or 15 points at which they can walk into Israel, whatever precautions UNEF may take to stop them. That they speak the truth would seem to be indicated in Mr. Eban's list of 19 transgressions since March 10, all of them after UNEF took over patrolling the armistice line.

INVARIABLE PRELUDES

Some samples: On March 13 a flock of sheep was stolen from Kissufin by marauders from the Gaza Strip; on March 13 a group of infiltrators from the Gaza Strip crossed into Israel and reaped 40 dunams of wheat from the fields of Kfar Azar; on March 15, infiltrators from the Gaza Strip stole 50 sacks of grain from Nirim village; on March 18 infiltrators from Gaza stole a stand of corn in the fields of Mefalsim village; on the night of March 23, 12 goats were stolen from Dagan village, and tracks led to the Gaza Strip.

Commented Mr. Eban: "Experience has shown that incidents which at first sight appear to be relatively unimportant, such as infiltration and marauding for purposes of theft and robbery, are the invariable prelude to serious outbreaks of violence and terror throughout the area."

It is this sort of thing that General Burns hopes would be brought to an end if Israel would string barbed wire along her side of the line—two fences with a strip of mines down the middle. Even such a line could not doubt be penetrated by well-equipped military patrols, but it should discourage the sheep stealers and wheat reapers, and make UNEF's job easier.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Not Snobbery, Just System

LONDON—The fact that half a million youngsters are currently taking this "11 Plus" test (for entrance to grammar school) has sparked a controversy as to whether the many English parents who do it are right in sacrificing everything to put their youngsters through private schools.

Among others, author Nicholas Monsarrat is against parents making themselves martyrs for the sake of their children getting education at "a good school."

Says he: "I deplore the morale and financial suicide of parents who 'give up everything' for their children. One of the reasons why the youth of today is so detestable is that we worship them, worry about them, and work our trousers to the bone for them. All those who don't want to be eaten by their young should join my underground movement—the Society for the Preservation of the Adult World."

As a guest from the Dominions in this country, one finds oneself going along with the system. If you try to buck it, by saying "In my country the local free school was good enough for anybody," and put your youngsters in the local council school you are likely to be doing them a disservice that will mark them for the rest of their lives.

Young Mac is at a private school that costs £12 a term—something over $350 a year, plus "extras" which I always seem to be paying out. His sister's fees at another school are slightly less. Neither of them are in their teens yet and the fees will jump to above three times as much when they go to senior school.

Why pay them then, when there are free schools readily available?

Perhaps the answer is best illustrated by the remark of one of the boys in Mac's school when I was with a group of the boys coming back from a football game. We passed the attractive, newly-built council school, which has a much better setup than Mac's school in an old converted mansion. Said the boy: "That's the Cockneys' school."

He did not say it from snobbery. It was a statement of fact. Children of working class families go to the council schools. A parent who is a "professional man" sees to it that his youngsters go to private schools, even though it's a burden to meet the fees.

He wants them to mingle with youngsters from the same background, and that's the only way he can do it. He doesn't choose to pay fees for the snob value; he is forced into it by the system that has been in force for ages here.

SYNOPSIS—This cloud crept into the southwestern part of the province Tuesday night and a few light showers occurred over southern Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. Skies were almost clear elsewhere and light frosts again occurred in interior valleys.

A flat area of low pressure is moving erratically toward the coast and the circulation around it will spread thin cloud over most southern districts today.

Parents Note: Danger Time For Children

TORONTO (CP)—Watch your child around the house on Sundays between four and seven p.m.—particularly if you're a little boy between one and five-years-old.

According to two federal health department physicians, the 4.7 p.m. stretch on Sundays witnesses more accidents in the home than any other similar period during the week.

And males in the 1-5 age group are the most prone.

Dr. E. H. Lossing and Dr. Roger B. Goyette disclosed in the April issue of the Canadian Journal of Public Health the results of an accident survey conducted among 1,000 families in the Ottawa-Hull, Que. district.

Four hospitals handed on accident reports and the doctors checked each until they had 1,000. Their study showed:

"Cutting and piercing" mishaps accounted for 246 of the 1,000 cases. Falls of one kind or another made up 409. Blows of various kinds reached 105. The balance consisted of burns, poisoning, foreign agents entering body openings and accidents caused by animals or insects. There were 109 reports not classified because of their great diversity.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

New Daffs Outdo Older Varieties

Regardless of cloud or sunshine for the weekend, we are assured of a fine display of color in our gardens for Easter.

Never have the daffodils appeared brighter, each variety as it unfolds seems more beautiful than those already opened.

A visit this weekend to one of the commercial daffodil gardens will well repay the time and effort of the home gardener. Selections for next fall's planting can be made from seeing the newest varieties side by side with those which were new thirty years ago.

The gold of the daffodils will gleam on the dullest days, but it may be the new pink varieties which will intrigue you.

Whatever your preference, those all pure white, or the lemon petals with an orange cup, the huge blossoms or the miniatures, the singles or the doubles, each has its individual charm, and its qualities are best assessed as you see the bulbs in flower.

Begin to plan your own Easter garden for next year by choosing the makings now. You will have triple enjoyment, seeing the flowers around the Antarctic continent in now, and receiving in the fall an order of fat, heavy bulbs which you

Eskimos Quick To Learn Value Of Bank Savings

OTTAWA (CP)—There aren't any Eskimo millionaires yet but their bank accounts are already impressive.

The northern affairs department said Tuesday 235 Eskimos working on the DEW (Distant Early Warning) and the mid-Canada radar lines have saved about $200,000.

Most of the savings range from $80 to $1,000. A few individuals have saved as much as $2,000.

The new earners and savers represent only a few of Canada's 11,000 Eskimos. But they're the first Eskimos in history banking their money in facilities provided by post offices or the Hudson's Bay Company.

Eskimos occasionally splurge, just like anyone else, the department said. But most of the Eskimo's cash goes for food, clothing, rifles, boats or tents.

MAN'S ACTION MELTING ICE CAP

Sea Will Rise 40 Feet California Physicist Warns

SANTA MONICA (AP)—A noted physicist predicts that ocean levels will rise at least 40 feet and inundate vast areas of the earth in the next 50 or 60 years unless atmospheric temperatures can be controlled.

In a copyrighted story, the Santa Monica Evening Outlook quotes Dr. Joseph Kaplan as saying this inundation could occur as a result of accelerated melting of the polar ice caps.

CAUSED BY MAN
Dr. Kaplan, a professor at the University of California, at Los Angeles and head of the U.S. national committee for the 1957 International Geophysical Year, said the melting of the ice caps is being speeded by man's "tremendous use" of oil and gas.

"We're changing the earth's atmosphere," he said. The 54-year-old scientist said the burning of fuels is of such great magnitude that discharged gases are warming the atmosphere as far as up to 15 or 16 miles, and will have a great effect on the Arctic and Antarctic ice masses.

"Control by man of the earth's weather and temperature is within the realm of practicality now," he said.

"We're now working on a method of controlling man's environment and the temperature of the world," he said. "We've already fired rockets into the upper atmosphere and discharged chemicals that affect the temperature of the atmosphere."

U.S. Nuclear Planes Due By 1963, Air Chief Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. air force now expects to have its first nuclear-powered combat plane flying by 1963 or 1964.

After a series of stops, starts, stretch-outs and besetting technical problems, the air force has put the program on a firm schedule which is reported to please the joint congressional atomic energy committee.

In the face of congressional criticism of the nuclear-power-for-aircraft project, Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles has been describing the new development schedule in a series of appearances before congressional committees. His testimony has not yet been made public.

Quarles has told one committee the air force has decided to "back up and take a new hitch," concentrating on materials and reactor designs rather than going all-out on a complete airplane.

As a result, he has said, it now will be "a few years later" than once thought when the airplane flies.

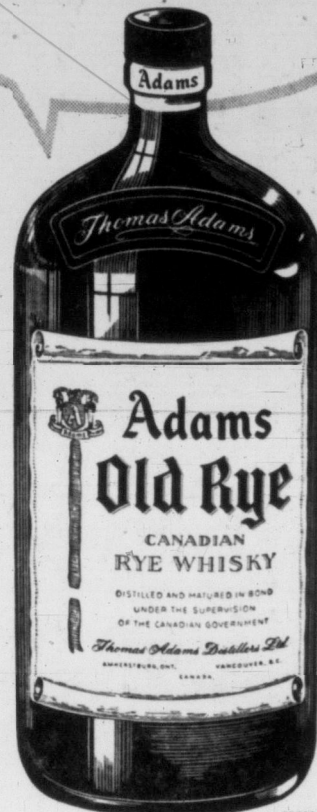

But it will be a useful combat plane rather than a "flying reactor," according to Quarles. Chairman Richard B. Russell (Dem.-Ga.) of the Senate armed services committee recently talked of restoring several hundred million dollars to the air force budget for atomic plane development.

Quarles has acknowledged that the air force at one point wanted upward of $600,000,000 for the project in its new budget. But he said it now considers the more than $200,000,000 it is asking to be adequate. The secretary has told congressmen it is "not a dollar problem."

He said that the former accelerated program would have cost four to five billion dollars by the atomic planes were available in "operational" numbers.

KEY POINTS ON SEAWAY

This map shows three key areas in the billion-dollar St. Lawrence seaway and power project. At the Montreal end, where ocean vessels will enter the system, work is being pushed on the St. Lambert and Cote St. Catherine locks replacing the present Lachine Canal, upstream from Lake St. Louis twin Beauharnois locks are being built to by-pass huge Hydro-Quebec power station. Beauharnois Canal will have 27-foot navigation compared with the 14-foot depth of the old Soulanges Canal. Heart of the power section (centre panel) is in Cornwall area where a powerhouse with 2,200,000 horsepower potential is being strung across the international boundary. Here shipping will by-pass the Long Sault Rapids and move to the American side through the Grass River and Eisenhower Locks. The new lock on the Canadian side at Iroquois, Ont. (left panel) will give ships their final boost to 246 feet above sea level so they may enter Lake Ontario.—(CP photo)

SPECTACULAR SIDELIGHTS TO SEAWAY JOB

Pumping Bridge Up by Hand

(This is the last of eight reports of progress on construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.)

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL (CP) — Inch by inch, Jacques Cartier Bridge stretching from this island city to the south shore is getting higher.

It's like a bridge with elevator shoes that won't stop growing until it's 120 feet above the St. Lawrence River. The two-mile-long bridge, built in 1929, has to be raised 80 feet at one point to let high-masted ships sail under it and into the St. Lawrence seaway. The $6,300,000 contract awarded to Dominion Bridge Company, is only one of more than a dozen bridge projects being tackled in connection with the seaway. In a quiet way, though, it is most spectacular of all.

Busy Artery

Some 17,000,000 vehicles use the bridge annually, and except for a few hours they'll keep on using it during the 24-month operation. The work is planned so that some time this year—perhaps in November—the span crossing the seaway channel near the southern end will be pulled out and a new one, without low-hanging girders, will slide into its place.

The new span will be built beside the old one, both tied together for the "translation" job, and the bridge closed at night for the switch. Then, the old span will be dismantled.

At the moment, two temporary Bailey Bridges divert traffic at the south end around the section being raised. Underneath, unseen by drivers, workmen are jacking it up six inches at a time.

"Right now, the jacks are hand-pumped, so it takes about an hour to go six inches," says Percy Carpenter of Lachute, Que., job superintendent, who helped build the bridge 28 years ago.

"But for later stages we're getting mechanical jacks and they'll do the job in 15 minutes."

Bridge Plans

Another bridge from Montreal Island to Nun's Island and then across to Laprairie is expected to be built in the next few years to help alleviate Montreal's cross-river traffic congestion.

Upstream, Montreal's other key bridge, the Royal Victoria Jubilee Bridge, will split in two where it crosses the seaway channel at the entrance to St. Lambert lock. Opened in 1880 as Montreal's first link with the mainland, the present bridge carries trains, and vehicles.

The split part of the bridge will act somewhat like a see-saw. As a ship passes under one-half, raised to permit 120-foot clearance, the other half will be down and will carry the traffic. The job is complicated because the bridge piers straddle the entrance to the first lock of the seaway, and engineers have had to dig around them with care.

Every stone in the piers is numbered and examined often for tell-tale fractures that would betray any strain.

Honore Mercier Bridge at Caughnawaga, Que., crossing to the western tip of Montreal Island, is also being elevated where it surmounts the channel, a job involving new approaches. A vertical lift section is being inserted in the nearby CPR bridge.

Altogether plans for 10 new bridges have been announced, and several others are anticipated. Seven are for railway crossings, but some also permit road traffic. Almost 50,000 tons of steel will be used in them.

At Cornwall, Ont., a high-level suspension bridge will link Canada with the United States—crossing from Cornwall Island to the American mainland. Work on this was delayed earlier this year by a strike of bridge crews, but the dispute has been settled and the job resumed. Canada's job is the sub-structure, while the Americans will add the superstructure. There's talk, too, in Cornwall of another high-level bridge from the city itself to Cornwall Island, to replace the present Roosevelt Bridge. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority has expropriated 53 acres of city land, but no contract has been awarded.

A high-level bridge on the Canadian side, plus 27-foot dredging already planned, would per-

Princess' Theme: 'Love that Jazz'

LONDON (Reuters) — Jiving Princess Margaret Tuesday night was so enthralled at a jazz concert starring Count Basie that she sat through two performances.

The Count, for his part, was so flattered that he dedicated a number to her called "The H.R.H. (Her Royal Highness) Boogie."

After the first performance at Royal Albert Hall, the Princess sent the Count a message, saying:

"It is a wonderful band. I enjoyed it immensely." After a quick meal she and her party returned for the second performance.

Basie told reporters later he was going to telephone "ma baby" in New York, to tell her of the Princess' double visit.

Trustees Buck Civil Service Teacher Status

Greater Victoria School Board went on record Monday night as opposing a move to place B.C. teachers under the civil service. B.C. School Trustees' Association was advised by letter that a committee has been established to consider the proposal.

"The board was averse to it and some members were at a loss to know why it had come up at all," said senior municipal inspector John Gough today.

HONEYMOON OVER FOR B.C. LUMBER, WILLISTON SAYS

PORTLAND (AP)—The Pacific Northwest Trade Association heard a warning from a British Columbia cabinet minister Monday night that the "postwar honeymoon" for the lumber industry may be over.

Hon. Ray Williston, B.C. minister of lands and forests, said the industry will have to diversify to survive. He added that the future lies not in lumber but in wood cellulose products.

Restoration of Seaside Forts Proposed as Historic Landmark

UNIFORMS were not issued 5th Canadian Garrison Artillery until seven months after this photo was taken in 1878. Officer in uniform is believed to be Lt. Col. C. F. Houghton, and man to left of him, with arms akimbo, possibly is Capt. C. T. Dupont.

Some earth, concrete, and a few old cannons could restore the old 5th Canadian Garrison Artillery batteries here and add much historic interest to the waterfront, in the opinion of S. P. Hanna, 363 Lampson Street.

According to Mr. Hanna there were earthworks at Finlayson Point, Macaulay Point, Brother Islands and at the foot of Olympia Avenue near the site of the model yacht pond.

In the first muster of the pioneer battery, Capt. C. T. Dupont commanded 50 NCO's and gunners. Preparations were designed to repel possible Russian attacks on Victoria, expected if Britain entered the Russo-Turkish War on the side of the Turks.

BEARPIT WOODS

According to Mr. Hanna, "we often crawled inside" a partly collapsed gun mount at the foot of Olympia Avenue, close to the bearpit woods.

"Why bearpit?" "Between Lover's Lane and Dallas Road there were large bearpits with a number of animals. Each pit had a large post supporting a platform through which the bears could climb to the top. The first bear to catch a tossed ham bone climbed up to the top and chewed the bone with wonderful growls, while the other bears complained below."

ARE YOU TOO SINGIN' THAT EASTER BONNET SONNET?

By DINAH KERR

Victoria's gal-folk kicked over the traces of winter today and headed for town to cap the Easter season with a glamorous, flowery, just plain frivolous Easter bonnet. With a satisfied sigh, they settled in front of city hat shop mirrors, combed their hair, and called for the springiest models that the world's

Richardson, second from left, brushed aside the wide-brimmed models for a tiny lavender straw with two flowers perched like lookouts at the top. You can carry flowers too far, Mrs. Harold Collings, centre, of 1135 Hilda, decided. She headed back to the hat racks for a more conservative—but definitely spring-like model. Even little Janice, seven-year-old daughter of

Mrs. T. W. Rayson, 2465 Plumer, got into the hat act. Feathers, she agreed, are definitely out... they age a girl so. New hats just because it's spring—the idea is ridiculous, thought Glennie Anderson, four, 1145 Grant, at far right. To demonstrate, she snatched up a bouquet of paper tulips, balanced them on his head—and laughed at female frivolities

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1957 23

MONTE ROBERTS

The Ask the Times man (he lives in the lower right hand suite on this page) is possessed of knowledge which is little less than awe inspiring.

Ask him what day of the week April 19 fell on in 1776, and he will tell you.

Ask him the native habitat of the blue-breasted wibbler, and he'll tell you.

Ask him how many pounds of tea and how many stacks of crumpets were consumed in Victoria in July, 1800, and if he doesn't know, he'll find out.

In short, the Ask the Times man could almost be described as seeing all, knowing all, and telling all.

Thus it came as a shock to me to find the Ask the Times man stumped.

He came to me—ME, mind you—for help on a question. In fact, he said, rather plaintively, "is an answer to this question possible?"

Here is the question in question:

"Editor of Ask the Times:

"You have printed the number of boats large and small passing Ripple Rock. Will you tell us the number of large boats and fishing boats that have passed there SAFELY all these years?"

Well, I examined the question carefully, and I said to the Ask the Times man: "This seems to be a good question. Do you have a good answer?"

"No," the Ask the Times man confessed. "That is why I am appealing to you. You are supposed to be the marine expert around here. Can YOU give me an answer?"

"I will think about it," I said.

And I HAVE thought about it.

In the first place, every question must have an answer, in much the same way that every cloud must have a silver lining.

Therefore, there MUST be an answer to the question of how many ships have failed to sink on Ripple Rock.

So I started calling my friends around the waterfront, the shipping experts, the pilots, the marine historians.

But it appears none of them had ever kept records of ships not sunk on Ripple Rock.

Then, suddenly, the answer came to me in a blinding flash of inspiration.

Simply subtract the number of ships which DID sink from the total number of ships which passed Ripple Rock—and there you are.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City police took Mrs. Charles W. Forbes, 53, 1349 Grant, to Jubilee Hospital Tuesday at 3:50 p.m., suffering from a large cut on the top of her head, received when she fell down stairs.

Eighth in the Art Gallery's series of anthology evenings will be held this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Anthony Emery will speak on new English poets and curator Colin Graham will show colored slides newly acquired with the Leon Korman grant.

A downtown hall suitable for card games, dancing and meetings by senior citizens is the object of a search by Silver Threads, a Community Chest organization. A special committee headed by George Brebner, Montreal Trust Company, is checking vacant buildings.

Annual election of officers will be held at a meeting of South Vancouver Island Pharmacists' Association in Royal Jubilee Hospital clinic room tonight at 8 o'clock.

Formerly "Centennial Optimist Club," the new Optimist Evening Club of Victoria will meet at Moose Hall, 512 Fort, Thursday at 6:30 p.m. Club's name was changed to comply with international rules that the name must designate a zone of the city or time of meeting. New officers, elected Tuesday night, are: Wally Gray and Douglas Jones, vice-presidents; and Bob Lewis, secretary. John McAllister was elected president at a previous meeting.

Celebration of St. George's Day and the anniversary of Shakespeare's birth will be marked by the Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, at an annual dinner in the Glenshiel Hotel next Tuesday at 6 p.m. Chairman and toastmaster will be K. C. Symons, president of the local branch. Reservations may be placed with H. Langley, 3-4567 or Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 4-7491.

A wily-nilly Easter lily in the garden of Mrs. George Holt, 1168 Rhoda Lane, has outdone itself for the Easter season. It has sprouted 10 buds on one stalk where even four are very unusual, says Mrs. Holt.

Personnel of the RCAF stationed at Holberg, B.C., were entertained over the weekend by a versatile concert party from Victoria produced by George Harrison and directed by Mrs. Verna Moore.

Entertainers were Ron Chisholm, accordion; Reg Stoffer, comedian; Norman Bryce, guitar; Mrs. Moore and Arthur Stringer, vocalists; Margaret Carlson, pianist; Bert White, comedian; Darlene Moore, dancer, accompanied by Dennie Luske.

Birthday party for six patients at the Veterans' Hospital was held at the pavilion Monday. Celebrating April birthdays were A. E. Hawkins, W. M. Evans, Archie Derbyshire, William Chason, Richard Watson, A. O. N. Wilkinson. Gifts were presented by Mrs. Wallace Courtenay, president of the DVA ladies' auxiliary.

Entertainment was provided by Victoria Unit No. 12, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans. Mrs. Ruth Jones, Mrs. Betty MacFarlane, Mrs. Irene McAllister, Mickey Francis, Cecil Boulter, Bernie Ryall and Joe Fee.

Brookins, 65, San Bernardino, Calif., will lecture in Victoria College auditorium on "Color Slide Success Through Simplification," Wednesday, April 24, at 8:30 p.m. The veteran photographer, exhibitor, judge and lecturer, is speaking under auspices of the local branch of the Photographic Society of America.

Traffic Expert Returns to City

California traffic expert Jackson D. Faustman will return to Victoria May 16 to present a further plan for relieving traffic congestion at the roundabout.

He was hired by a group of Douglas Street merchants to bring in an alternative to his earlier plan, which called for a system of one-way streets.

The merchants group, believing one-way streets would be detrimental to their business, prevailed on city council to delay decision until the new plan is studied.

SOMEBODY'S GOTTA STOP WORRIED FIREMEN ARGUE

City's fire-fighters' union today asked Chief Frank Briers to authorize all fire trucks to come to a full stop when faced with amber or red lights, unless fully controlled traffic lights are installed throughout Victoria.

At present, not all lights can be turned to "stop" when fire vehicles are called out.

Chief Briers has asked for a radio-control system which would enable the drivers of trucks to change traffic lights.

The union request, read to public works committee, was referred to the fire commission for comment.

Rebuilding Proposed For Garbage Wharf

$226,952 Plan Replaces Earlier Scheme To Build New Structure on Garbally

Victoria public works committee today recommended reconstruction of the old garbage wharf at the foot of Swift Street at a total cost of $226,952.

The proposal replaces an earlier recommendation that a new wharf be built at Garbally yards.

Financing of the project will be left to council to determine.

It was pointed out the city fund for capital expenditure, collected from sales of tax reverted lands, will be wiped out by planned construction of a new $350,000 fire hall.

The plan involves construction of a novel steel garbage barge and use of a new crusher. The garbage would be covered with water as it was dumped into the barge to ensure waterlogging.

The garbage would be dumped at sea, twice a week, through bottom openings in the barge, to ensure against any items floating back to Victoria.

A new incinerator would be built for disposal of paper products which are expected to increase with closure of Sidney Roofing Company plant. The plant now uses most of the city's waste paper.

Public works committee asked city council today to deny liability for claims of flooding filed against the city by several View Street business houses last December.

Claims came in after heavy rainfall which flooded many sections of the city. Claimants say works and fire department pumps diverted water to their premises.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady wrote that in all cases where pumps were used, water was pumped into manholes and the city could not be blamed for any street flooding.

Police Capture Jewelry Thieves

$3,000 Loot Recovered In Arrest on Hotel Roof

Smart police work by city constable John Burdyny resulted in capture early today of two 18-year-old store-breakers who had rifled four downtown shops of goods and cash totalling over $3,300 a short time before.

The youths Donald Lloyd Davison and Stanley Lionel Deacon, both of Vancouver, were captured by Cons. Burdyny hiding on a hotel roof about 3:30 a.m.

They pleaded guilty in police court to three charges of breaking, entering and theft, and one charge of breaking and entering with intent to steal.

JEWELRY HAIL

All stores entered were in the same block, between Douglas and Broad, and Yates and Johnson.

Value of jewelry taken from S. C. Johns, 650 Yates, alone totaled $3,185.11.

Entries were all made from the rear of shops which open on a common alleyway in the centre of the block.

Other stores were Sherwin-Williams Co. Ltd., 1314 Douglas; Liberty Cafe, 652 Yates, and Copp the Shoe Man, 1316 Douglas.

In the paint store (Sherwin-Williams), where nothing was stolen, papers were spread around a mezzanine office, drawers spilled out and a pile of papers and newspaper burned on the office floor.

A rear door of the cafe was forced and the cash register opened. Currency amounting to $100 and silver totalling $50 was taken along with a full bottle of rum from a cupboard.

Entry to the jewelry store was by a small rear window, which gave way to a furnace room. Two doors leading to the shop were forced, where showcases were ransacked and contents scattered around the floor.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded the pair to April 25 for a probation report.

They had nothing to say after evidence was given by Det. William Andrews, who listed stolen property.

GOING TO EAT

Const. Burdyny was walking toward a Johnson Street cafe for something to eat at about 3:30 a.m. when he heard what he thought were footsteps behind the Liberty Cafe.

Thinking someone was in one of the shops, he called for a patrol wagon and began to investigate.

On a rear fire escape at the Lincoln Hotel, which is on the northwest corner of the block, property.

Workers sifting the ashes and rubble of Government House are turning up a number of valuable items.

A few pieces of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Ross were uncovered Tuesday afternoon and the twisted forms of silver bowls and ornaments have also been found. A number of cases of wine were discovered intact in the cellar.

The main Government House safe, which officials said contained only petty cash and papers, is still buried under debris. Mrs. Ross kept most of her jewelry in her suite.

Meanwhile, plans are now under discussion by government officials for a new Government House to be built on the same site.

Style of architecture to be followed and other details of construction have not yet been decided, a spokesman said.

MORE DURABLE

"We hope it will be both dignified and residential, and it will have to be more durable and fireproof," he said.

Temporary quarters for Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross while a new Government House is being built, are being sought.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Tacoma Teamsters Would Oust Beck

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—The Tacoma News Tribune says Tacoma Teamsters, Local 313, has voted in favor of ousting Dave Beck as international president and cutting him off without his $50,000 annual retirement pension.
Teamsters, in regular meeting here last Tuesday, also called for the discharge of any official invoking the Fifth Amendment when asked about union business, the newspaper says.

McDonald Acquitted on Drug Count

TORONTO (CP)—A 12-man jury today acquitted Edwin McDonald, 32, of a charge of conspiring to traffic in narcotics.

20 GOALS PER SEASON
OR ROCKET WILL RETIRE

MONTREAL (CP)—Twenty goals a season, a target a lot of National Hockey League players never realize, was set Tuesday night by Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens as the decider in his retirement plans.

The Rocket, at 35 the NHL's eldest performer, said after Canadiens won the Stanley Cup against Boston that he'll quit the year he doesn't score 20 goals.

He scored 33 this last season in regular play.

NEW B.C. OIL LINE
TO TAP PEACE RIVERThousands Cheer
Makarios

ATHENS (AP)—Archbishop Makarios, leader of Greek Cypriots seeking union with Greece, arrived in Athens today after 13 months of British detention on the Seychelles Islands.
Thousands of Athenians braved chilly weather and gloomy skies to cheer the Greek Orthodox archbishop of Cyprus as he was driven along the seven-mile route to downtown Athens.

An imposing array of political, church and military leaders greeted Makarios at the airport and shared his triumphal entry into the city.

All Athens police were put on the alert for the archbishop's arrival, and troops in full battle dress were stationed in force at strategic points.
Makarios flew here from Nairobi, Kenya, where Chief Secretary Richard Turnbull declared Tuesday he was not a welcome guest in that British colony.

SEAGULL'S 'SCRAM' SIGNAL will sound over garbage scows to scare scavenger birds away—if plan considered today by city council public works committee goes through. Gull above commented: "Aa-aa-rk."

HOW GULLIBLE CAN SEAGULLS BE?

Sonic Weapon Threatens
Winged Garbage Thieves

By PETE LOUDON

Seagulls stealing garbage from city barges and scattering it along the waterfront may be foiled by a crafty plan outlined to city council public works committee today.

Somebody has learned the seagull cry for "jiggers."

By playing it back to the birds over a public address system, they can scare them back to CPR ferries—it says here.

R. H. Mackay, wildlife biologist, Canadian Wildlife Service, writing from offices at UBC, told city engineer James Garnett, prices for the necessary equipment are available.

The biologist says two eastern U.S. gull-watchers, Hubert Frings and H. P. Starver, had determined differences in four gull calls.

There is the food-finding call, a crowing or trumpeting call, a departing call and an alarm call.

"Gulls have no distress call when maltreated," adds Mr. Mackay.

(Even if they get wise, they can't tip each other off.)

The alarm "is two piercing cries in descending sequence and three sharp cries following."

The two biologists mounted speakers in an area frequented by gulls. Sound measured at 95 decibels, sounded one mile from the gulls, lifted all the gulls within a half-mile radius.

When speakers were located 100 feet from feeding gulls, they were all driven away from their food and stayed away, on an average, 30 to 45 minutes.

The cry of the herring gull apparently means "cheese it" to all gulls regardless of their type.

Black gulls and laughing gulls take off at the same alarm.

City engineer Garnett was impressed with the "auditory repellants" and pointed out there is also possibility of using the food-finding or attraction call, with loudspeakers located in another area, but audible at the garbage wharf.

As an alternative this could be sounded to urge the gulls to "follow the birds from Victoria."

Use of the canned bird calls would save the city the cost of covering barges with tarpaulins. Mr. Garnett said there is also a high frequency tone which could be sounded which is offensive to gulls.

Public works committee heard the report and passed on to other business.

Low, Bennett, Manning Kick Off
Sacred 'Play' for Eastern Votes

TORONTO (CP)—Social Credit Leader Low said Tuesday night that his party, which now has a national flavor, "will make a big play for votes in eastern Canada, in the June 10 federal election."

Fifteen Social Credit members—all from British Columbia and Alberta—were elected to Parliament in the 1953 election and Mr. Low told a press conference he looked for brighter things two months hence.

"We believe we are going to break into the East now."

Social Credit party had only six candidates in Ontario in the last federal election and now have 20 nominated already.

The party platform will be disclosed at a rally in Massey Hall here Thursday night.

Mr. Low appeared at the conference with Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

They will attend Thursday night's meeting and take an active part in the federal campaign.

Tidewater Terminus
Set at Bella Coola

Plans to construct a multi-million dollar oil pipeline from the Peace River to tidewater at Bella Coola were disclosed here today.

Lands Minister Ray Williston confirmed that an application has been received by the government from ACT Oils Ltd. and surveys are now in progress.

ACT Oils was incorporated in B.C. in 1950, with Vancouver financier Austin C. Taylor as principal shareholder. Mr. Taylor's office stated to

Shorter Route Than Westcoast

The proposed pipeline would bring Peace River oil to a Pacific port over a considerably shorter distance than the present Westcoast Transmission Ltd. gas pipeline from Dawson Creek to Vancouver.

Bella Coola is some 300 miles north of Vancouver at the head of Bentinck Arm.

Early stages of the pipeline would follow roughly the same route as Westcoast's line and

Ideal for Supertankers

Announcement of the new pipeline surveys raised speculation regarding another proposal, announced last week, for installing offshore "doughnut shaped" discharge units for big tankers off the B.C. coast.

This plan is being worked out by Commercial Leaseholds Quebec Ltd., and Marine Oil Terminal Co. of New York, according to the wire service reports.

While there has been no confirming statement yet it is presumed oil reaching Bella Coola would be for export and the coast off Bella Coola would be a natural for one of the offshore units, it was noted.

RAF Transport Plane
Crashes; 22 Killed

LONDON (AP)—The air ministry announced tonight that 22 passengers were aboard an RAF Valetta transport plane which crashed after takeoff today at the Agaba airfield in Jordan.

An announcement from British military headquarters in Cyprus said there were no survivors.

P.E.I. Opens Way
For Hospital Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today moved a step closer to national hospital insurance with the completion of all the basic conditions for making the federal plan operative.

But because of a mountain of red tape still to be hurdled and the heavy job of setting up administrative machinery, the scheme may not be in operation before 1959.

The clincher, on meeting federal conditions, came Tuesday with Prince Edward Island's announcement that it has decided to become the sixth province to join the plan.

The federal government had stipulated that six provinces, representing more than half the Canadian population, must participate before it would share in the costs of standard hospital and diagnostic service insurance.

Five provinces, representing 56.3 per cent of the population, had already indicated they would join.

Health Minister Martin was elated when PEI announced its entry.

He was at Montreal, discussing

Bennett Takes Over
Agriculture Post

Premier Bennett has taken over a third portfolio.

He was sworn in Monday afternoon as minister of agriculture, replacing former minister Ralph Chetwynd, who died April 3.

The move was revealed in an order-in-council Tuesday. No formal announcement was made.

It is assumed the appointment is a temporary one until three provincial by-elections scheduled this year are completed.

Besides being premier, Mr. Bennett is also minister of finance.

He was sworn in as agriculture minister by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross in the vice-regal suite of the Empress Hotel, only a few hours after Mr. and Mrs. Ross were forced to flee Government House because it was destroyed by fire.

"On'y trouble is, thet distress call may bring all th' seagulls hurryin' t' help th' other feller, an' havin' arrived, they'll help themselves."

It may be "march on Ottawa" fer Mister Bennett, but he's late. It's April on th' Coast.

Gittin' so many pipelines now, th' whole country seems t' b' runnin' downhill.

9 Missing, 6 Saved
As Oil Rig Topples

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Nine men were missing and presumed to have been drowned when a big oil drilling rig turned over in rough waters in the Gulf of Mexico near the mouth of the Mississippi River today.

Six crew members were saved when the rig toppled over while tugs were taking it to a new location.

Teamster Won't Talk at Probe

Scranton Union Official Cited For Contempt; Linked to Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate racket investigators today ordered contempt of Congress charges against Robert Hubshman, Scranton, Pa., teamsters union member who refused to tell them even whether he is "a decent citizen."

Hubshman invoked the U.S. constitution's fifth amendment against self-incrimination when called to the Senate committee's witness box.

A big red-haired man, Hubshman refused to answer any questions except to give his name and address. In testimony of others, he had been linked to acts of union terrorism including beatings and sabotage.

The first witness today was

'Shouldn't Have Talked'

She quoted a teamsters union steward whom she named only as Sullivan as telling her husband, Albert Kollra, "don't you know when you're through" when he demanded work. She also testified that union official John Durkin told her: "Paul Bradshaw shouldn't have talked."

Committee chairman John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) also placed in evidence a sworn statement from Scranton Mayor

James T. Hanlon denying as "untrue" Bradshaw's testimony Tuesday that Hanlon had urged Bradshaw to "lay off" until after a 1955 city election with accusations against union officials in connection with the dynamiting.

Bradshaw testified Tuesday that he had no part in the actual dynamiting but agreed to "take the rap" under promise that he would be "taken care of."

Scranton Folk Shaken By Strong-Arm Charge

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Many of Scranton's 124,000 people are shaken to find their city in the unflattering glare of a United States Senate searchlight.

That searchlight is poking around in Washington for the facts about reports that strong-arm staff has played a big part in certain labor activities here. To many Scrantonians these are shocking allegations.

A summing up of public opinion at this touchy moment runs along these lines: "We're living in a town that's had its troubles but isn't liked by them. We're busy trying to solve our problems, and we don't think of violence as a solution."

TERRORISM CHARGED

At the moment, four union leaders are appearing before the Senate labor racket committee to answer testimony of a convicted dynamiter who linked them with alleged terrorism in the Scranton area.

They are being questioned about bombings, threats, beatings and truck sabotage, of which the committee heard vivid stories Tuesday.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, said he hoped to question all of the men accused in testimony by Paul Bradshaw, former teamster official who testified he was double-crossed after he had agreed to "take the rap" for a house bombing.

ORDERED VIOLENCE

Names mentioned in Bradshaw's long day on the witness stand included:

Joseph Bartell, business agent of carpenters Local 261, Scranton. Bradshaw said Bartell had given him orders that resulted in acts of violence to halt non-union building operations.

Philip Brady, business agent of electrical workers Local 81, Bradshaw also linked Brady with orders to halt work on some jobs, including a road construction job by non-union crews.

Anthony Bonacuse, business agent for Local 130, Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, Scranton, Edward Puzisek, Wilkes Barre, Pa., housing contractor, testified Tuesday that Bonacuse warned him "it would be a smart thing for you to be union—the boys play rough here," when he went to Scranton to build a home. The home subsequently was bombed in 1954.

John Durkin, secretary-treasurer and business agent, Scranton Teamsters' Local 229, Bradshaw testified Durkin told him to drive the car when a "stink bomb" was thrown into a Scranton bakery which was using non-union delivery men.

TOSSED STINK BOMB
Robert Hubshman, member of Teamsters' Local 229, Bradshaw said Hubshman tossed the stink bomb after either he or Hubshman decided that a quart of stench material they had been given was too much, and reduced the charge to a pint.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) called for testimony to show whether the AFL-CIO, in implementing its newly adopted code of ethics, is attempting to oust union officials convicted of crimes.

Bradshaw said there has been no effort yet to remove any of the Scranton leaders from office.

Coldwell Says Labor Ignored in Council

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's appointments to the 21-member Canada Council were criticized by CCF leader M. J. Coldwell Tuesday on the ground they did not include representatives of labor and agriculture.

Mr. Coldwell observed that Prime Minister St. Laurent appointed several businessmen and some distinguished representatives of the arts and letters.

"But I am disappointed to discover that among the appointees there are no representatives of farmer and labor groups who make up the majority of the Canadian people," Mr. Coldwell said in a statement.

Paris Scene Of Algerian Gang Violence

PARIS (AP)—Rival gangs of Algerians in France killed three Algerians and wounded six Tuesday night in clashes in Paris and its suburbs.

Another man was missing from his bloodstained room.

The endless vendetta among the 350,000 Algerians in France had been largely ignored by the French press. But today the influential Paris newspaper, Figaro, expresses concern that "excessive tolerance" of the French authorities is being interpreted as proof of weakness.

Since Jan. 1, 1956, more than 150 Algerians have been killed and nearly 1,300 wounded in clashes among nationalist militants in France. The chief fighting groups are the National Liberation Movement (MNA), which numbers the bulk of its adherents among Algerians in France, and the more extreme National Liberation Front (FLN), which the French claim is directed from Cairo and Tunis.

FEAR REPRISALS
Their targets generally are Algerians who refuse to contribute to the Nationalist cause, or who are considered pro-French.

Police have been hampered by the refusal of witnesses or victims to talk for fear of reprisals.

Police experts say the organization use regular commando squad of three to five men to carry out the orders of their chiefs.

WIRE BRIEFS

Slide Blocks Highway

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Highway traffic near Popkum, 15 miles east of here, was blocked for almost seven hours Tuesday after blasting operations brought tons of rock crashing down across the Trans-Canada highway. R.C.M.P. said traffic was backed up "for miles" by the 300-foot slide. Traffic was expected to return to normal today.

Mystery Shooting

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Police were mystified today by the fatal shooting of Leonard Jacob Trupp, 29, whose body was found by passers-by Tuesday night on a downtown overpass above the railway. Inspector John Burns of the Windsor detective bureau said: "It was not an accidental shooting."

New Post for Menon

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today named V. K. Krishna Menon, his controversial foreign affairs adviser and roving envoy, to be defence minister in his new post-election cabinet of 12 members. Nehru retained the foreign ministry for himself.

Search Abandoned

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Police today abandoned their search for four Brockville fishermen missing since April 6. The men, James Hamilton, 58, his brother, Malcolm, 56, Eric Richards, 38, and Arlington Casey, 37, are believed to have drowned while crossing to an island in the St. Lawrence River.

U.S. Expels Russian

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ordered a Russian Embassy employee to leave the country immediately for "highly improper activities" aimed at inducing former Lieutenant Peter Pirogov, who fled Russia in 1948, to return to the Soviet Union.

AVRO Strike Ends

TORONTO (CP)—Striking employees of the A. V. Roe aircraft plant at suburban Malton voted today to return to work after a one-day wildcat walkout provoked by the dismissal of a workman who also served as a union shop steward.

Collection for Eden

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Sketch started a public collection today to pay the medical bills of former prime minister Sir Anthony Eden, recovering from an operation in Boston. The collection was begun after two other newspapers, the News Chronicle and the Daily Mail, appealed to the government to pay the bills.

Sea Disaster Victim

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—Mrs. Angeline Grego, 53, Tuesday became the 51st victim of the Andrea Doria-Stockholm sea disaster of last July 25. Mrs. Grego died of a spinal injury received while being evacuated from the Italian liner after its collision with the Swedish passenger ship Stockholm off the Atlantic coast.

Rebel Forces Battle Army In Indonesia

5,000 Fanatics Behind Uprising

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Rebel forces today were battling the Indonesian army in heavy fighting near Macassar, capital of the Celebes, according to unconfirmed reports reaching here.

The rebels were reported to be troops of Kahar Muzakkar, leader of the 5,000-strong fanatical Darul Islam Army.

Nine Javanese battalions earlier were moved into the Macassar area to pacify the Celebes. The battalions are commanded by Lt. Col. Sudirman.

Meanwhile, army sources reported today that two emissaries from rebel groups in Central Sumatra have been arrested in Jakarta, capital of the Indonesian Republic.

An army spokesman would not confirm that the two men, Lieut. Zulkifli Nasution and Lieut. Sinaga, had been placed under arrest.

Nasution was an emissary of Col. Ahmad Hussein, leader of the rebel Banteng Council which look over the administration of Central Sumatra in December, and Sinaga, leader of the unsuccessful December coup in North Sumatra.

The outlawed Darul Islam declared war against the Indonesian government nearly three years ago and has clashed frequently with federal troops. The organization is dedicated to the creation of a Moslem theocratic state.

In another development today, Garuda Indonesian Airlines cancelled until further notice all flights to Macassar "due to the situation on the island of Celebes."

Chevrolet tops all cars in big Safety and Performance Tests!

1 Chevrolet officially rated
"best performing" of all cars
at famous NASCAR meet!

There's no question about it now — official National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing trials prove that the 1957 Chevrolet is North America's outstanding performance car!

Running in the famous Safety and Performance Weeks competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolets piled up the largest point margin ever recorded to capture the official Manufacturers' Trophy.

"Best performing" automobile

That's official fact. At Daytona, claims don't count — just performance. Electronic timing equipment and keen-eyed NASCAR officials guarantee that results are impartial, that all cars are regular production models.

Chevrolet took two weeks of blistering competition right in stride. Nothing in the low-priced field could touch it. No other car, regardless of price, scored such a sweep.

No smokescreen possible

There's absolutely no way to throw a smokescreen over the official results. The 1957 Chevrolet has here proved itself the most astonishing performer in the low-priced field!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

2 Chevrolet confirms performance leadership
world's first Auto Decathlon!

Results at Daytona were important. But perhaps even more important to you is roadability — the safety and precision with which a car steers, stops, clings to curves. This is the quality of a car that shows itself when difficult road conditions or emergencies call for extra sureness of control and quick recovery from unusual situations.

Ten-way driving test

Now Chevy has proved its greater roadability in the world's first Auto Decathlon, certified by the National Automotive Testing Association. With typical Chevrolet poise, it romped through a rugged ten-way test of hair-pin cornering, acceleration, handling ease, steering and even-keel braking.

Expert drivers whirled the competing cars around snap-turns, sprinted over wet and dry pavements, speeded up over gravel, zigzagged around pylons. And when the dust settled, Chevrolet was tops again!

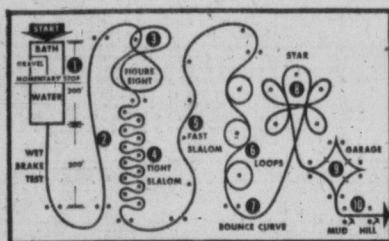

It outhandled all the low-priced cars — and all the higher priced cars tested!

What all this means to you

With its silent, sassy surge of V8 or 6 power, a new Chevrolet will show you the difference between just egging a car along for the years you own it and ... driving a champ! It's a difference that means a whole lot to you as a car driver and a proud Chevrolet owner.

Come and drive the car that won the Decathlon — the car that won the official top performance award at the Daytona Beach trials! There's simply nothing quite like it ... the two-time Champion Chevrolet!

See your Chevrolet dealer as soon as you can.

This is the Auto Decathlon course — ten brutal challenges to driving qualities. Here's where Chevrolet had a field day, riding rings around the competition!

Chevrolet shows its sure-footed way of going even on steep grades and bad roads. A demonstration drive will give you an idea of Chevy's winning form!

This water bath simulates wet-weather driving, tests brakes when doused. Chevrolet sails through! This top performance car is a safer car!

The winner! Electronic timers accurate to 1/1000 of a second kept eagle eyes on every car. Chevrolet proves it has the driving qualities you want in a car!

Month after month since its introduction, Canadians have bought more '57 Chevrolets than any other car.
